SINN FEINERS SWAMPED IN IRELAND ELECTIONS

Pro-Treaty Advocates are Backed by People, and Position of Collins Strengthened

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DUBLIN, June 20.—Three of six women of the last Dail have been defeated. Miss MacSwiney of Cork and Miss O'Callaghan of Limerick survive. Countess Markievicz, Dr. Ada English and Mrs. Clarke are beaten in South Dublin, City National University and mid-Dublin, respectively. Dublin city as a whole had five antitreaty candidates; now it has one, John T. O'Kelly, former Dail representative in Paris.

A landslide has engulfed the antitreaty party in town and country. Even O'Kelly was last in his division.

Absorbing interest was taken in results, thousands remaining at polling stations at an advanced hour this morning. The success of the pro-treaty labor and independent candidates is stupendous, but the victory is not so much one of classes as indication of national approval of the peace pact between Great Britain and Ireland.

COLLINS NOW STRONG

Collins's party is enormously reinforced. The Dail ministry is intact. So far no member is unseated, though the labor minister, McGrath, was run close by the independent-labor candidate.

Mellowes's defeat also was a severe blow to Gen. O'Connor, he being the real leader of that extreme wing of Republicanism.

At 6 o'clock this evening the position of the parties stood forty-seven pro-treaty, twenty-nine antitreaty, ten labor, five independents, four Trinity College, two farmers, one National University-Independent, but it is generally accepted the labor independents, trinity and farmers are not Re-

APPEAL FOR ACTION ON ESPEE SEPARATION RULE

Interstate Commerce Commission Asked to Expedite Proposed Consolidation Scheme

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—A conference of public utility commissioners from Far Western States to discuss the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific separation question closed today with a telegraphic appeal by the commissions of California, Arizona and New Mexico to the Interstate Commerce Commission to expedite its proposed consolidation scheme for the two railroads under authority of the Transportation Act of 1920.

Commissioners A. R. Heywood of Utah and W. H. Simmons of Nevada, declined to join in the appeal, on the ground that they were only authorized to attend the conference to obtain information on the situation, while the Oregon body made no appearance here, notifying the California Railroad Commission that public opinion in Oregon was divided on the question.

CONSOLIDATION FAVORED

New Mexico was not represented at the conference but authorized the California commission to appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission on its behalf. The three bodies took the position that retention of the Central Pacific by the Southern Pacific seemed at the present time the best thing for their States from the standpoint of service and general public interest. The telegram was signed by D. F. Johnson, chairman of the Arizona Corporation Commission, H. W. Brundige, president of the California Railroad Commission, and by U. H. Williams, chairman of the New Mexico Corporation Commission, through Brundige.

Although the recent United States Supreme Court decision which caused the conference ordered the separation of the two lines as a combination in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, it was brought out that after the unmerger took place the Interstate Commerce Commission would be authorized, under the Transportation Act of 1920, to put the two roads together as part of its program for grouping all American railroad lines into a few large systems.

ASK QUICK DECISION

It was generally agreed that the only possible future for the Central Pacific would be control either by the Southern Pacific or the Union Pacific, and the California, Arizona and New Mexico commissions took the view that Southern Pacific control was more to the public interest. Accordingly they asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to consider the far western railroad situation before it took up the southeastern transportation question.

If the Supreme Court fails to grant a rehearing the Southern Pacific will put the Central Pacific stock in escrow in the hands of a trustee to be held until the Interstate Commerce Commission carries out its proposed new grouping, it was indicated today by William F. Herrin, general counsel for the Southern Pacific company.

IMPROVEMENT PROMISED

A declaration that if the Union Pacific comes into control of the Central Pacific California will have a period of free competition in service that it never had before, and that the Union Pacific's past record of development will be carried out in this State, was made by Fred G. Athearn, a San Francisco attorney, appearing for the Union Pacific company.

"Except when the Central Pacific was controlled by the Union Pacific under E. H. Harriman, the Union Pacific always has been discriminated against in the movement of traffic," said Athearn, "because the tonnage has moved by the southern route. That discrimination should be removed.

"I promise you that the Union Pacific will stand by its record of operating all of its lines for the development of the communities it serves, regardless of whether there is competition or not. On one valley in Idaho, scarcely twenty-five miles apart, we have three lines and no competition to cause it either. We have kept in the vanguard of development and not behind it.

CITES LOS ANGELES

"I might point out to you what free competition has done by asking you to think of your sister city, Los Angeles, with three competing transcontinental lines. Although we only acquired the Clark interests in the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad a year ago, we immediately started relaying rails and ballasting the line and have contracted for $4,000,000 worth of improvements in Los Angeles county alone."

Athearn asserted that there never had been free competition in the central part of California, while the Central Pacific was controlled by the Southern Pacific and said control of the Central by the Union Pacific would not bring an increase in rates, as Southern Pacific officials had predicted. The change in ownership would give the farmers of the San Joaquin and Santa Clara valleys a direct route to the East, he said, and better service than they ever enjoyed before.

Max Thelen, former president of the California Railroad Commission, in discussing the history of the Southern Pacific-Union Pacific unmerger ordered by the Supreme Court in 1913, said that a change in ownership of the Central Pacific would cause the Southern Pacific to lose all its deciduous fruit tonnage and considerable of its dried fruit business.

BASIS OF APPEAL

W. F. Herrin said the Southern Pacific appeal to the Supreme Court for a rehearing would be based on two grounds, that the two lines which the court ordered unmerged had been a unit in ownership and operation ever since 1885, and that the government practically had recognized them as one concern by accepting the Southern Pacific's guarantee of Central Pacific bonds when the latter road liquidated its debt to the government in 1899.

Both he and Guy V. Shoup, another Southern Pacific attorney, said it was impossible to consider the two roads in any other light than as a unit.

"They are like a man with two arms but only one heart and circulation system," said Herrin. "You can destroy the Southern and Central Pacific, but you cannot separate them."

FAINT PRAISE FOR AMERICA

government politicians may say about it. Mr. Beck was discussing the attitude of the self-governing countries toward the Russian soviets. He was not so ungracious as to condemn the British governmental policy.

POLICY ON REDS

"If," he said, "you decide that in order to restore the economic welfare of Europe it is necessary to deal with Russia in Russia's present form, and if we do not agree with you it does not necessarily mean that England is wrong. But as long as Lenin and Trotsky dominate the fate of that unhappy people, by the living God, America will have nothing to do with them."

For this sentiment he has been warmly commended by the British press, with the exception of the radical publications and the influence is likely to be felt during the deliberations at The Hague. Mr. Beck raised the moral issue and was warmly felicitated when he said that what is morally wrong cannot be economically right, that all sound business rests on a moral basis. This is in strict accord with Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence. The high courts in Great Britain and in America have made it an invariable practice to consider the moral effect of all economic decisions.

MORAL CONSIDERATIONS

When moral considerations are excluded, everything is sacrificed to selfish interest. When the weak can no longer appeal to justice, as is the case at present in Russia, their plight is miserable indeed. There is a rapidly-growing feeling in Great Britain that Lloyd George was inclined to go too far in his attempt to restore friendly relations with Russia. The Premier said in one of his addresses that the economic and industrial life of Russia must be restored before the other peoples of Russia could prosper. He used a similar argument a year ago when his government was negotiating a trade agreement with the soviets.

USE MILLIONS IN RUSSIA

Englishmen have been reminding him during the last two weeks that the trading agreement has been in effect for more than a year, but that there is no trade. A number of English firms sent large stocks of goods to the Russian border in order to test the Russian markets, and they lost millions of pounds by doing so. They found that the Russians had no money with which to purchase and nothing to exchange, that industry in Russia was as bad as in the deserted ruined cities of India. The trading agreement with the Bolsheviki has produced nothing but losses for British merchants, and all attempts at trade resumption have been abandoned.

Now the British press is saying that Secretary Hughes was right when he said that Russia was an "economic vacuum." And the British public has vastly more respect than formerly for the far vision and sound judgment of American statesmen.

COMMENT ON ADDRESS

Indications are visible that the advisers of the Premier are coming round to the American point of view, which does not differ materially from that of the French. Commenting on Mr. Beck's address, the London Telegraph, a strong coalition newspaper and supporter of Lloyd George says editorially:

"If our country were not so unalterably involved in the economic destitution of Europe, its attitude toward the Bolshevik government would be precisely that of the United States. There are many of us who hold that it should be so in any case, and there are more among whom we number ourselves, who have always been profoundly skeptical of the practical success to be obtained by attempting to do good through the instrumentality of anything so monstrous as the communist dictatorship. Each new demonstration of the brutality, the treachery and the total cynicism of the policy of Moscow has made just such an impression here as it has made in America."

ANTIDOTE FOR HEARST

It is evident that Mr. Beck's visit to England has served as an antidote for that of Mr. Hearst, who has been saying in his interviews something very different. In fact, the rumor was current in London that Hearst had crossed the Atlantic for the purpose of giving the aid of his newspapers to securing recognition for the soviets at the Hague. He is pro-German at heart. He war has not been forgotten, neither his campaign to secure the recognition of the Bolshevik government, without exacting any guarantees for honest dealing. For Mr. Beck's utterances there are the highest encomiums; for those of Mr. Hearst, there is only silence, except in the radical and subsidized Bolshevik press.

ON WITH THE DANCE, SAYS KANSAS OFFICIAL

TEACHERS' CERTIFICATES CANNOT BE REVOKED FOR DANCING.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) June 20.—Kansas school-teachers' certificates may not be revoked by the State Superintendent for dancing and dancing may be held in school houses at the discretion of school boards, according to an opinion issued yesterday by Atty.-Gen. Hopkins.

The opinion is being prepared as a result of action of State Superintendent L. E. Wooster in refusing to renew the certificate of Mrs. Clara White, school-teacher of Eminence, Finney county, because she participated in a dance held at the Eminence school. Earle Dixon, member of the Eminence school board, has announced there will be a dance at the Eminence school on July 1, in defiance of Miss Wooster's orders.

ARIZONA WILLING TO AID IN PALO VERDE RELIEF

To Allow River Work Providing Such Does not Interfere with Land Control

BLYTHE, June 20.—"The State of Arizona has never been formally approached by the people of the Palo Verde Valley, seeking relief from the terms of the injunction preventing the California community from doing river work on the Arizona side of the Colorado River, until within the last week.

"Now that it has been approached, it is willing to do anything that will help Palo Verde people solve the problems resulting from existing floods, and will extend such courtesies as will not interfere with its rights in the territory involved nor to the control of its lands."

This statement was made here today by Atty.-Gen. Galbraith of Arizona, sitting as chairman of the joint committee of California and Arizona officials, to consider the flood emergency, and find a solution for the intrastate problems involved.

RELIEF NEEDS TOLD

The relief sought was stated by members of the board of directors of the Palo Verde Mutual Water Company, who are also members or directors of the levee district and the drainage district that operates in the same area. They wanted permission, they explained, to blast out cuts across three bends in the Colorado River, shortening and straightening the channel, so the floods now covering half of the valley may be checked, and may be drawn off as early as possible. If the cuts can be made, they said, they can put in maize, serghum and other crops, and still realize something this season to help them meet their reconstruction problems of the future.

This relief, they said, would be temporary, but in some cases, if Arizona agreed, the new channel thus formed might be allowed to remain as part of a comprehensive scheme for future flood control.

Officials of California and Arizona, having spent two days in a careful inspection of the flooded districts, the proposed work and the existing sweep of the Colorado River along the Palo Verde Valley and against mesa lands of Arizona, today met in open session at the office of the water company. Atty.-Gen. Galbraith presided, and, after stating what had been done, announced that the commission wished to hear from the officials of various districts and from residents generally.

President Ed F. Williams first stated the position of the district briefly. He said the main thought at present was to get quick relief from the flood conditions, but in so doing, to spend the money so that permanent benefit might accrue to the district, if possible. He then suggested that H. C. Neuffer, district engineer, could explain details of the proposed relief work.

BLASTING PLANNED

Mr. Neuffer told the commission that if he was permitted to act as he and the district officials had agreed was best at this time, he would begin at Casad cut and at the southern end of that cut, and would blow out 1000 feet of solid ground which, he said, would give a start for a channel that would then scour itself out. He said the lower portion of the proposed cut was so low that it would not require blasting. The brush and trees taken out, together with the soil loosened by the shots, would be carried down stream by the current, he continued, and be lodged where they would be advantageous, without doing any harm.

He expressed the belief that most of the soil and silt would be distributed within three or four miles of the cut.

At the same time that this work was started, he said, he would start similar operations at Raab and Hauser bends, blasting out the higher portions from the south end, and taking advantage of the flow of the river to aid the work. He gave his opinion the cuts could be completed in the minimum time of two weeks.

This, he said, would so relieve the situation that it ought to be possible to farm lands, now flooded, by July 15 or August 1, at the latest.

The expense of the work, he stated, would be from $4000 to $10,000 on the Casad cut, about as much on the Hauser cut and "considerably less" on the Raab cut.

VAN WORT'S VIEWS

Mr. Neuffer was followed by Director Charles Van Wort, who epitomized the situation as he viewed it, and said the district did not desire to take any lands from Arizona by the straightening of these bends, all of which swing toward California, and would consequently be altered from east of the river to the west of it by the proposed straightening. He explained that bonds covering the district were secured on definitely described lands, and that changes in the river would not affect them. He also said it was his understanding that regardless of where the river went, the original line between California and Arizona, that was established in 1856, would continue as the boundary. He said he believed that was the view of valley residents.

The Arizona commissioners showed by their questions that they did not wish to yield any of this land to California, and that they wanted any concessions that might be made to be made with that idea in mind.

In private conversation, Water Commissioner W. S. Norviel, of the Arizona delegation, said he thought more than 2000 acres would be involved in the changed lines, and that while it has little worth at present, its prospective value was very large if the Boulder Canyon dam and other Colorado River control projects became realities.

TO KEEP LAND

In open session, Mr. Norviel also said that officials of Arizona felt they would be derelict in their duty if they allowed any portion of the lands of that State to pass into the control of California by reason of boundary changes, and that while they wished to be fair and aid in arranging for the relief of the Palo Verde Valley, that was one principle they felt bound to uphold.

The question of Federal relief, requested by the people of the valley through a telegram to Representative Swing, of this district, kept recurring, and it was explained by Mr. Van Wort that the proposed cuts were planned as immediate relief, regardless of Congressional action, and that the levee district could finance the work at once.

PERMISSION AWAITED

Men and materials are only waiting permission from the Arizona authorities, by modification of their injunction, for the start to be made, he declared. Then, he continued, if Congress acted, there was ample need for any emergency funds in further work along similar lines.

The future of the levee system also came in for some discussion. Mr. Neuffer gave it as his opinion that at least a mile, and preferably two miles, should be allowed between the Arizona mesa and the California levees, wherein the river might spread itself out in high water stages without endangering the work.

The levee, he said, needed reconstruction in some sections where it had been undermined and swept away and in places where the course of the river had been changed since the levee had been built. He added that comprehensive plans for that work were under consideration.

The financial condition of the district also came in for consideration. The existence of $1,250,000 of levee bonds and $880,000 of drainage bonds, besides the liability of land owners for water assessments were brought out in connection with the question as to whether further work could be financed.

The answer was that the immediate needs were already financed, and that the "future would have to be done."

FEAR BABES MIGHT HAVE APE STRAIN

Dr. Vronoff Smiles at Criticism of Scientist on Monkey-Gland Operations

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, June 20.—A race half men and half monkey is feared by some Paris savants if Dr. Voronoff's method is really successful.

"Isn't it logical," Dr. Voronoff was asked, "if you put chimpansee glands in the aged that their children will have a strain of monkey blood? Won't that mean the decent of the human race to monkey?"

Dr. Voronoff smiled at the bitter criticism of many surgeons who are prophesying many dire things for mankind.

"A little monkey blood would not hurt humans," he said. "It would put pep in men and reduce obesity in women. It would strengthen weakened stomaches, cure backache, chase pneumonia and cure colds. Civilization is too refined.

"Seriously, one reason I waited three years to give the world an account of my operations was simply to assure myself that the babies would be entirely normal. I was confident that the human body was too strongly established to be affected by two little monkey glands, but I wished absolute assurance."

Several famous savants actually believe that Dr. Voronoff's babies will be little monkeys, but the doctor promises on October 1, to show the finest lot of babies the world ever saw.

publican or antitreaty, but progressive.

De Valera remains in the background while his supporters gradually grow fewer. His expected statement on the constitution draft may not be made before the Dail reassembles. He is reported rather disposed to regard the election decision as significant enough, and may spring a surprise by accepting it and throwing his strength into constructive work of the new regime.

Figgis, independent, whose beard brought him into such notoriety a week ago, secured enormous poll in Dublin county. Figgis's surplus is now 7475. The count is proceeding. There are ten candidates for six seats.

Labor scored another big success in Louth and Meath, where O'Shannon, chairman of the labor party's standing committee, polled more than double quota.

With Countess Markievicz and Count O'Byrne gone, the number of titled deputies is reduced, only Count Plunkett remaining.

A statement by Lord Mayor Dublin is eloquent: "Judging by results in all parts of the country," he says, "the will of the people is going to prevail."

tected, without the acceptance of principles, rather than nothing.

GERMANY IS BUSY

While the Allies and the Russians were negotiating at Genoa, and now at The Hague, Germany is quietly and systematically pushing its "peaceful" penetration into Russia.

Laying the foundation for the possible Germanization of Russia, Teuton agents, both official and commercial, today are spread throughout the country, minutely surveying the field, re-establishing their former connections, and preparing the ground for possible future activities. Germany already is the dominant foreign influence at the Kremlin, as it was at the former Czar's court.

Too shrewd, however, to take a doubtful asset until the danger of a collapse passes, the Germans are carefully refraining from actually beginning any large scale operations in Russia. They are restricting their efforts to staking out claims to grab the moment it proves safe. Apparently they also are awaiting the outcome of The Hague parley, reluctant to make a break single handed and fearful of throwing in their fate with Russia irrevocably at this early stage.

USING RED CROSS

But while they are waiting, they are missing no opportunities to refasten their old hold on Russian commerce and industry. In Moscow the German official and unofficial delegations occupy five large buildings. There is a thoroughly businesslike air everywhere. The German Red Cross headquarters in Bolshaya and Nikitskaya streets remind one of prosperous business houses in the middle west. Authenticated reports state that the Germans are utilizing the guise of the Red Cross in various places to enter a commercial and political wedge into Russia.

In Petrograd the German Red Cross virtually controls the port area, having the right to examine every incoming and outgoing vessel, nominally for reasons of sanitation. This affords an excellent opportunity to obtain data on shipping and to lay lines for the future.

In the famine regions Germans wearing the Red Cross insignia on their arms are keeping their eyes open and spotting all the prospects for restoring contact with the people. There are German agents in all the largest cities from Petrograd to South Russia.

DELEGATION IS FETED

Large delegations of German officials and experts have been arriving in Moscow regularly and periodically, during the last few weeks, it was said in Moscow. One delegation, which the Kremlin was busy entertaining recently numbered twenty-five.

The Krupps recently took over large agricultural concessions in South Russia, but they had not yet begun to develop them. Herr Stinnes and other German financial magnates have permanent representatives in Moscow.

An attache of the German legation defining the general policy, said: "Thus far the German capitalists simply have been investigating. I have not found any actually ready to begin. But we believe in being prepared when the proper moment comes."

The German influence in the Kremlin is growing rapidly. Outside of Americans who have a club in the form of 20,000,000 bushels of food to wave over the Bolsheviki heads, the Germans are the only foreign relief workers whose orders are unquestionably obeyed. The representatives of the Nansen international and other relief societies storm in vain for adequate rolling stock. Germany quietly gives instructions and the orders are executed.

MOUNT EVEREST DASH HALTED BY WEATHER

CLIMBER LOSES SEVERAL FINGERS FROM FROST-BITE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, June 20.—A dash for the summit of Mount Everest, loftiest peak in the world, brought Gen. Charles G. Bruce's men within a few hundred feet of the goal, but there it failed, according to a dispatch from Calcutta. The weather was reported to be terrible around the peak and the climbers suffered intensely.

Three picture men—G. L. Mallory, Dr. A. M. Wakefield and T. Howard Comerville—followed the last attempt of George Finch and Gen. Bruce. They had a fearful struggle, succeeded in climbing higher than ever had gone afoot before. For a time they thought they would make their objective, but conditions proved worse than they had expected. The general impression in the camp now is that the appalling weather must improve, if the expedition is to be a complete success.

Capt. C. J. Morris, one of the climbers who first made the attempt, was forced to remain in camp because of the loss of several fingers through frost bite.

CANTALOUPE PRICES SLASHED IN GOTHAM

NEW YORK, June 20.—Cantaloupes in the wholesale market today cost only a little more than half of what they sold for yesterday, due to heavy shipments from California and Georgia totaling 1200 cars in three days. All last week only 125 cars of melons reached New York.

California melons quoted at $8 a crate yesterday sold for $4.50 today, while Georgia crates fell from $2.50 to $1.50, and some were turned back to the railroads.

BONUS COMES AFTER TARIFF

Myers, Pomerene, Swanson, Underwood and Williams—5. Total for, 51.

Against the motion:

Republicans—La Follette and Norris—2.

Democrats—Ashurst, Broussard, Caraway, Culberson, Gerry, Heflin, Hitchcock, Jones of New Mexico, Kendrick, McKellar, Overman, Robinson, Sheppard, Simmons, Smith, Stanley, Trammell, Walsh of Massachusetts, Walsh of Montana and Watson of Georgia—20. Total against, 22.

ROW ON IN EARNEST

With the announcement of the result of this vote, the bonus row began in earnest and waged for five hours. In the midst of it, Senator Watson of Indiana, offered a motion that the bonus be made a special order of business immediately after the final vote on the tariff and that thereafter it be held continuously before the Senate unless two-thirds of the Senate voted to displace it.

Senator Underwood of Alabama, Democratic leader and an opponent of the bonus, made a point of order against the two-thirds vote provision, pointing out that this was in the nature of an amendment to the Senate rules. The point of order was sustained and that provision was withdrawn.

A question then arose as to whether the motion, if adopted, in the modified form, would preclude a motion to take up the bonus before the tariff bill was disposed of, and after a long discussion the motion was further modified at the suggestion of Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, so that a motion to proceed to the consideration of the bonus would be in order at any time. Some opponents of the bonus supported this motion but those who cast their votes against it were Dial, King and Williams, Democrats, and Edge, France, Pepper and Wadsworth, Republicans. Several opponents were absent when the vote was taken late in the day.

CHARGES NUMEROUS

Charges flew thick and fast during the debate. They included assertions that the delay in acting on the bonus was for the purpose of killing it; that those who made millions out of the war were behind an organized and extensive propaganda to defeat the measure, and that the Republican majority was planning to use the bonus as a club over the heads of opponents of the tariff measure to shorten debate on that bill.

In offering his motion to displace the tariff, Senator Walsh stated this was the third time that there had been an effort to postpone action and "by that means kill this bill." He added that proponents of the legislation proposed to put the Senate on record on the question.

Denying that there was a purpose to defeat the bill, Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, in charge of the legislation, read to the Senate the resolution adopted yesterday by the Republican conference, which

THERE are two commercial forces, and only two, that will deliver to any merchant the greatest volume of the business in his community. These two forces are Fair Price and High Quality.

Both must be present in every transaction, because it takes two blades to make a shears. Each is useless without the other.

It is not difficult to offer clothing at seductive prices if one is willing to succumb to the temptation of "Plunder" woolens and inferior standards of workmanship. Inferior woolens, however, from their very nature, cannot lend themselves to good tailoring, or to satisfactory wear.

If we are justified in our conception of the value of a good name, established by worthy merchandise during a long period of years, we cannot afford, nor are we willing, to jeopardize our good name by any departure from the highest ideals and standards.

The question of price must be met. Although quality remains throughout, we have met the need of the moment by merchandising on the closest possible margin of Mark-up.

On This Basis, We Are Offering Quality Values Not Equaled Elsewhere

Noticias de Washington

WASHINGTON, junio 20.—Después de una guerra de palabras en el asunto del proyecto de ley del plus del soldado, los senadores de la administración han ganado el punto de aplazar la consideración de dicho asunto hasta que se haya votado la ley de arancel.

El Presidente Harding ha dirigido una carta al Diputado Campbell, de la Comisión de Reglamento de la Cámara, aceptando el plan para detener el proyecto de ley de subsidios a buques hasta que el receso de tres días de la Cámara termine, a fines de agosto.

En nuevo informe de minoría de la Comisión de Asuntos Militares ha sido atacada la proposición de Henry Ford sobre Muscle Shoals y calificada de "fraude" y de "golpe de frenética finanza."

El gobierno está trabajando en un proyecto para atender a las 30,000 pequeñas reclamaciones de alemanes por propiedades que les fueron secuestradas por el guardián de propiedades extranjeras. El Presidente va a causar una sorpresa cuando se otorgue nombramiento a una comisión que dilucide las reclamaciones de Germano-Americanos.

Conferencias de Petroleros con De la Huerta

NUEVA YORK, junio 20.—Hoy comenzaron en las oficinas de la Agencia Financiera del Gobierno Mexicano las conferencias de cinco petroleros, cuyas compañías tienen intereses en México, con el Ministro de Hacienda de México, Adolfo de la Huerta. Joaquín Santaella, Jefe del Departamento de Petróleo en la Secretaría de México, tomó también parte en las discusiones, las que van a versar sobre los impuestos del petróleo, la propuesta sindicalización de los intereses de las compañías petroleras para explorar en el interior de México, y otros asuntos. Representantes de las dos partes han anunciado que no es probable se dé publicidad a las discusiones referidas, antes de la conclusión de las conferencias.

Se Soluciona la Huelga de México

CIUDAD DE MEXICO, junio 20. Después de la intervención del Presidente Obregón, pudo llegarse a una arreglo entre los empleados huelguistas y la Compañía de Tranvías de México, y se espera la inmediata reanudación del servicio de tranvías. Los empleados de teléfonos han estado volviendo gradualmente a sus labores, lo mismo que los panaderos, y el movimiento que tuvo varios días paralizada a la capital ha perdido su fuerza viva.

NOTAS LOCALES

Banquete en Honor de Carlos Bead.

Doscientos de los más significados hosteleros de la costa del Pacífico concurrieron el lunes en la noche a un banquete en honor de Carlos Bead, gerente del Alexandria, que se retira. James Wood, director administrador del Hotel Belmont de Nueva York, hizo viaje especial a ésta para actuar de maestro de brindis. William H. Crane, Frederick Warde y Vernon Goodwin figuraron entre los oradores.

El Sr. y la Sra. Bead partirán pronto para un viaje de seis meses por el este, y estudiarán allá los métodos de hotel. El Sr. Bead va a ser gerente residente del nuevo Biltmore de $5,000,000 que se está construyendo aquí.

Un Conductor Temerario Va a la Cárcel

"Debemos poner coto a la desenfrenada velocidad. Esto de correr por las calles de la ciudad, pisoteando los derechos de los demás, con pretextos triviales, resulta del todo ridículo," dijo ayer el Juez Policíaco Chesebro, al sentenciar a tres días de cárcel a Welly Wyler, empleado de Universal City, por conducir su motocicleta a cuarenta millas por hora, por la intersección de Boulevard Sunset y la Avenida Alexandria. Wyler manifestó al tribunal que se dirigía á un picnic enese momento y que se le había hecho tarde.

$65 violadores del reglamento de tráfico comparecieron ayer ante el tribunal del Juez Chesebro, lo que revela que la policía está estricta en lo que respecta a la aplicación de las disposiciones de tráfico. Los expedientes del tribunal demuestran que se cobraron $3443 en el curso de la mañana, por concepto de multas y fianzas perdidas.

La Reglamentación del Colorado es el Asunto de la Conferencia

Ayer se reunieron en Blythe un grupo de ingenieros y otros funcionarios que representan a California y a Arizona, y tuvieron una conferencia sobre reglamentación de las crecientes del río Colorado. Los residentes del Valle les pidieron que sugiriesen medios y arbitrios para dominar el problema de las crecientes hasta tanto que se comience a construir la presa del cañón de Boulder.

Según informes de Blythe, los funcionarios han sido mancomunadamente autorizados para dejar que se efectúen ciertas obras de emergencia, a fin de cerrar la gran ruptura que se produjo en la margen derecha del río, y para dar los pasos conducentes a recobrar los 10,000 acres de terreno que se hallan ahora cubiertos por el agua.

DEPORTES

Baseball

Vernon derrotó ayer a Portland en el partido de apertura jugado en el parque Washington, por una anotación de 9 a 7.

Salt Lake le ganó a Los Angeles en el primer juego de la serie de la semana, por 6 a 5. El partido se efectuó en el "diamante" de Salt Lake.

Kenneth Williams, logró su décimo octava home run de la temporada.

Golf

Walter Hagen y Joe Kirkwood van a la cabeza de todos los jugadores de golf en el campeonato libre de golf británico, con un tanteo total de 147 cada uno, en los dos días de juego en el campo de Sandwich, Inglaterra. Jock Hutchison viene en tercer lugar, con un total de 154.

Tennis

El equipo de las Islas Británicas ganó ayer el match de parejas en el partido con el equipo italiano para la copa de tennis Davis. Habiendo, pues, la Gran Bretaña ganado tres de los cinco números, entra a la segunda tanda del juego.

Lucha.

Hoy figuran nueve asaltos de campeonato de lucha en el programa del gimnasio de la escuela superior Politécnica.

Boxeo

Las pretensiones de Johnny Kilbane de ser el campeon púgil de peso de pluma fueron ayer desechadas por la Comisión de Boxeo del Estado de Nueva York.

Yates

El próximo domingo en la tarde tendrán lugar las primeras regatas de veleros que en la presente temporada ofrece en el puerto el club de yates de Los Angeles. La carrera será para balandros, y la distancia, doce millas.

WIFE OF FIFTEEN FELL FOR UNIFORM

HAS SERVED HER SENTENCE; IS THROUGH WITH MEN AND READY TO WORK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

AURORA (Ill.) June 20.—Uncle Sam would better lock up his soldiers and sailors, Mrs. Helen Drexel Ferguson, etc., etc., etc., 20 years old of Washington, D. C., sent to jail in Geneva, Ill. to serve a sentence of six months on a charge of marrying 15 to 17 soldiers and sailors has completed her sentence, and was set at liberty today.

Her sentence had twelve days to run, but she was released to enter a hospital for an operation. The girl, who admits fifteen husbands, but thinks she may have married seventeen or more, has been studying stenography, and says she will keep away from men in the uniform.

"It was their uniforms," she said today. "I could not resist them. Of my varied assortments of husbands, I loved No. 10 the best. He bossed me around and was a regular he-husband."

PENSIONS PROVIDED PRINCETON FACULTY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PRINCETON (N. J.) June 20.—The members of Princeton faculty will be retired at the age of 68 upon pensions in the future, it was decided at the annual meeting of the trustees of Princeton University yesterday. The rule for retirement was announced as follows:

"Any member of the University teaching staff may retire at the age of 65 and every member must retire at the age of 68, provided however, that in special cases by a vote of the board of trustees of the university, an individual may be continued in active service beyond the retiring age for periods of not exceeding three years from the time of any special vote taken. If the retiring age occurs during the academic year, retirement shall become effective and date from the end of the current year."

DESPERADO ON WAY TO NEBRASKA PRISON

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

RAWLINS (Wyo.) June 20.—Fred Brown, wanted in Omaha for the alleged kidnaping of two young women and for other law violations, was placed aboard a Union Pacific train this morning en route to Lincoln, Neb.

Brown will be taken to the Nebraska penitentiary for safe keeping if plans of the officers are carried out. He still is suffering from the wound inflicted by a posse which captured him near Medicine Bow last Saturday, but physicians said he was well enough to travel.

MISS ANNE MARTIN SPEAKS IN LONDON

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, June 20.—Miss Anne Martin, twice candidate for the United States Senate from Nevada, declared at a dinner in the Lyceum Club last evening that she would not enter the present Nevada race. Lady Rhondda, unsuccessful contestant for a seat in the House of Lords, presided.

"I cannot make the tremendous effort involved in another single-handed campaign without the organized support of the women, the farmers and other exploited groups—they show no signs of life," said Miss Martin.

Leconte Memorial Program Resumed for Summer

Literary and Scientific Subjects Are Listed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, June 20.—During June and July the University of California extension division will conduct the fourth series of Leconte memorial lectures in the Yosemite National Park. These lectures are offered annually in honor of Joseph Leconte, for thirty years a member of the faculty of the University of California.

As in past years, the lectures offered for the season of 1922 will deal with subjects of literary and scientific interest. They will be nontechnical in character and interesting, as well as instructive. The speakers are men who have brought recognition to themselves by achievements in their respective fields.

FREE TO YOSEMITE VISITORS

The Leconte memorial lectures have became a tradition. Interesting and comprehensive, they stand as something unique in the field of popular instruction. The lectures are free to the visitors to Yosemite National Park.

The program of the 1922 Leconte memorial lectures is as follows:

(1.) Herbert E. Bolton, professor of American history, University of California, "The Early History of the Yosemite Region" (illustrated;) "Early Trails in the Yosemite Region," Tuesday, June 20; "Discovery of the Yosemite Valley," Thursday, June 22; "History of the Yosemite Reservation," Friday, June 23; to be given in the government pavilion at 8 o'clock.

(2.) George D. Louderback, professor of geology, University of California, "Certain Geological Aspects of the Sierras, Nature and Origin of the Rock Masses," Tuesday, June 27; "Development of the Mountains," Thursday, June 29; "Glaciers and Their Effects," Friday, June 30; to be given at the Leconte Memorial Lodge at 8 o'clock.

(3.) Eugene Neuhaus, assistant professor of art appreciation, University of California, "Nature and Art" (illustrated;) "The Appreciation of Art," Tuesday, July 4; "The Relation of Art to Nature," Thursday, July 6; "The Painters of Western Scenery," Friday, July 7; to be given in the government pavilion at 8 o'clock.

(4.) Loye H. Miller, associate professor of biology, southern branch, University of California, "California's Animals of the Past" (illustrated;) "Records of the Earliest Forms of Life," Tuesday, July 11; "Some Prehistoric Mammals," Thursday, July 13; "The Fossil Birds," Friday, July 14; to be given at the Leconte Memorial Lodge at 8 o'clock.

MONDELL CHAMPIONS GRAIN FUTURES BILL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Representative Mondell, Wyoming, Republican leader of the House, came to the aid of the Tincher grain futures bill today, appearing before the Rules Committee to urge that a rule be granted for its consideration this week.

The committee, which yesterday refused to grant a rule, took no immediate action, but arranged to consider the question further tomorrow. Sponsors for the bill are hopeful that some of the members of the Rules Committee will change their votes, although the 6-to-3 vote yesterday would indicate that prospects for favorable action are not bright.

Representative Mondell told the committee that the Tincher bill, which re-enacts the Grain Futures Act to meet objections of the Supreme Court, is one of the most important before the House. He said that "legitimate grain men are in favor of the measure."

The wedding will take place on Saturday at Ardath, Shamley Green, the home of Sir Rennel Rodd, former Ambassador to Italy, which the McCormicks have taken for the season.

DRAWS JURY IN CHICAGO UNION CASE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, June 20. — Encouraged by the conviction yesterday evening of "Frenchy" Mader, former head of the Building Trades Council, the ruling body of all union labor engaged in construction, the State plunged vigorously today into the selection of a jury to try Mader, "Big Tim" Murphy, "Con" Shea, John Miller and Dan McCarthy for the murder of policemen who attempted to halt an automobile loaded with bombs.

Desperate efforts were made by the attorneys for the labor terrorists to lift the trial out of the jurisdiction of Cook county juries, but they were unsuccessful. The State will demand death on the gallows for the five defendants. This was indicated by questions to prospective jurymen. It is expected the trial will run all summer, as there are a mass of evidence and hundreds of witnesses.

Francis J. Mahoney, acquitted last week on the charge of bribing a juror in the trial of Simon O'Donnell, labor leader, was reindicted on two counts today. Two of the witnesses who refused to identify him at the former trial said they had been threatened with death if they did so.

William F. Quesse, president of the janitors' union, just convicted on charges of graft, extortion and terrorism, has issued a circular letter to all union janitors, telling them he did not receive a square deal in court and that his conviction is an attempt by the "bosses" to break the union.

ONCE RICH FAMILY NOW SEEKING WORK

SANBORNS, WIFE, DAUGHTER AND SON OF COFFEE KING, WANT JOBS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BOSTON, June 20.—The once rich Sanborns, wife, daughter and son of the coffee king, are looking for jobs.

The trouble of Jack Sanborn, who married Eleanor Montgomery, niece of W. Robert Montgomery, financier, and who separated from her, have brought into the limelight all the troubles of the millionaire Sanborns. Their wealth has apparently vanished.

The famous "Aigremont," palatial Winchester residence of the family, is mortgaged for $50,000 to Miss Mary E. Murray.

Shortly after the news of the Sanborn separation became known Mrs. Rena Sanborn, Jack's mother, announced that she and Jack and Miss Helen Sanborn, her daughter, were going to Europe. Mrs. Sanborn is separated from her husband, Oren C. Sanborn.

Yesterday it became known that Mrs. Sanborn will soon take a position as matron at a girls' camp in Conway, (N. H.) Miss Helen Sanborn will teach horseback riding to girls at Lake Champlain.

Jack Sanborn's name is one of four or five on a waiting list for the position of "counselor" in a boys' camp near the girls' camp, at which his mother is matron.

Mrs. Rena Sanborn was an Armstrong of Medford. According to W. L. George, Oren Sanborn met her when she was a cook in his father's family. After becoming Oren's bride she was a guest at the Copley Plaza. Her niece operated the elevator at the hotel. Mrs. Sanborn failed to recognise her niece.

BILL AIDS ROADS IN HIRING LABOR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Contracts by which railroads are restricted or interfered with in the employment of labor would be declared void under a bill introduced today by request of Representative Madden, Republican, Illinois.

The bill sets forth that all "provisions in contracts heretofore or hereafter made, restricting, or in any way interfering with the rights of a railroad company to employ any person in any capacity, are hereby declared to be void and any such provision in any such contracts shall not be recognized or enforced by the United States Railroad Labor Board or any court in which controversy may arise."

Reduction of Second-Class Postage Discussed

Harding and Works Believe Rates Too High

Willing to Cut Charges if Government Not Loser

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The administration is considering the matter of decreasing second-class postal rates, it was said today at the White House. Considerable discussion was given to the subject at today's Cabinet meeting and President Harding and Postmaster-General Works are inclined to believe that at least a part of the increase in the second-class rates made during the war should now be removed.

WORKS AGREEABLE

The Postmaster-General is understood to have told the President that he would readily agree to legislation reducing rates on second class mail matter, if some method was evolved whereby the postoffice would not sustain a deficit. The present rates as applied to the larger shippers, he is said to believe, are entirely too high or the publishers of the country would not be utilising private agencies in the transportation of their products.

Under proposed reduced rates said to have been suggested to the Postoffice Department by publishing houses which have repeatedly asked decreases in rates, the government revenues, it was declared, would be decreased by approximately $7,000,000. Such a reduction would mean a saving of about $10,000,000 annually to the publishers, the latter were said to have estimated, adding, however, that in the event of reduced rates, a much greater volume of business diverted from express and railroad companies would not only make up any deficit sustained by the department, but would result in a profit of several million dollars to the government.

BUSINESS STANDPOINT

The Postmaster-General was represented by postal officials as looking at the rate situation "from a purely business standpoint."

He felt that the publishers should be afforded relief, it was said, but at the same time was not disposed to make any move which would reflect upon the business management of the department. If assured by the publishers of sufficient business to meet any additional expense on the part of the department, he was perfectly willing to go before Congress, his advisers said, and recommend a reduction in rates.

Arab Girl Revolt Leader, Sentenced to Life Term, Escapes

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

DAMASCUS (Syria) June 20.—Nazir-Al-Abed, an Arab girl, who took a prominent part in fomenting the revolt against French rule, and who was sentenced to prison for life, has escaped. Stern measures adopted by Gen. Gourand, French High Commissioner, have somewhat diminished the intensity of the reign of terror, which has gripped Damascus, Aleppo and Homa during the last few weeks, following the visit of Charles M. Crane.

METHODISTS LOSE FRIENDS

People Avoid Church Now Because of Laws

Minister's Son Says Church Rules Are Obsolete

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, June 20.—Methodist Church members may attend the theater, dance to jazz music, play cards and still remain members in good standing in 1924 if the object toward which J. Henry Smythe, Jr., New York publisher, Methodist, and son of a minister, is devoting his energies is accomplished.

Mr. Smythe, who has been working for the revision of the Methodist book of discipline since 1917, arrived in Chicago today. He had been West, enlisting the support of the clergy and laity, and is on his way to Indianapolis to petition the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in semi-annual session there, to appoint a committee to revise the rules. The change in the church rules would have to be effected at the general conference, which will be held in the spring of 1924, he said.

OLD LAWS WORK HARM

"The rules in the book of discipline that ban dancing, card playing, theater going, attending the circus and similar things have done harm since the day they were written in the church literature in 1873," said Mr. Smythe today. "The Methodist Church is not just for saints. The rules keep people out of the church and members inactive.

"I am holding no brief for dancing theater-going or card playing, but I advocate a return to John Wesley's wise rule, 'To avoid such diversions as cannot be used in the name of the Lord Jesus.'"

"It would be practically impossible to make a complete list of things that might be consdiered sinful, so it is ridiculous to list a few of them. The literature of the Methodist Church and other churches should be rewritten to bring it up-to-date. A disregard for existing laws, even if they are outgrown laws, tends toward disrespect for the church."

NEW RULES DEMANDED

Carrying dead and obsolete regulations on the statute books is as bad for the church as it is for the State, according to Mr. Smythe.

The New York Methodist began his campaign to have the Methodist book of discipline rewritten, when, in 1917, his fiancee, Miss Frances Simmons, of upper Fifth avenue, broke her engagement to him because she refused to be ruled by the Methodist Church regulations.

"That showed me one person's viewpoint and I started at work at once to have the rules changed," added Mr. Smythe. "There are thousands of other persons who have been kept out of the church by the same thing."

Smythe, who with megaphone and flag led the cheering when Roosevelt was nominated President at the Coliseum, is an honorary member of the National Association of Masters of Dancing and of the Actors' Equity Association. He is a son of Dr. J. Henry Smythe, Philadelphia divine, who died last year.

AMERICAN FAULTS CITED BY HINDU

DECLARES WE MUST REFORM BEFORE TRYING TO TEACH EAST INDIANS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

INDIANAPOLIS, June 20.—The faults of America were pointed out today at the Baptist northern convention by a native of India. He was the Rev. Theodore Field Orave, who, it is said, is the first missionary of any church to the Hindus and Mohammedans on the Pacific Coast in the United States.

The Rev. Mr. Orave is a Christian, born in India and of Hindu ancestry. He said there were from 2500 to 3000 Mohammedans, Hindus and Sikhs on the Pacific Coast.

"The Hindu will not tolerate discriminations against his race for he has a civilization thousands of years older than America," he said. "It will be better to send the Hindus now in this country back to India unless America reforms in the matter of lynching, divorce and racial injustice.

"As a contrast between American and Indian women, I would ask which is cleaner, natural or artificial decorations," he said. "Your home life and college life is not what it ought to be; you must reform if you are to teach India."

FIND WOMAN'S BODY UNDERNEATH TREE

MISSING SINCE SUNDAY AND THOUGHT TO HAVE DIED THROUGH EXHAUSTION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 20.—Mrs. Ed Ruppert, 60 years old, widow of a former county jailor, was found dead yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs De Witt and Smith. Her body was under a tree about five miles southeast of Phoenix.

Mrs. Ruppert had been missing from her home since Sunday, and it is evident that she died from exhaustion, most likely induced by a delerium, for the end came within sight of human habitation.

The deputies located the body through finding traces of where Mrs. Ruppert had dragged herself.

ATTACKED BY SOW, MAN BADLY INJURED

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SPOKANE, June 20.—Attacked by a brood sow when he tried to extricate one of her small pigs from a fence in which it had become caught, E. G. Fry, Cottonwood (Idaho) farmer, was in a hospital here today.

The animal bit off one of his little fingers and through the palm of his left hand. Speed in getting over the fence saved him from more serious injury, he said.

MOVE TO AMEND ARIZONA LAWS

Constitutional Changes to Come Up in September

Governor Issues Special Call for Election

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 20.—An official call has been issued by Gov. Campbell placing before the electors at the primary election September 12 various constitutional changes in the laws proposed at the special session of the Legislature last spring. These propositions follow:

Exempting widows from taxation to the amount of $2000, instead of $1000, as at present, with limitation in the event of ownership of property valued at not over $5000.

That all taxes collected shall be paid in money only, and that no State department or official shall maintain any depository for State funds apart from the State treasury.

That the debt limit of the State be increased from $3,500,000 to 4 per cent of the assessed valuation of the State, this by a majority vote of the real property taxpayers, who also shall be qualified electors.

That in all bond elections the vote shall be only by real property taxpayers who in other respects are qualified electors.

That the Legislature be authorized to amend the present direct primary election law, authorizing a return to the old convention system.

That county officers shall be elected for terms of four years.

That the Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer and Attorney-General hold office for four years, the terms of those elected in 1922 to end on the first Monday in January, 1927, and that the State Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be appointed by the State Board of Education, instead of being elected as heretofore, and that the term of office and salary shall be prescribed by such board.

That members of the Legislature shall hold office for four years.

That there be removed the present restrictions denying any member of the Legislature, during his term of office, election to any civil office of profit which shall have been created during his legislative term. This feature had some effect upon the Colter candidacy for Governor several years ago.

INNOCENT MAN KEPT QUIET

Served Two Years in Jail for Assassination He Did Not Commit

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, June 20.—Runge, the Uhlan who was convicted of assassinating Rosa Luxemburg, leader of the Spartacist movement, has completed his sentence of two years in prison, according to a Central News dispatch from Berlin. At the office of the daily newspaper Vorwaerts, he declared that he was innocent, and subsequently made formal accusations against several officers, declaring he had been promised money to remain silent.

From Denver to Phoenix Return Fare is Solved

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 20.—In keeping with the once-famous City of Mexico differential that added to the riches of El Paso, is a condition of passenger fares that has had presentation to the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing just closed in this city.

There is no round-trip rate from Denver to Phoenix. Two straight fares between the cities amount to $99.58.

There is a round-trip rate between Denver and Los Angeles. So it happened that a Denver man, wishing to come to Phoenix and then return, bought a Los Angeles round-trip ticket for $64. Then he bought a side-trip ticket from Ash Fork to Phoenix and return for $8.36. Thus, he was able to get here and get back home at a net cost of $67.36, a material saving on the regular price of transportation.

DROPS DEAD WHEN WIFE LEAVES HIM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EXETER, June 20.—The Sheriff's office and Exeter police are searching for the pretty young wife of J. V. Hildreth, retired sea captain, who dropped dead in Exeter yesterday afternoon, after charging that Mrs. Hildreth had fled with another man and all their money, about $500.

Hildreth, 72 years old, came to Exeter recently from Oklahoma. His wife is said to be 24. They have no relatives in Exeter and little is known of them. Too much excitement is thought to have been the cause of Hildreth's death.

HARVEST HUGE POTATO CROP

Nine Hundred Carloads to be Shipped

Twenty Carloads Daily Kern County Output

Fire Sweeping Mountainside as Rangers Fight

BAKERSFIELD, June 20.—Harvesting of the potato crop at Shafter is in full swing this week, shipments from the district, beginning today, averaging twenty cars daily. Approximately 900 carloads will be shipped from Shafter this season, compared with 600 last year, it was announced today by the County Horticultural Commission. The crop is being brought in from 1500 acres.

The Shafer potatoes this year are of exceptionally fine quality, the Horticultural Commission announced. They are large, firm and clean, and the yield per acre will materially exceed early predictions. Five shipping and marketing agencies are operating in the district, moving the crop to southern and eastern markets. The first carload of the season was shipped Friday of last week.

CROP EXCELLENT

All of the potatoes are being rated U. S. No. 1, a 100 per cent classification under the governmental regulations. Inspector Laing of the State Department of Agriculture, Sacramento, is at Shafter making inspections and gradings, and will remain there during the height of the shipping season. Departmental inspectors connected with the Kern Horticultural Commission are collaborating with Laing in the inspection work.

At the time of the recent freeze it was feared that the potatoes at Shafter were damaged, but the crop has matured into the best ever uncovered in the local potato center.

The shippers handling the local crop this year are the Vegetable Union, American Fruit Growers, Inc., Tom Peppers, Platt Produce Company and Hunt, Hatch & Co.

FOREST FIRE RAGING

A forest fire which has destroyed trees and fodder on several miles of mountainside is raging below Mount Breckenridge near Democrat Hot Springs, forty-five miles east of Bakersfield. The glare from the blaze was plainly visible from Bakersfield. The fire has been burning approximately thirty-six hours.

Forest rangers and ranchers are fighting the flames. It is not believed that any ranches are in the fire area, though a spread of the blaze would endanger farm property and cattle. The fire last night appeared to be this side of Democrat, on the first range of hills above the foothills where Kern River flows out of Kern Canyon.

Ranger stations and ranch homes in Indian Creek, Havilah, Democrat and Fairview were deserted yesterday, the occupants being out combatting the flames, which were reported to be sweeping fiercely over grazing range and woodland. Communication could not be established by long distance telephone with any stations in the vicinity of the inferno.

The United States forest service office at California Hot Springs had received no official report on the mountain fire this morning, and rangers there were attempting to communicate with officials of the service in the Breckenridge district to learn the extent in area and damage of the fire. A small grass fire was reported to the California Hot Springs office Saturday, and it was thought that there might be connection between this blaze and the big one sweeping the district today.

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, June 20.—Positive evidence of improved business throughout the Northwest is contained in a report of the Minneapolis traffic association issued today recording a 25 per cent increase in the number of carloads of commodities received in Minneapolis in May, 1922, over May, 1921. A 27 per cent increase in the number of carloads forwarded from Minneapolis is also recorded.

And now
our mail man is crazy, goofy, nuts in the attic,
nobody home, deluded!
He's afraid to come into our store.
He's read in the papers that the bosses are crazy and the clerks are crazy and the tailors are crazy and the porters are crazy from seeing and selling so many WHIPCORDS, and he dodges our store,
and we're not getting our mail.
And we're getting shipments and shipments of WHIPCORDS, but no invoices for them.

So, we're up a tree.
We make a kick at the mail headquarters about our letter man, and they get at him.
Now, with one foot in the vestibule and one foot in the store he sneaks in and shoots our mail right over the floor and then beats it—
one eye to the front,
one eye to the rear, expecting pursuit and the axe.
For he fears we'll hog-tie him and sell him for a WHIPCORD.
And, safely out into the street,
he drops his mail pouch and mops his brow and thanks God he's alive.
Next day he cops a cop and gives him a nickel and hands him our mail and tells him to slide it in and beat it quick.
Next day he hails a messenger and tells him the same.
Next day he halts
the street cleaner
and tells him the same.
And he waits outside till the mail is delivered, never expecting to see the fellow come out alive.
But when night comes the letter man gets in good and proper, in his sleep he hears whipcords and whipcords and crazy people running about with sharp axes; and the axes are chasing the whipcords around the room, and the whipcords of a sudden turn into a bunch of mail for Scott Bros. that he must deliver next day.
And a trembling gets him and a cold sweat.
And he wakes up terrified and unfit for his job.
And he tells his wife that mail carrying is getting his goat.
And he's going to give it up and get a job as prohibition agent or something equally easy.
And he resigns.
And there you are!

THROW AWAY YOUR ARTIFICIAL ARCH SUPPORTS
(Shoes with rigid arches are "artificial")

The human foot is equipped with natural "shock absorbers" for the protection of the body and nervous system. USE these "shock absorbers" properly and not only will you prevent foot troubles, but foot ills you have become painfully conformed, broken and ill-shapen can be brought back again to permanent comfort and vigor.

No misunderstood device can improve upon the action of these natural "shock absorbers." Misfortune with their action is the cause of all foot troubles, as of also a surprising percentage of grave ailments such as leg-pains, nervousness, faulty circulation, sciatic, chronic headaches, backaches, etc.

Metal-shod supports for locomotion already weakened and broken down by abuse of the muscular shock absorbers are only crutches, and with rigid shanks and cold, unyielding steel bars, at best, but mechanical. TWO SUITS AS SEQUEL TO FIGHT

Babcock Threatens Civil and Criminal Actions Against Giffen

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, June 20.—The filing of a criminal complaint and of a civil suit for $50,000 damages by A. L. Babcock, former cashier of the Sun Maid Raisin Growers' Association, against Wylie M. Giffen, its president, is forecast as a sequel to a fight asserted to have taken place in Giffen's private office yesterday.

The trouble occurred during a conversation in which Babcock is asserted to have asked an extension of time on mortgaged property near Hanford.

Giffen's denial that he struck Babcock, today brought the statement from Babcock that he "is considering" asking reinstatement and execution of a criminal complaint charging Giffen with battery. The complaint is on file in Dist.-Atty. Gearhart's office. At the request of Babcock it has not been served.

"Since reading published reports of Giffen's denial," Babcock said, "I am considering asking reinstatement and execution of a criminal complaint against Giffen. I will decide this after consultation with my attorney in San Francisco today.

"Out of a sense of decency and justice you may say I shall seek through the courts adequate payment from Giffen for all wounds and every drop of blood spilled and for being subjected to so vicious and criminal an attack, and if any infection of wounds develops the amount to be asked will be treble the $50,000 I shall ask. I am prepared to carry my case to the Supreme Court of the United States if necessary to secure justice."

Giffen left Fresno early this morning to visit a ranch he owns near Bakersfield and will not be back until tomorrow, it was said at his office.

LOCAL WOMAN BRINGS WORRY TO OFFICERS

VIENNA POLICE DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO WITH MRS. PADDLEFORD

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VIENNA, June 20.—What shall be done with Mrs. Genevieve Paddleford is the question perplexing Vienna justice. Her husband, wealthy Los Angeles oil man, remains adamant to cable appeals for help, declining to give assistance. Further complications have been created by the fact that articles distinctly marked as the property of hotels, where she stopped, have been found in her trunks. The police declare she is a kleptomaniac, while she says all her baggage was packed by servants.

Penniless and friendless, the police are in a quandary as to what to do with her. The Vienna police have received complaints from the Swiss hotels that she left unpaid bills amounting to 37,000 francs, and that even in Vienna she went on a continued orgy, spending 97,000,000 kronen. In addition she has ordered gowns and furnishings totaling 100,000,000 kronen.

Her husband is said to have answered her numerous cables curtly and pointedly, declaring himself no longer responsible for her debts. Her luggage may cover her obligations, her eleven trunks containing quantities of furs, smart gowns and jewels.

WORKMAN KILLED BY FALL FROM SCAFFOLD

Falling from a scaffolding at the new tank of the Southern California Gas Company, at Slauson and Western avenues, James Malloy, 35, was fatally injured and died late yesterday at the Golden State Hospital, according to a report to Assistant Coroner McDonald. Malloy lived at 1629 South Hope street. He is survived by a widow. The body was taken to the undertaking parlors of Edwards, Gamash and Heath.

HARTWELL ESTATE VALUED AT $6000

An estate valued at $6000 was left by Mrs. Mary L. Hartwell, widow of Calvin Hartwell, former Coroner, according to a petition for probate filed yesterday. Alice M. Gibbings, foster-daughter, was named as the recipient. She lives in Pasadena.

RAILWAY FILES SUIT

The San Diego & Arizona Railway filed an action in the U. S. District Court yesterday against the Santa Fe and allied roads, asking for a judgment of $3235.09, said to be due on excessive freight paid on two gasoline motor cars from Minneapolis. It is declared that the Interstate Commerce Commission has declared the amount already paid to be excessive and unreasonable.

CASE CONTINUED

Trinidad Lasaya, Vice-Consul for Costa Rica in Los Angeles, accused of two offenses against young girls, appeared yesterday before Justice Brown, but his case was continued until today because of the crowded court calendar.

SUSPECT HELD

Patrick J. Ryan, accused of attempt to rob Jacob Pruden at a jewelry store at 345½ South Spring street, was held to answer yesterday by Justice Forbes after Deputy District Attorney Orme adduced testimony regarding a sensational attempt to hold up Mr. Pruden shortly before an auction of jewelry. Bail was fixed at $2500.

CHEAP BEEF IS RETURNING

Nation-Wide Investigation Shows Improvement

Price Movement to Normal in Full Swing

Farmers and Stock Growers Share Optimism

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 20.—The great American beefsteak and the succulent roast beef are on their way back to the menu of the ordinary citizen, according to a report made public today by the National Institute of Progressive Farming.

The reason is simple, according to Guy H. Hall, director of the institute. It is that with the deflation of the grain market, it has again become profitable to market feed grains via the beef market.

BEEF SURVEY

"Our survey of the beef situation, which has been on for a month, covered the four leading pure-breed cattle associations, namely, the Hereford, Aberdeen-Angus, Shorthorn and Galloway, the leading livestock markets and some 17,000 farm implement dealers," said Mr. Hall.

"The investigation," continued Mr. Hall, "shows a marked increase in the sale of bulls to farmers and range cattle growers. This means increased herds. All reports agree on that. Herds were terribly depleted during the deflation period and there is still a shortage, but the movement back to normal is now in full swing. As production increases so will consumption, and the rehabilitation of all industry will be that much advanced.

FARMERS OPTIMISTIC

"It is not an exaggeration to state that optimism has returned to the farmer. He sees a sure profit in this season's work and he is buying tractors and farm implements and using them. Our hog survey, recently made public, indicated that; the beef survey confirms it and our sheep survey, now in progress, will clinch it I am sure.

"The survey indicates a profitable market for beef for at least eighteen months longer, and with interest retailing of meats, the American working man should have his beef on the table at least once a day, as of yore. It will not be the grower's fault if he cannot afford it. England has grown to greatness on beef; so has the United States. The return of the steak and the roast to the table is of international importance."

BEST NEWS IN YEARS, WHITE HOUSE PROMISE

CAPITAL BELIEVES WILSON MAY BE NAMED TO COMMISSION BY HARDING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, June 20. — A plan by which some $6,000 small claims of Germans for property sequestered with the alien property custodian would be relieved is being worked out by members of Congress and the Alien Property Custodian with the sanction of the President and the Departments of State and Justice, it was announced at the White House today.

In connection with the settlement of outstanding German and American war claims the President hopes soon to be able to announce the personnel of the mixed claims commission. It was stated that when the announcement was made it would be "the best news that had been given out at the White House in fifty years."

It was not indicated what the nature of the news would be, but the statement gave rise to much speculation as to whether the President intends to name former President Woodrow Wilson as the third member of the commission. Under the agreement, the United States originally was to have named one member, Germany one and there was to have been a third member chosen from a neutral country, but Germany has requested the United States to name an American as the third member.

CANADIAN VETERAN IS FACING CHARGES

GRAND LARCENY AND ABDUCTION OF BROOKLYN GIRL ARE ALLEGED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 20.—Charged with abduction of a Brooklyn girl and grand larceny, Joseph Stuart, veteran of the celebrated Princess Pat Regiment of Canadian Infantry, was held in $7500 bail in Gates-avenue Court, Brooklyn, today.

It was alleged that Stuart rented 100 chairs from Hugh Gillespie, a Brooklyn undertaker, ostensibly for a Salvation Army meeting in a park, and later sold the chairs for $40. With this money, it is charged, he took Miss Claire Malone, 20 years old, of Brooklyn, to Welland, Ont. Miss Malone's sister told the court that Stuart asked permission to take the girl to Albany for a one-day excursion. Stuart wired Miss Malone's brother from Welland stating they were happily married and asking for $50.

The brother telegraphed Miss Malone, learned they were not married, and advised her to have Stuart arrested. She did. Stuart lived with his sister in Brooklyn. He served four years in Flanders, where he lost one eye and suffered an injury of the skull.

STEAMER CAPTAIN IS SUSPENDED FOR CRASH

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 20.—Three years' suspension of the license of Capt. A. R. Pearson, pilot aboard the American steamer Iowan, when she struck and sank the British steamer Welsh Prince, May 23, with the loss of seven lives, was imposed yesterday by United States Steam Vessel Inspectors Edwards and Wynn, following an investigation as to responsibility in the case. Charges against Capt. Edward Sullivan, pilot aboard the Welsh Prince, were held not sustained.

MUSCLE SHOALS PLAN OPPOSED

Ford Offer Denounced by House Republicans

Eight Members of Military Sign Report

Say Country Flooded With Wicked Propaganda

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Eight Republican members of the House Military Committee today signed a report, submitted to the House by Representative Kearns of Ohio, denouncing Henry Ford's offer to purchase and lease the government's project at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

Their action increased to four the number of reports emanating from the committee, and marked another division of opinion among the twenty-one members over the question of Muscle Shoals disposition.

The eight members were Representative Kearns, Ohio; Morin, Crago, and Ransley, Pennsylvania; Crowther, New York; Hill, Maryland; Parker, New Jersey, and Frothingham, Massachusetts.

COMPLETE REJECTION

None of the signatories to the new report was willing for Congress to accept the Ford offer, either as recommended recently by the so-called majority views presented by Acting Chairman McKenzie, or by those who indorsed the report written by Representative Wright, Democrat, Georgia, asking the acceptance of Mr. Ford's proposal unconditionally.

The third opinion, drafted by Representative Parker, Republican, New Jersey, and indorsed by Representative Foothingham, Republican, Massachusetts, both of whom signed the Kearns document today, was in effect merged with the new report.

The Kearns report stressed the importance of getting "to the country a clear, fair and unbiased statement of facts" concerning the Ford proposal, declared that "wicked" and "paid" propagandists were "scattering propaganda often void of truth," and attacked the Ford offer in a way that left none of its provisions free from hostile criticism.

SUMMARIZED COST

In another part, the report summarized the cost prices of the projects which Ford would purchase for $5,000,000. A total expenditure of $85,348,296 was claimed on the Waco inquiry, the Gorgas steam plant and nitrate plants Nos. 1 and 2, while the amount offered was held to be "wholly inadequate."

Among the other provisions of the Ford offer which were attacked by the report were those proposing a lease of the water-power projects for 100 years, that fixing the terms of the amortization plan for repaying the government for building dams two and three, that offering $55,000 annually to the government for maintenance and repair of dams, that providing for the manufacture of fertilizers during the 100-year lease and the failure of the Detroit manufacturer to agree to pay interest on the $17,000,000 already spent on the Wilson dam.

LONG EXPLANATIONS

Lengthy explanations of each of these features of the Ford offer were contained in the report which pointed out the belief that the taxpayers of the country would revolt if Congress accepted the offer, and voted appropriations totaling $50,000,000 to carry out its terms.

A tabulation of "the entire cost to the taxpayers of the United States of the Muscle Shoals project up to the present time," also was presented, showing a total of $167,163,296, including $14,320,000 for interest on new money required at dams two and three.

"Some say that Mr. Ford is honest," the report declared, "and that he has said he wants to make fertilizer and they are willing to take him at his word, whether it is a contract or not. What they say about Mr. Ford is not endowed with a perpetual life, although some members of the Military Affairs Committee would give him this water-power lease in perpetuity."

"Mr. Ford cannot live throughout any considerable part of the terms of this water-power leasehold, and when he is gone and all the men that he may have surrounding him will have passed away, we do not know in what unconscionable hands this plant will fall, and neither does any man who is living today."

His Record

"Horace Snapp is dead," related old Riley Rennidew. "He was railway station agent here in Petunia. He left no friends and no money worth mentioning, but instead an enviable record of thirty-nine years of faithful attention to his duties of telling the traveling public and all other anxious inquirers, 'Don't know!' in a surly tone of voice."—Kansas City Star.

SEALS HOLDING CONVENTION

Thousands of Sea Lions Make Annual Trip to the Santa Cruz Islands

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA CRUZ, June 20.—Several thousand sea lions are now holding their annual mating "convention" off San Miguel Island near here. Leaper seals, black seals, gray seals, even an Alaskan fur seal, may be seen basking in the sunshine on the rocks, each bull with a harem of perhaps a dozen cows. Observers say that the killer whales sometimes hang around the rocks to steal the young pups, the whale sticking his head out of the water and knocking the pup into his open jaws. The seals assemble here each year the latter part of May, and by July they all have disappeared.

What the $15,000,000 Underwriting Will Insure for the Palos Verdes Project

The underwriting of the first Fifteen Million Dollars of the Convertible Trust Indenture Notes of the Palos Verdes Project means the following result:

$5,000,000 for the purchase of the great estates, clear and free of incumbrance,
6,000,000 for the construction of the boulevards and streets,
1,800,000 for the construction of the sewer systems,
1,600,000 for the construction of the water systems,
600,000 for other application.

With the great estates clear and free of incumbrance, and the boulevards, streets, water and sewer systems in and paid for, nothing could prevent the Palos Verdes Estates from becoming the most beautiful and desirable residential city in America. The underwriting of the Convertible notes, however, did something else quite as important as the above. Since probably 90% of those who subscribed the Convertible Notes did so to secure their own home sites in Palos Verdes, it is estimated that approximately 20,000people, subscribers to the Convertible Notes, are now awaiting the earliest opportunity to build their own homes there. People make land values. If Los Angeles had no population, its real estate would be almost worthless.

The total issue of the Convertible Notes, subscription to which is now closed, if applied to the purchase of improved business and residential frontage, could not thereby absorb more than approximately one-fourth of the frontage that will be available.

The entire remaining improved frontage, together with all other assets of the trust, all incomes from any mineral and other resouces, and all trust funds belong, therefore, to those who subscribe the NON-convertible Notes.

An average sales price of the improved frontage that will belong to the NON-convertible Note subscribers, entirely aside from all other assets and incomes, of but $50 per front foot, 200 feet deep, would mean a return to the subscribers of the Non-Convertible Notes, of approximately 600%.

Twenty million dollars of Non-Convertible Notes are now being underwritten. The purpose of the funds derived from this Non-Convertible underwriting is estimated among other things to provide,—

$5,000,000 for loans on second deeds of trust to home builders,
4,000,000 for transportation facilities,
2,500,000 for hotels, clubs and business blocks,
1,000,000 for the university,
1,000,000 for ornamental planting of parks and boulevards,
3,000,000 for schools, public and civic buildings, etc.,
3,500,000 for other construction purposes and expenses.

Almost this entire investment, however, would be self-liquidating, the $9,000,000 Trust Funds for loans and transportation being nearly half the total.

In addition to being the equitable owners of approximately three-fourths of the entire residential and business frontage, fully improved, and clear and free of incumbrance, the Non-Convertible Notes will also represent the equitable ownership of all Trust Funds and assets, together with any mineral resources. The incomes to the Non-Convertible notes should, therefore, be very great and very quick.

The great estates, together with the city built upon them, will be held by the Trustee for the security and profit of the Non-Convertible Notes since the application of the Convertible Notes to the purchase of frontage at cost entirely eliminates and satisfied their interest.

A little bit of living—
A touch of something
Known as youth—
A day in Eldorado
Where the rainbow ends.

Ever since the world began, the greatest endowment of human happiness has been the HOME. To own one is still the ceaseless aspiration of those who seek things that endure. The longing for a home, like the longing for beautiful old masters—old treasures—old ideals—is a love for things that really count.

How many times have YOU wanted such a home?

And how many times have you pictured a trim, new motor car—your very own—standing in front of that home — inviting you to come along where friends have gone?

Without that home your hopes are still—just hopes. Without that car you're a million miles from nowhere.

Let's HAVE a home—a REAL HOME! Let's have a motor car! Let's enjoy that bit of living we've missed for years. Let's enter the Los Angeles Times big prize race, where $70,000 in prizes—a $16,500 Home in beautiful Wilshire Crest, or the $8000 Bungalow in West Hollywood Tract, with its sweeping view of rolling hills and distant snow-capped peaks—or one of the 20 splendid automobiles—the aristocrats of motordom — or one of the other beautiful prizes—all of them given Free.

That home will bring independence and happiness. An automobile—let's make it part of the family. For Mother — it brings the bloom of rose into fading cheeks. For Dad—it's a friendly pal, ready for work or play. For Young people — a vigorous, happy and reliable companion.

Yes! Let's have an automobile—free! Let's have a home—all our own! The Times will pay the bills. It's a race for men and women who dream and make dreams come true. All we have to do is get votes; we can get thousands of them by asking our friends to take The Times.

Every nomination sent in NOW will appear in the first list to be published in a few days. Let's GO!

Location of Prize Homes

The $16,500 home will be built on Lot 140, Wilshire Crest, fronting on Tremaine Ave., near Ninth, by Meyer & Holler (Milwaukee Building Co.) The architect, who is working on the plans, promises to complete them in a few days. Watch for their publication.

To reach Wilshire Crest, drive west on Wilshire Blvd. to a point just west of Los Angeles High School; or take West 11th St. car going south on Broadway, to Los Angeles High School, and walk west to Wilshire Blvd.

The $8000 Prize Bungalow has been designed by [illegible] Woodruff, the distinguished architect who created the Adobe Electric Home in Windsor Square. It will be built by the Western Construction Company on Lot 1, Block 3, West Hollywood Tract, for which The Martin T. Hilton Co. is the Selling Agent.

To reach West Hollywood Tract drive west on Santa Monica to Melrose, or take Red Car marked "Santa Monica via Hollywood," or "Fairfax Hollywood - Santa Monica Blvd." Leave car at Western.

there it is!

SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

FISH INDUSTRY IS THREATENED

Future Depends on Result of Conferences

Suspension of Licenses Hits Packers

Albacore Fishermen Demand Higher Prices

The future of Los Angeles Harbor's fishing industry depends on the outcome of conferences being held here this week between heads of the California Fish and Game Commission and representatives of packing plants at the port, commission heads announced last night. B. M. Scofield, chairman of the Commercial Fisheries Bureau, and Robert Duke, attorney for the commission, are here from Sacramento for the conferences.

The recent action of the Fish and Game Commission in suspending for ninety days the licenses of the seven largest packing concerns at the port for alleged excessive use of sardines for reduction purposes have necessitated the hearings, according to J. M. Rosen, in charge of the Commercial Fisheries Bureau at Los Angeles Harbor.

INTERESTS POOLED

The four largest plants—in the harbor district recently pooled their interests into what is known as the Van Camp Sea Foods Co., Inc., Mr. Rosen explained, and it was thought that by operating collectively the four plants would remove the license restrictions. Investigators from the Fish and Game Commission yesterday learned that the combination has not been incorporated under the laws of the State and therefore the individual firms are still prohibited from packing fish.

Unless the restrictions are removed within the next two weeks, say representatives of the packers, the packing as well as the market fishing industry of Los Angeles Harbor will be killed. This week's conferences are being held through the efforts of three independent concerns, the Toyo Fisheries, Ltd., the Stafford Packing Co., and the Coast Fishing Co., who declare that unless their licenses are restored when the Van Camp combine resumes operations they will be forced out of business.

PRICE CONTROVERSY

Interest in harbor fishing circles is this week centering on the price controversy between Japanese albacore fishermen and packers. The fishermen last week demanded a contract price of $75 a ton for their catch as against the packers' offer of $25 a ton. The fishermen late yesterday offered to begin operations at a price of $50 a ton for albacore but the canners' representatives refused to compromise. Settlement of the controversy hinges upon the outcome of this week's conferences between the Fish and Game Commission and packers, according to Mr. Rosen.

Goat Glands

As a Health Restorative

One of the most intriguing subjects today is the use of goat glands in the treatment of disease.

For several years there has been much work done in the transplantation of different animal glands, but those of the young healthy goat are preferred.

The most gratifying results have been obtained in apparently hopeless cases as well as in well known conditions, such as locomotor ataxia, chronic constipation of the aged, general debility, chronic rheumatism and allied diseases. However, it is impossible to discuss the scope of its benefits in a limited space, but E. E. Selleck, Ph.B., M.D., who is specializing in the nonoperative goat gland treatment, may be consulted at the Lankershim Hotel, Suite 418, mornings from 9 to 12:30, afternoons and evenings by appointment.—[Advertisement.

Yale-Harvard Start Service to San Diego

The Los Angeles-San Diego service of the steamers Harvard and Yale will be inaugurated tomorrow, when the Yale sails from Los Angeles Harbor at 3 p.m., arriving at San Diego at 8 p.m. The Yale will leave San Diego on the return trip on Friday morning, arriving at Los Angeles Harbor at 2 p.m. President McKee of the Board of Harbor Commissioners and other city officials, as well as General Manager R. J. Chandler of the steamship company, will journey on the Yale and will be greeted by San Diego officials on their arrival.

Collector Will Select Vessel for Harbor Use

Customs Collector Schwaebe will go to San Francisco tonight to make a selection of a boat to be used at San Pedro when vessels arrive at the local port that are to be boarded in the usual course of business, or for the purpose of seeing if the customs laws are being violated.

The department at Washington has a selection of five boats at Mare Island and one of the vessels with a speed of seventeen knots an hour has been recommended to the collector. The boat being used at San Pedro, is but little removed from a tub, and is not at all safe.

Two of the most important things in life are:

—the making of a Will.

—the appointment of an executor who will handle your estate with wisdom and economy.

We invite you to consult us regarding our facilities as Executor and Trustee.

PORT SEEKS TO GET RID OF VESSEL

Once Proud San Salvador Now is Blocking Dredging Operations at Harbor

Ships! More ships!

The cry of the Allies during the war continues, but it is now the cry of enterprising American ports. For ships and more of them bring business to the ports at which they call. Therefore, Los Angeles Harbor, already enjoying a tremendous shipping business, because of the facilities it offers to shippers, wants more ships.

But there is one vessel that the local port, known all over the world for its enterprise, wants to get rid of. It is the good ship San Salvador. Other ships come and go in the busy routine of freight carrying, but the San Salvador, lofty and phantom like, her once glistening white sides fading to a dirty gray, stays on forever.

There was a night in the history of Los Angeles Harbor, when the San Salvador, the flag of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo floating proudly at her masthead, came up the main channel amid the flare of skyrockets from the mighty battleship fleet at anchor in the outer harbor, and with searchlights along the route playing upon her proud bow the while thousands lined the wharves to cheer and welcome her.

But that was October 15, last, the night of the big Cabrillo celebration at the harbor. All is changed now and the San Salvador has outstayed her welcome.

The beautiful flags and bunting are gone, the beauteous maiden who reigned as queen of the celebration and rode in state on a throne on the vessel has returned to the more prosaic job of running a typewriter in the city water department.

The San Salvador now rests on the mud banks in the inner harbor, an unsightly and disintegrating hulk and a thorn in the side of the Harbor Commission. Dredging operations, being carried on in the interests of "Ships! More Ships!" are almost at a standstill because the San Salvador is in the way of the dredgers.

Appeals has been made to the Cabrillo Day celebration committee at the harbor to remove the hulk, but members of the committee are as puzzled as are the harbor commissioners, for they know not where to take the craft. Even resourceful Jimmie Carroll, admiral of the celebration, has told the commission he doesn't know what to do with the San Salvador.

It was suggested at a recent meeting of the Harbor Commission that the San Salvador be presented to the Rev. J. E. Lewis, colored pastor, whose craft "The Ark of the Living God," built by his own hands for a missionary voyage to Africa, was wrecked at her launching and which, later, mysteriously disappeared.

NEW SHIPS FOR PATROL OF COAST

Guard Service Announces Plan for More Effective Protection in Pacific

Heralding the new policy of the Coast Guard Service in establishing a more effective patrol and protection service on the Pacific Coast, the coast guard cutters Cahokia, Smith, Cygan and Vaughan arrived at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday from Baltimore. With her arrival here the Cahokia completed one of the most difficult towing feats ever attempted, towing the Smith, Cygan and Vaughan the entire 5000 miles from Baltimore without a single serious mishap.

Lieut. G. T. Finley, captain of the Cahokia and who is in command of the squadron arriving yesterday, announced that the cutter Tamaroa, a sister ship of the Cahokia, will be permanently stationed at Los Angeles Harbor. The Tamaroa, which last Sunday rescued the crew of the sinking freighter Bella in a storm off the Mexican coast, is now en route to this port in command of Lieut. W. K. Thompson.

The Cahokia will be stationed at Eureka, Lieut. Finley said, the Smith at Ketchikan, Alaska, while the Vaughan and Cygan will operate off the Southern California coast in co-operation with the Customs Service against smugglers. The Smith will be placed at the dry dock of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding & Drydock Corporation for the installation of a new tail shaft, recently lost in a squall.

Three Japanese Warships Will Arrive July 21

Three Japanese warships, the Iwate, Asama and Izumo, will arrive at Los Angeles Harbor on July 21, and remain until July 25, Mayor Cryer was informed yesterday in letters from Gov. Stephens, Secretary of State Hughes, and the Japanese Charge d'Affaires at Washington. The warships constitute the Japanese naval training squadron and have on board a large number of young midshipmen. After their Los Angeles visit, the vessels will proceed through the Panama Canal on their way to the South Seas. The Mayor will arrange with local Japanese and citizens' organizations for the entertainment of the visiting young naval officers, during their stay at Los Angeles.

CITY LEASES BUILDING AT LOCAL PORT

Accepts Government Offer for Four Rooms in New Immigrant Station

The controversy over the leasing to the Federal government by the city of the new $80,000 building the municipality built for an immigration station at Los Angeles Harbor was ended yesterday afternoon when the Board of Harbor Commissioners approved of the Immigration Department's offer to pay $330.40 for four rooms in the new building during the coming year, and if more space is required to pay for it at the rate of 40 cents a square foot up to a total of $4800.

It was the latter figure, representing 6 per cent interest on the city's expenditure for building the station, that the harbor board expected when construction was started. But when the station was completed the government declared that the local immigration officers only required four rooms in the station, and that payment would be made only for those four rooms. "It's just like handing the government a bouquet," said Commissioner Kibele, in moving that the government's proposal be accepted as there was nothing else to do but accept it. The station was built to encourage foreign passenger business at this port.

The government desires to occupy, after July 1, four offices on the first floor of the new building for the immigration inspector in charge, his assistant, stenographers, files and supply room.

It is expected that as foreign passenger business increases at this port, the Immigration Department will in time occupy the entire building, which includes dormitories for detained immigrants. The immigration officials declare the station to be one of the best appointed in the Federal service.

CITY-OWNED WAREHOUSE IS LEASED

Cotton Compress at Harbor Will be Taken Over by Private Concern

The municipal cotton compress and warehouse No. 1 at Los Angeles Harbor, will be operated after August 1 by the Union Terminal Warehouse Company under a revocable permit approved yesterday afternoon by the Board of Harbor Commissioners. The permit can be revoked on a year's notice to the company by the city.

The determination of the harbor board to lease the compress was reached because under municipal operation there was a constantly increasing loss each month to the city through operating costs.

Walter R. Seeley and Gerald Fitzgerald, owners of the Union Terminal Warehouse Company, appeared before the board yesterday and said that they will start at once to round up new cotton business for Los Angeles Harbor. They agreed to give cotton shippers service that will be second to none at any port in this country.

Under the agreement approved yesterday, the city will be protected from any loss from the operation of the warehouse, and the cotton compress and the company will pay all operating charges, the city to receive 50 per cent of the net profits.

PASSENGERS TAKE PART

Travelers on "Yale" Act in "A Fool There Was"

Los Angeles and San Francisco men and women, prominent in the commercial, professional, and social life of the two cities, will enjoy a new thrill in seeing themselves in the ship scenes of the new William Fox version of "A Fool There Was" now showing at the Mission Theater.

A number of the scenes were filmed on board the steamer "Yale," and passengers were permitted to appear in both deck and cabin scenes.

For more than a week Director Emmett J. Flynn shot scenes on the steamer. His work interferred in no way with the regular trips of the Yale, and that the passengers might enter into the spirit of the filming, if they wished, two young women from the Fox studio, experts in make-up, fixed the embryo screen players so that they would register.

One couple, a Los Angeles bride and groom, abandoned part of their honeymoon schedule to remain on the Yale during the making of the scenes, and the bride did so well that a minor role was finally intrusted to her. She acquitted herself so creditably that now she confesses to a yearning for a screen career—and her husband blames Director Flynn.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VICTORIA, June 20.—The first big shipment of tea from the Far East was brought across the Pacific by the Admiral liner Pine Tree state, Capt. M. M. Jensen, which docked here this morning from Hongkong, Manila and Yokohama. The tea, consignment comprised 900 tons and was shipped at Kaohung and Shimidan. Another important shipment on the liner was 2800 bales of raw silk and 65 packages of silk goods, valued at over $2,000,000. Other cargo included 24 carloads of China wood oil for Chicago and eastern points. Capt. Jensen reported a good passage, the ship crossing from Yokohama in 10 days, 9 hours.

VANCOUVER, June 20.—The Canadian Robert Dollar steamer Stanley Dollar, Capt. Parker, will be in tonight to load copper, pulp, shingles and lumber for new York. She will berth at the Great Northern dock.

The Canadian-Australasian Royal Mail Line freighter Waiotapu is due here about the end of the week. The ship will sail from San Francisco some time today.

The Canadian Pacific Steamship's liner Empress of Canada, Capt. A. J. Bailey, will arrive at quarantine at daybreak on Thursday and will be up early that afternoon.

ASTORIA, June 20.—The steamer Nebraskan arrived from Portland this morning and is loading 500,000 feet of spruce lumber for New York and 4000 cases of canned salmon at the Astoria terminals for Boston. She will sail tomorrow evening.

The steamer Artigas arrived from Portland during the night and after loading canned salmon at the port terminals sailed for Boston.

After discharging 800 tons of wood pulp here the British steamer Canadian Observer sailed this morning for Los Angeles.

Five members of the crew of the wrecked British steamer Welsh Prince left today by rail for New York en route to their homes in England. The departure of these men leaves but seven men of the crew of 40 now remaining here Capt. H. H. Hill and Chief Engineer Anderson.

While the $30,000 libel recently placed on the Japanese steamer Kaiyu Maru has not been released, an agreement was made today whereby the vessel was permitted to shift this evening from Westport to St. Helens, where she will take on lumber.

COOS BAY, June 20.—The steamer Santa Veronica, shipping lumber in this port for the McCormicks, broke her tail shaft last evening while moving from the port dock to the Smith electric dock. The steamer had her power on the trip and was towed to the dock by the tug Faudeen. It was not known what happened to the Veronica until today, when a diver inspected the vessel and found the shaft broken outside the hull. The break will require the craft being towed to a place where a new shaft can be installed and the wheel shifted. It is understood the Veronica will complete her loading here before leaving.

The gasoline schooner Osprey sailed for Bogue River this morning with general freight for Gold Beach merchants.

Sailing last night, the gas schooner Tramp had freight for the MacLeay store at Wedderburn.

The survey craft Lydonia went to sea this morning to resume work on the near-by coast.

ASSERTS STRIKE IS INEVITABLE

Union Leader Gives Views to the A. F. of L.

Government Ownership Not an Issue Now

Convention's Day Marked by Howat Clash

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CINCINNATI, June 20.—Government ownership and operation of the railroads will not be an issue in the threatened strike of 1,000,000 shop workers and others, spokesmen for the rail unions today told the American Federation of Labor convention, which responded to their request by withholding a reaffirmation of the federation's stand in favor of the adoption of such a policy.

STRIKE INEVITABLE

"The rail unions have not abandoned the program of public ownership or grown lukewarm or indifferent," declared William D. Johnston, president of the machinists' union, in explaining the request. "We ask declaration, however, because we have a most unfriendly and unsympathetic administration at this time and our enemies would say if the strike occurs in the very near future that the fight was for government ownership. I believe the strike is inevitable for there is no other way out, and we want the issue clear-cut. The issue is the amelioration of the wrongs committed by the Railroad Labor Board."

CLASH ON HOWAT

Early in the day the convention was marked by an oral clash between President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers and Joseph Lynal, Peoria Trades and Labor Council, when the latter sought to force consideration of a resolution congratulating Alexander Howat and August Dorchy, leaders of Kansas miners, for their stand against the Kansas Industrial Court. The trouble ended with the convention refusing to act on the resolution and its reference to the miners' union for consideration.

In addition to its big program of work, the convention was marked by the beginnig of a movement to run Mr. Lewis as a candidate for president of the federation in opposition to Samuel Gompers. Although Mr. Lewis declared he was "in no sense" a candidate, efforts were pushed in his behalf during the day.

FORD SUPPORTED

The convention quickly disposed of numerous resolutions. Observance of Lincoln's Birthday as a holiday throughout the world was favored by the convention. It also voted its approval of the government's acceptance of Henry Ford's offer to lease the Muscle Shoals waterpower project, declared in favor of a Saturday half holiday for all government workers and asked Gov. Stephens of California to grant unconditional pardons to Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings. The sentences imposed on Mooney and Billings for their alleged participation in bomb explosions a few years ago were declared by the resolution to have resulted from perjured testimony.

Resolutions aimed at the Ku Klux Klan, the State Militia and constabulary and private detective agencies whose operatives were said to act as strike breakers were adopted unanimously without discussion. In taking action on the Ku Klux Klan, the convention side-stepped a resolution terming the organization "detrimental to the best interests of the working people," and adopted in its stead a committee report that did not specifically mention the Klan. The committee report said the federation should not assume to indorse or condemn any organization unless its purpose was to interfere with the rights of wage earners.

LILLIAN RUSSELL WILL IS FILED

Trust Fund to Daughter, Balance of Property to Husband

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PITTSBURG, June 20.—The will of the late Mrs. Lillian Russell Moore was filed for probate today. It disposes of an estate of which no estimate is given by setting aside a trust fund for her daughter Dorothy, by a former marriage, and leaves the remainder, "real, personal and mixed," to her husband, Alexander P. Moore, absolutely.

NATIONAL MOTORISTS' ASSOCIATION FORMS

ORGANIZATION INTENDS TO DEVOTE ENERGIES TO PUBLIC SERVICE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 19. — Immediate relief from excess automobile taxes and from the growing traffic congestion in Chicago and other large cities, coupled with a national drive to speed construction of Uncle Sam's nation-wide system of highways and lateral traffic lines, are planks in the platform adopted today by the newly organized National Motorists' Association.

The new clan, representing half a million motor-car owners and drivers belonging to automobile clubs throughout the country, was launched at the organization meeting held at the Congress Hotel. Judge Walter D. Means of Cleveland was elected president, Richard H. Lee of Chicago, vice-president, and H. M. Lucius of Baltimore treasurer. The entire slate of "harmony" officers nominated with Jugo Means was elected by acclaim. Delegates and Chicago motorists attended a huge banquet tonight.

According to George H. Bird, president of the Illinois State Automobile Association, and a leader of the insurgents, 115 of the 200 A.A.A. delegates to the St. Louis convention make up the nucleus of the representatives who organized the N.M.A. today.

President Means, in a keynote speech, declared that there is room in the country for two national bodies, and that he is opposed to any proposed battle with the A.A.A. The N.M.A., he said, is formed with the sole object of rendering public service and is in no way an insurance body. Richard Kenneradil, veteran motor official, was among those elected to the board of governors for three years.

CAFE MAN ACCUSED OF BARRING SAILORS

CHARGES ARE FILED AGAINST "COFFEE DAN," PROPRIETOR, BY OFFICER.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—Lieut.-Commander Scott D. McCaughey, U.S.N., has filed charges before the Police Commission against "Coffee Dan's," a local cafe, and its proprietor, John Davis. The naval officer charges sailors in uniform were barred from the cafe on the night of June 16.

The officer complained that two special policemen were stationed outside the cafe and told all sailors who attempted to enter that there was no room. The complaint asks that the cafe's license be revoked.

At the same time Lieut.-Commander McCaughey said he had filed a report with Admiral Alexander S. Halstead, commander of the Twelfth Naval District, asking that Davis, who is a member of the San Francisco grand jury, be proceeded against under the Federal act prohibiting discrimination against uniformed men in the service.

BODY OF CHINESE GIRL IDENTIFIED

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, June 20.—The Chinese young woman whose body was found Sunday on the State highway north of Roseville, and who was believed to have been murdered, is that of Dolores Leong, San Francisco resident, who several weeks ago attempted suicide in Sacramento, it was declared by Dr. S. B. Thomas of this city, who viewed the body at Roseville last night.

Confirmation of the identification was expected to come from Lee Bower, young Chinese of Sacramento, who is said to have gone to San Francisco. Officers here believed it was a case of suicide and that the young woman's body was disposed of by local Chinese in an effort to avert scandal.

IRENE GRANSTEDT MADE DEFENDANT

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN JOSE, June 20.—A warrant charging assault with a deadly weapon was sworn out today against Irene Granstedt, 14-year-old Mountain View schoolgirl, in connection with the shooting of Hafold Galloway, 17 years old, a school-mate, by Miss Granstedt, after a quarrel two months ago. Young Galloway recovered after spending several weeks in a hospital.

The warrant was sworn out by C. J. Galloway, father of the boy.

Shaw Wallops Film Men for Honesty Lack

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, June 20.—George Bernard Shaw has been offered $100,000 a year for five years by an American syndicate to produce two motion-picture films each year. The author made this announcement himself at a dinner of the Society of Authors in London.

Declaring that the cinema rights of a single story might be worth $50,000, he urged young authors not to be too ready to give concessions to cinema producers or literary promoters, among whom, he said, there was, unfortunately, no absolute standard of honesty.

"A man who sells a table or a chair charges no more than the cost of the article plus a reasonable percentage of profit," he said, "but nothing of the kind applies to the publishing, theatrical or cinema business. The truth is the whole thing is a gamble, and producers who make perhaps one success in ten or twenty ventures want to make that success pay for all failures."

SPENCER CONVICTION UPHELD IN DECISION

MINISTER SERVING LIFE TERM FOR WIFE MURDER LUCKY

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, June 20.—Holding that the defendant should consider himself fortunate that he was not sentenced to pay the extreme penalty for murder, the Third District Court of Appeals today upheld the conviction of the Rev. John A. Spencer in the Superior Court of Lake county on a charge of drowning his wife in an arm of Clear Lake on the night of July 26, 1921.

The appeal was based on allegations that the evidence failed to establish the corpus delicti, or body of the crime; that hearsay evidence prejudicial to the defendant was admitted; that a demonstration was carried out by the prosecution during the trial to the detriment of the defendant's rights, and that the prosecution was allowed to impeach one of its own witnesses without first laying the foundation.

The Rev. Mr. Spencer is serving a life sentence at San Quentin penitentiary.

FRANCE DECORATES JOFFRE'S ESCORT

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, June 20. — Marshal Joffre, in the name of the French government, today decorated with the insignia of officer of the Legion of Honor Samuel Hill of Seattle, who escorted the marshal across the United States on his recent trip. Marshal Joffre alluded to the happiness which had been afforded him by his reception in America.

The ceremony took place in Marshal Joffre's headquarters at the War College in the presence of Mme. Joffre, Ambassador Herrick, the marshal's staff and a number of American residents and visitors.

SALEM (OR.) STREET CAR FARES RAISED

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SALEM (Or.) June 20.—Street car fares were increased from 5 to 6 cents in Salem and Eugene today. The increased tariffs were filed by the Southern Pacific Company some time ago, and there being no protest it was not incumbent upon the Public Service Commission to call a hearing, and the new rates automatically became effective.

Why? Because you get quality, satisfaction and service at no extra cost.

How Can We Do It? Here's How

1—The Rudin Factory while just a few minutes' ride from downtown, is just far enough out to escape the enormous rents.

2—Our display room, while neat and clean, is simple and inexpensive to maintain.

3—We Are Manufacturers and Sell Direct

4—and last of all, but not least, we specialize in upholstered and overstuffed living-room furniture ONLY and nothing else.

5—And this we manufacture ourselves and do not buy elsewhere.

Quality and low prices at the Rudin Shop are a logical consequence and not an advertising necessity.

In this sale we outbeat our previous low prices.

We Hit Rock Bottom

Whether you are in need of furniture now or will be six months later, it will pay you to come to the Rudin Factory this week.

A tremendously large selection of styles and covering (Art Denim, Damask, Tapestries, Velours, Mohairs and Frezo) that should prove beneficial and helpful to all to get the right thing at the right price. DAILY TRADE TALK

New Buying Power in Evidence; American Goods Wanted; Dynamite to Seek Glory Hole

BY CHAPIN HALL

New buying power is represented by orders from South American states and other foreign governments for the purchase of materials and merchandise in this country. These purchases are settled for, in many instances, with the proceeds of loans placed in the United States. In this way the Wells Fargo Nevada National bank says London drafts may before long again touch the par of exchange, about 4.8665.

Through the 10 per cent cut in freight rates the shipping public is expected to save about $250,000,000 a year from reduced delivery charges. The American Farm Bureau Federation estimates that the saving to the farmers alone will aggregate $127,000,000 a year. This, in addition to the previous cuts on farm products of $93,000,000 a year, will greatly relieve the farming situation and make it easier for producers to deal profitably with distant markets. With the new rates in effect next month, it is expected that a good deal of business will be released and the volume of freight traffic materially enlarged.

The unemployment situation continues to improve due to quickening trade activity. In certain sections of the automobile trade there has been an actual shortage of skilled workers, and there is no appreciable oversupply on the Pacific Coast. In Southern California the farms have absorbed a large part of the floating labor, and while wages are not as high as they were a year ago there appears to be work for those who are willing to take that which is offered.

Mailorder houses report an increasing volume of business which in turn reflects improved conditions in the farming communities whence comes a large percentage of the business of this branch of trade. Both wholesale and retail prices are fairly stabilized and few basic changes have recently been made. The hot spell which inaugurated the week has been a great stimulus to seasonal demand for clothing and summer appurtenances.

Present cotton indications are that the Imperial Valley will show an increase. The condition of the cotton crop is reported on June 1 to be 84 per cent of normal as compared with 75 per cent a year ago and a ten-year average of 90 per cent.

Practically all deciduous fruit crops show an increase over the 1921 crop.

Apples are 82 per cent as compared with 58 per cent a year ago.

Apricots 55 per cent against 45 per cent and a ten-year average of 62 per cent.

Peaches 98 per cent against 73 per cent and a ten-year average of 82 per cent.

Pears 80 per cent against 61 per cent and a ten-year average of 79 per cent.

The prune crop suffered from frosts in May, causing a heavy drop. The condition on June 1, however, was reported at 67 per cent of normal compared with 69 per cent last year and a ten-year average of 78 per cent.

AMERICAN GOODS WANTED

The large number of inquiries for foodstuffs, hides and leathers, iron and steel is the feature of the Department of Commerce's list of trade opportunities during the past week. Several requests come from various sources for agencies for American motor cars, and for a variety of other American products. Spain again heads the list of prospective actual purchasers of American commodities while Italy is more concerned in agencies. The complete list of requests is available at the Chamber of Commerce.

BIG BLOW OUT

Dick Wick Hall, the Czar of Salome, is about to write another chapter in the history of the famous Glory Hole. Hall's plan is to blow up the mountain, rake the nuggets into convenient piles, divide the spoil, and live happily ever afterward.

A ton of dynamite is to be exploded in the Glory Hole pit according to Mr. Hall, in the hope that the source of gold that drew the eye of the world to the Harcuvars a few years ago may be disclosed. The rock for many feet about will be shattered and there is a fascinating possibility at least that the trail of the yellow metal may then lie open.

Salome is a "wide spot in the desert," on the sand trail which leads from Parker to Phoenix. Besides the Glory Hole and Dick Wick Hall it has little call on fame, except through its name and its climatic prowess, but many still remember the sensational strike of Shorty Alger and two companions which started one of the most spectacular gold rushes in the history of mining.

They found a mass of gold which averaged $100 to the pound, and from a little pit fifteen feet deep several hundred thousand dollars worth of gold was dug in a few days. Then the ore disappeared, and has remained absent from that day to this in spite of elaborate efforts to relocate the vein which mining men said just must be somewhere because it was unthinkable that there should be just a little pocket of ultra high grade ore.

Hall, who controls the Hole for this year, recognizes the futility of diamond drilling. "We'll do it all at once," he said yesterday, and so it will fall out that before long a monster charge of high explosive will point the way to fortune or else be just a big noise.

In all probability no announcement of the date of the blast will be made in advance as that might bring a young army of gold seekers to the Glory Hole to help pick up the gold which some believe will be scattered around the landscape following the explosion. A syndicate is financing the unique prospecting, and it is said that no trouble was experienced in finding people with gambling instinct sufficiently developed to take a chance in the unusual scheme.

BUSINESS NEWS

California Oil Surplus Grows as That of East Declines; No Quiet Season Here

California's isolation from the other oil producing regions of the country is resulting in an unusual complication in the petroleum situation. Throughout the nation oil and gasoline stocks are steadily declining as the summer progresses. Early figures for May made public yesterday by the American Petroleum Institute show that the national total of gasoline in storage took a sharp decline during June. In contrast to these figures stands California's production record, which shows a constant increase over consumption each month. California is accumulating a large oil surplus while the East is reducing its oversupply.

The reasons for this situation are many. In the first place the great activity in the Southern California fields, Huntington Beach, Long Beach and Santa Fe Springs, is the direct cause for the increase in production. Much of the drilling that is being conducted in those newly-discovered fields is the result of the fulfillment of contractual obligations entered into as a result of wildcat competition. The large companies, in order to secure an evenness of supply over the next ten to fifteen years, have been forced to contract for large oil properties. Wildcat operators are able to offer the owners of the land immediate exploration and as a result the large concerns are also required to drill where ordinarily they would delay operations until market conditions return to normal. The increased production is shut in for this reason. Eventually it is expected that this regulation will relieve the present condition of rapidly filling storage and avoid a period of general suspension of production.

Not so important as the increasing production, but still a telling factor in the increasing surplus is the small consumption in the territory served by the California oil fields. The oil in this State is mostly of low gravity compared to the mid-continent fields and because of this low gasoline content there is a much greater need here for the successful marketing of fuel oil and residuum than there is in the East. Industrial depression naturally hurts the consumers of fuel oil more than it does the consumers of gasoline and with the unfavorable economic conditions still ruling in the shipping industry, the Northwest and other territories where California fuel oil is consumed, the prospects for an active market for oil residuum are not bright.

Despite the increase in the California surplus, local oil men do not expect any important change in the price situation. Prices will certainly not advance here, no matter how high they may go in the East. But on the other hand there is no immediate probability that prices will decline. G. M. Swindell, secretary of the Bureau of Mines and Oils, said yesterday, "a price cut would neither stimulate the lagging consumption, because that depends on deeper economic causes, nor discourage production, since most of the present drilling is forced drilling and would be conducted anyway." Under those circumstances, petroleum prices should hold to their present course for some time to come.

NEW BRAZILIAN BONDS

A new issue of $5,000,000 State of Santa Catherina, Brazil, twenty-five-year 8 per cent external sinking fund gold bonds was offered yesterday at 101, to yield 7.90 per cent, by an eastern syndicate, headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., the Second Ward Securities Company, and Cassatt & Co.

Santa Catherina is located in the rich table land of Southern Brazil and has a per capita indebtedness of only $15.50, as against $18 to $25 in other leading states in Brazil and South American countries. Part of the proceeds from the present financing will be used to purchase materials in the United States for government improvements in Santa Catherina.

LOS ANGELES SEASONS

That there is no such thing as a dull business season in Los Angeles is the belief of O. M. Souden, president of the United States National Bank. Yesterday Mr. Souden told of an interview he had recently with a Salt Lake banker visiting in this city. "When is your dull season?" asked the Salt Lake man. "When is your heaviest demand for money?" "It was impossible for me to answer either of these questions," said Mr. Souden. "In my experience, we have no noticeable seasonal variations here. Money is being constantly rotated from one crop and one industry to another. We have no harvest to take care of. Our money is getting action fifty-two weeks of the year." In proof of this statement Mr. Souden cites the phenomenal clearings record made last month and the large June totals. The summer season in most communities is a slack period but in Los Angeles it is showing signs of equaling, if not surpassing, the winter records.

BUY MONROVIA ISSUE

The Citizens' National Bank was the successful bidder at the sale of $40,000 Monrovia 5 per cent park bonds, due 1923 to 1962, with a premium of $1100, which is equivalent to an interest basis of 4.75 per cent. Other bidders at the sale were: William R. Staats Company, $1062; R. H. Moulton & Co., $668; First National Bank of Monrovia, $466, and the First Securities Company, $265.

BLACK RANGE

Extensive development work in the Black Range mine is expected following yesterday's announcement that a syndicate, headed by Senator E. J. Gates, O. A. Vickery and C. C. C. Tatum, has bought a large interest in the company. This group proposes to push diamond drilling operations, and open up the main ore body within three months time. It is intended to use the 500-foot shaft of the Nellie Mining Company, immediately adjacent to their property, to work through and drift into the Black Range vein. Such ore as is taken out in the development work will be shipped to the Tom Reed mill. H. E. Teeter & Co., retains a heavy financial interest in the mine.

OFFER SCHOOL BONDS

The William R. Staats Company is offering today $100,000 Burbank School District 5 per cent bonds and $30,000 Beverly Hills School District 5½ per cent bonds at prices to yield 4.50 per cent for all maturities. Both issues mature serially from 1923 to 1952.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET

On the San Francisco stock and bond exchange, North American Oil, Standard Oil of California and General Petroleum led the market, Engels Copper sold down to 127½, Considine Martin was weakly traded in at 205. Union Oil Associates was also weak at 176½. On the mining exchange, Simon Silver was active at 48. Consolidated Virginia held firm at 10 cents, notwithstanding announcement of assessment levied. West End Consolidated sold down to 102½ from 105.

GAS COMPANY ISSUE

The Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company has been authorized by the Railroad Commission to issue and sell at not less than 92 1-4, $5,000,000 series "E" twenty-five-year general and refunding mortgage 5½ per cent bonds. The issue will be redeemable June 1, 1932 at 107½. Bond, Goodwin & Tucker have purchased the issue and stated yesterday that a retail offering of the bonds will be made some time next week. So far no offering price has been set on the bonds.

Mexican Pete Sensation of Stock Market

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 20.—The process of squeezing the shorts in Mexican Petroleum stock was again the outstanding event of the stock exchange today. At one time the price marked a rise of 11¼ points for the day, on top of the preceding rise of 26½ points since Thursday. That the shares of this company available for delivery were to all intents cornered, and that speculators who had been unlucky and reckless enough to sell such a stock and borrow it for delivery had to pay whatever the leniency of the controlling powers allowed, was as evident as it had been the day before. That this sort of thing, whatever its actual ground or occasion, is in the long run a demoralizing influence, experience does not leave any doubt. Today, however, its effect on the general market seemed to be to create great nervousness among sellers of other stocks who had not covered.

A long series of 1 to 3-point advances was the consequence, the upward movement being most rapid, as was natural under the circumstances, in the highly speculative industrial shares. The market had no relation whatever to the news of the day or to the general situation, except in so far as speculation for the rise was facilitated by 2% and 3 per cent call money, with no immediate prospect for a change. Even the railway shares joined in today's movement, a number of them rising 1 to 2 points on generally light transactions.

In the bond market there occurred as usual of late, a number of fractional declines, but they were scattered and were offset by at least an equal number of advances, the prevalent tendency being toward steady prices. This part of the investment market is just now governed by several influences more or less conflicting, but in general making for reasonable maintenance of values. The very considerable amount of new bonds in process of distribution by underwriting bankers is offset by the recent decrease in the volume of weekly offerings by the progressive cheapening of money and by the approach of the traditional "July reinvestment period."

SHORTS GET DRUBBING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 20. — The shorts or bears in Mexican Petroleum shares received another severe drubbing on the stock exchange today, that stock making another net advance of 9½ points, or a total of 23¾ points since the close of last week.

Dealings in "Mex. Pete." were followed with interest by room traders in the hope that the movement would disclose something more tangible than a series of reprisals against certain professional operators, but nothing of a definite character developed.

Rumor associated the short interest in the stock with a group of traders in Pittsburg and Chicago, but there is reason to believe that many local operators have been caught in the recent remarkable advance. Today's transactions in Mexican Petroleum approximated 80,000 shares, and yesterday's dealings were equally large. Total sales in the last few weeks have far exceeded the actual floating supply of the stock, which accounts in part for the punishment inflicted upon the bears.

Backed by Dependable Ea

The Western States Gas & Electric Company is backing its bonds by an earning power regularly increasing year after year.

Not only have the net earnings increased, but the gain has been of a consistently regular amount every year. For example, the net earnings for the past nine years increased successively as follows:

1913	1914	1915	1916	1917	1918	1919	1920	1
7%	7%	9%	8%	8%	3%	20%	9%

In such a record you can read good management, a sound financial condition and a territory which has a steadily increasing demand for the products of this company.

For the nine years 1913 to 1921 the average annual net earnings of this company were approximately two times the annual interest charges on its total interest-bearing debt. It is this earning power that assures the safety of your principal and the certainty of your income when you invest in Western States Gas & Electric Company bonds. We recommend these bonds in the following maturities:

Western States Gas & Electric Company

Ten-Year 6% Gold Notes

These notes in the opinion of counsel, are a direct obligation of the company and are further secured under the First and Unified Mortgage by a direct mortgage on all properties of the company, subject to the lien of the First and Refunding mortgage.

These notes are exempt from Personal Property Taxes in California. They are due February 1, 1927, and priced at 96.50 and interest to yield 6.90%.

First and Unified Mortgage Bonds, 6%, Series "A"

These bonds in the opinion of counsel, will be secured by first mortgage on all properties of the El Dorado Power Co. Bonds are further secured by direct mortgage on all properties of the Western States Gas & Electric Co., subject only to the lien of the outstanding underlying closed mortgage bonds. Bonds are exempt from Personal Property Taxes in California. They mature March 1, 1947 and are priced today at 96 and interest to yield 6.35%.

"Ranking Ahead of First Mortgages"

In Idaho, the bonds of lawfully organized irrigation districts constitute first liens on all the land in the district, ranking ahead of first mortgages, including Federal Land Bank Loans. This is one of the strong safeguards surrounding the following issue:

Sunnyside Irrigation District (Idaho)

$333,500 6% Serial Gold Bonds (Non-Callable)

The famous Boise Valley, in which this district is located, has been settled for over 40 years. Irrigation has been successfully practiced for more than 10 years. The Sunnyside Irrigation District contains 6329 acres, of which 5980 acres are under cultivation. The cost of water to users is exceptionally low—being only $1.00 to $1.25 per acre per year. The bonds are exempt from Federal Income Taxes, and are non-callable prior to maturity.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 20.—Mexican Petroleum again was the star performer in today's active and strong market. It made an extreme advance of 11½ points with a net gain of 9½, or a total of 23 3-4 points above last week's final price. At times traders seemed to regard the extraordinary operations in "Mexican Pete" as something of a menace to the general market. Intimations of a "corner" were scouted, however, the opinion still prevailing that the movement was mainly leveled against an extensive short interest.

Other oils in the foreign and domestic groups registered gross advances of two to almost five points and the independent steels were equally strong with a sudden burst of activity at higher levels for United States Steel in the final hour.

Next to oils, Studebaker was the leading stock, its net gain of 6 5-8 points to the year's high record being associated with rumors of increased or extra dividends in the near future. Baldwin was foremost among the equipments on its gain of 4 3-8 points and the less prominent issues to show material advances included American Woolen, Tobacco Products, Mercantile Marine preferred, and Mallison.

Rails lagged until the latter part of the day when news of the declaration of the regular dividend on Great Northern caused hurried buying of that stock at a gain of 4 3-8 points. Northern Pacific advanced 2 3-4 points and several coalers and trunk lines, especially Reading and New Haven strengthened substantially. Sales totaled 1,050,000 shares.

Developments which accelerated the day's upward trend included a vigorous rebound in leading foreign exchanges, advices that the middle west steel and iron mills were running behind in deliveries and declaration of the initial dividends on Mariand oil.

The money market followed yesterday's course, save for the free supplies of 30 to 90 day funds. Call loans eased from 3 to 3 3-4 per cent at midday and private offerings of this character were reported at 2½ per cent.

The rally in international currencies carried sterling bills fully 5 cents above yesterday's lowest quotations, while recoveries of 15 to 22 points in reach, Italian and Belgian remittances more than effaced their losses of yesterday and last Saturday. With the exception of Swiss and Spanish rates, however, the improvement did not extend to neutral centers, Dutch and all Scandinavian rates adding to yesterday's setback.

MOODY'S RATING BOOK SERVICE PROTECTS

"Packed Like an Egg"

MOODY'S RATING BOOKS, in four large volumes, are packed like an egg with facts and figures on Railroad, Industrial, Public Utility and Government and Municipal securities.

More than 50,000 bond and stock issues are described, classified and rated, according to their quality and other characteristics.

Further, the volumes are supplemented throughout the year by monthly bulletins of new and revised ratings, monthly bulletins of current earnings, etc.

Thus, the Rating Book Service results as a clearing house of financial and investment facts and opinion, and as a sure guide to a safe and sane method of investment selection.

Ask your bank or banker about this Rating Book Service. He uses it, and would not be without it.

Raise Capital Quickly
Call or Write for FREE Copy of My Book
"How to Raise Large Capital"
If you need big capital quickly for oil, mining, industrial or any legitimate business, learn how one company sold OVER ONE MILLION SHARES; Another, ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND SHARES.

Everyone cannot succeed by this or any other method, but if you have a clean, straightforward proposition, you may hope to finance more quickly by this plan than by any other method I know of.

READ PROOF FROM DOZENS OF PLEASED CUSTOMERS WHO PRAISE MY SERVICE.

Extracts as follows from testimonial letters should prove that my plan satisfies.

Mr. Brahm writes as follows:
"Have always let our success have been greatly appreciated. You do what you say you will do and when you say you will do it."

Mr. Dunham writes and says:
"I consider your work for our company in the most convincing proof of your ability to be of service to those wishing to raise capital."

Remember—Newton got busy when he saw the apple fall.

Because of the wonderful letters from many satisfied clients who praise my plan for quickly getting large capital at small cost by the same method that is open to you if you want to finance some large enterprise or your own; a big stock or bond issue. Don't you agree me to help you if your offer is HONEST and LEGITIMATE and if it offers a square deal to investors.

Money is always available for the financing of meritorious business enterprises. If you reach the RIGHT people in the RIGHT WAY.

Getting It is a business unto itself and requires the services of an expert.

MY Plan gives that service—efficiently and economically.

CAPITAL

If you want capital for either small or large project, or for expansion, let me explain my method of securing local moneyed investors (without their services) for meritorious propositions.

Millions of dollars are pouring into Los Angeles. More active capital here than in any other part of the country.

My complete service includes the handling of new projects from organizing under State laws to completion of financing.

Get details of my method before you make any deal for either organizing or for financing your project.

I have many satisfied clients—my method is clean-cut and resultful. All communications confidential. For interview address XF, Box 471, Times Branch, or telephone 820-589.

WOULD YOU INVEST $200.00 OR MORE

If you knew you had a reasonable assurance that your yearly earnings on each $1000.00 would be equal to 6% on $135,000.00?

WOULD YOU? If you knew there was NO POSSIBILITY OF LOSS and that your profits begin to accrue from the very day your deed is issued?

INACTIVE DAY ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

Trading interest on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange showed a sharp decline yesterday and the volume of sales fell off noticeably. What activity there was centered in the mining group. The cheaper issues were on the downgrade while United Eastern continued its gains of the previous day and advanced 5 cents to $1.75. Gold Ore declined 1½ cents to 6, while Oatman Combination was ½ off to 4 cents. Oatman United and United American sold unchanged at 43 and 12 cents, respectively. Southern California Edison common was in fair demand and sold firm at 103½.

Following are the closing quotations and sales as posted yesterday in the Stock Exchange Building:

PROGRESSIVE—SAFE

VENTURA-TEX is my "oil baby" — it shall have a mother's care, it shall grow big. Years of observation and experience, which shall not go good—in minor oil speculation, in law, in finance, have led me to believe I shall succeed—that the time is ripe for me to succeed in oil in a big way, AND I AM SUCCEEDING—ALREADY BEYOND MY HOPES.

How To Make VENTURA-TEX a Well Rounded Success

This company must be sound, progressive and successful from the standpoint. My name, and reputation are pledged to it absolutely.

MY POLICY EMBODIES

A thoroughly aggressive drilling campaign on proven ground, DIRECTED BY EXPERTS.

The possibility of choice speculative properties, located in SUPERIOR OIL districts, gives promise of enhanced values from the development of these properties.

Dividends, from time to time, and as fast as is compatible with the best interests of new holdings—and where success seems certain—rapid development. UNIT-HOLDERS SHARE IN ALL APPRECIATION AND PROFITS AT NO EXTRA COST OR ASSESSMENT.

From a market standpoint Ventura-Tex units shall be as good as gold, so freely traded in, that they represent "cash on call" at all times and in any market. To this end VENTURA-TEX UNITS ARE NOT PLANNED FOR MURAL ORNAMENTS—BELIEVE ME—TRUST ME—FOR THAT

Our statements are backed by a strong treasury—with thousands of dollars in reserve—I have seen too many otherwise good propositions go on the rocks for want of funds at the critical moment.

THOSE WHO ARE BACKING ME WITH THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS—AND MORE TO FOLLOW, PLACE YOUR SUBSCRIPTIONS WITH ME DIRECT OR THROUGH BROKERS. 61 PAR VALUE UNITS MAY NOW BE HAD AT ONE-HALF PAR, OR 50c EACH

Subscriptions begin on or BEFORE June 25th next. There will be no more units sold by the company at 50c AFTER THIS DATE. Draw your own conclusions. Don't act on hasty, unconsidered statements of persons void of the imagination—use your own head.

IF YOU WOULD BE IN AT 50c, DON'T WAIT! THE OFFERINGS ARE IN STORE FOR YOU. IF PEOPLE IN THE MATTER OF OIL, SEE—WATCH AND SEE.

Information mailed promptly on receipt of postal request; call or phone at once.

Like An Interest In A Farm

Suppose you owned a half interest in a farm. That means you would get half the net returns from the sale of the crops. You cannot tell until harvest what that will be; you simply know your share will be 50 per cent.

Your participation in a Foster syndicate operation is exactly the same principle. You buy a definite percentage of all the oil that the syndicate receives from all its wells. You can tell no more tell how many barrels of oil there will be before the wells come in than you can tell how many bushels of wheat will be taken from a given field until after it is harvested.

Your percentage of the oil is definitely and immediately determined at the time you purchase your interest.

These offerings have been fully subscribed. We have present nothing for sale. Announcement of offerings will be made in due time.

DRY WEATHER IN THE NORTHWEST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, June 20.—Dry and hot weather reports came from the Canadian Northwest. There were unconfirmed rumors of black rust in spring wheat in the Red River Valley in the American Northwest. On an oversold market these reports led to an advance of 2¼ cents over yesterday's finish. The close was practically at the top. Corn gained ¾ to 1¼, oats ¼ to ¾ and rye 1¾ to 1¾ cents.

Houses with northwestern and eastern connections were persistent buyers of wheat. Winning showed more strength than Chicago. The deferred deliveries there were up 2¾. The Southwest also was firmer on the distant futures. Offerings were not large. While the local elements shotted a disposition to fight the advance at times they were forced to cover later.

Foreign crop reports were regarded as rather bullish. Liverpool surprised the trade by closing ¾d higher. Sterling exchange advanced sharply. A fair export business was put through at the seaboard. A better undertone and demand prevailed in the Southwest. There, prices for cash wheat were higher. Farmers are not disposed to sell freely to arrive at under $1 per bushel, although purchases on the bulge were reported as the largest so far this season. Harvesting is making rapid progress.

Expected rain failed to materialize over the corn and oats territory. Local traders turned bullish on corn after having been bearish during the previous day. Offerings were not large. It took little buying to advance coarse grains with December corn and July oats leading the upturn. Crop reports on oats remain poor and a general soaking rain is needed for both grains. Cash demand better with corn ¾ cent higher as compared with the July. Exporters took 200,000 bushels corn here with 50,000 bushels sold to go to store.

July and September rye sold at the same prices. Commission houses sold July wheat and bought July rye while another bought September rye and sold September wheat. The Northwest was a fair seller on the advance. Export trade was not large.

PROFIT TAKING HALTS ADVANCE IN COTTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 20.—At the outset there was further covering, Liverpool buying and support from the trade based on strong cables and the unsettled weather in the South. But heavy realizing was encountered on the way up; the usual professional taking of profits after a sharp upward movement. There was considerable absorbing power displayed and the early afternoon (trend was upward. The later market's tone was quiet, and steady.

Local market for spot cotton was steady, 5 points advance, 23.20 for middling upland.

Southern spot markets: Galveston, 23.40c, unchanged; New Orleans, 22.75c, unchanged; Savannah, 22.87c, 11 points advance; Augusta, 22.75c, 25 points decline; Memphis, 22.50c, 10 points advance; Little Rock, 22.25c, unchanged.

MINING NEWS

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS, Editor "Arizona Mining Journal"

COPPER SITUATION—Indication that the sellers of copper do not believe that a material increase in price is coming in the next couple of months is shown by the fact that, while May sales aggregated 210,000,000 pounds, much of this was for June and July delivery, with some August delivery. May was the record month for sales since March, 1920. Buying for June is reported to be holding up to the May average. Copper is firm at 14 cents.

RAY—Work has started in the Ray Hercules Mines, Inc., under the direction of T. A. Wilson. It will probably take six months to get the timbering in shape for production and some thirty timbermen are now working. During this time improvements are being made in other parts of the plant.

MIAMI—According to J. Parke Channing, the Miami Copper Company is making plans for "extensive expansions and additions." The nature of the changes has not been made public. The Miami Copper Company is now employing about 1300 men.

PRESCOTT—A deal of some importance has been recorded with the transfer of the property of the Jumbo Mining Company to the Arizona Triple Mountain Copper Corporation. The transfer includes the old Monarch mine. The consideration was $100,000. The miners are in the Picacho District.

WILLCOX—The electrical equipment that is being installed in the Central Copper Company will permit of almost doubling the force employed on that property as the electric equipment replaces air-driven equipment. About 120 men are now employed on development work.

EL PASO—Ten miles of the new Erupcion Railroad is completed and it is anticipated that the balance will be in by July 15. Shipping of 200 tons of lead ore daily is expected to start about August 1. This will increase the number of lead furnaces at the El Paso Smelter.

AJO—The strike made during the assessment work at the Copper Ridge Mining Company property has been responsible for the stockholders as voting to raise and expend $40,000 for development work. The strike is reported to show 103 in the shaft averaging 5 per cent copper ore.

MIAMI—There is a rumor prevalent that the miners' pay at Inspiration and Miami Copper will be increased 50 cents a day starting July 1. It is not believed to be authentic as costs and market conditions have not yet reached the point where wage increases may be expected.

SWANSEA—The work on the Swansea Lease, Inc., is to be started at once by the Southwest Metals Company. Both train and stage service to the camp has been resumed. G. M. Colvocoresses, manager of the Southwest Metals, recently visited the property to make plans for starting.

Church Alley Controversy is Settled

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PASADENA, June 20.—Work of clearing the site for the new First Methodist Church, at Los Robles avenue and Colorado street, began tonight, following an amicable settlement of the long-standing "church alley" controversy.

Don S. Porter, chairman of the Church Building Committee, announced an agreement had been signed for a "T" shaped alley which will not cross the church's property, but which will give access to the rear of business buildings adjoining. The church purchased a strip of land for $6500 to carry out the compromise.

Paul Ellison of 900 East Twenty-eighth street, Los Angeles, working on a new gas main on East Colorado street, had his right arm and several ribs broken in a peculiar accident today. An iron bar supporting a pipe that was being lowered into a trench, snapped in two, one of the pieces striking Ellison. He was taken to Sisters' Hospital, Los Angeles.

NO NEW LIGHT THROWN ON DEATH MYSTERY

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PASADENA, June 20.—No light was thrown today on how Don D. Byers, 35, of 76 North Sierra Bonita avenue came to his death, though an autopsy was performed late this afternoon by Dr. Wagner of the Coroner's staff, under the direction of Deputy Coroner McDonald. Dr. Wagner said an analysis of his organs would be necessary, and took these to a Los Angeles laboratory. Two or three days will be required for the analysis, he said.

Byers died yesterday morning, apparently from the effects of some poison, though two physicians worked all night to save him.

In the meantime preparations for Byers's funeral have been held up by the Coroner's orders and the police investigation still continues.

POTASH TARIFF FAVORED

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PASADENA, June 20.—The Pasadena Chamber of Commerce today adopted a resolution favoring a tariff duty on potash, declaring that domestic supplies in California and adjoining States ought to be developed, but that sufficient capital could not be attracted to the industry without tariff protection. New methods of manufacture, the resolution declared, have been developed which cheapen production and permit the recovery of soda ash and other valuable salts from the brine, and the industry should be encouraged.

Eight Men Captured in Point Lobos Raid

Steamer Escapes During Revolver Fight

Liquor Sent from Canada, Say Officers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MONTEREY, June 20.—Fifteen automobiles loaded with liquor and eight men in charge were captured by revenue officers near Point Lobos early today after a fight in which about 100 shots were fired. None of the revenue men was injured. The captured men are being taken to San Francisco.

The liquor was landed at Point Lobos from a small steamer, which had been hovering off the coast during the night. The steamer put out to sea immediately after landing her cargo. Revenue officers at San Francisco have been notified, and it is thought that a coast guard cutter will be sent in pursuit.

Point Lobos is close to the literary colony at Carmel, and, according to residents, has been a favorite landing place for liquor cargoes. Many boatloads of contraband liquor have been landed in the vicinity of Carmel Bay and Point Lobos.

The cars, loaded with liquor, were of all sizes and varieties. The eight men captured were drivers. The rest escaped in the darkness. It is not known whether any of them was wounded.

Most of the seized cars were of the expensive type, and some of them were new. The license plates remained on them, but the license cards had been removed from all but one. This bore the name S. Terry, 854 Stanford avenue, Oakland.

In order to reach Point Lobos the cars had to pass through a toll gate operated by A. M. Allen, owner of the point. The cars were grouped on Allen's abalone wharf for the most part during the period that liquor was being transferred to them, according to the authorities. The small boats drew up alongside this wharf and the whisky cases were lifted quickly and quietly into the waiting machines.

Allen was said to have been absent from the port during the whole period of the seizure and the events leading up to it.

In addition to the cars, two trucks were seized, one of them containing 200 cases of liquor. After a cursory examination by the authorities, the cars were lined up and started for San Francisco with prohibition agents at their wheels. The estimated automobile time between Monterey and San Francisco is five hours.

CLIMAX TO PLOT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—The liquor seizure at Monterey today marked the climax of a plot to unload two liquor laden ships from Vancouver, B. C., at obscure California points, S. F. Rutter, Federal prohibition director for California, said in a statement on the seizure:

GENUINE RYE AD LEADS TO ARREST

TWO YOUTH HELD IN CHICAGO BY POSTAL INSPECTORS

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 20.—Two young men, one said to be the son of a minister, were arrested by postal inspectors yesterday on a charge of using the mails to defraud. The two, Milton Lewis and Will Thornton Gilman, were said to have sent out 5000 copies of a letter offering to sell "genuine Canadian rye at $8 the quart—a rare bargain." Prospective customers were told to send the money by return mail and the rye would be delivered within six days.

When questioned, they explained that although it was genuine Canadian rye that they had promised to deliver, it was not in the liquid form. They told postal inspectors that they intended to purchase a quantity of the rye grain, bottle it and send it to the customers.

BOY SCOUTS RESCUE TWO FROM DROWNING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, June 20.—Two Boy Scouts demonstrated their knowledge of first aid and life saving in a pair of thrilling rescues at Newport Beach Sunday.

Charles Ehrhorn, 13 years old, son of C. H. Ehrhorn of Santa Ana, saved a 4-year-old boy from drowning when a boat in which the child was playing capsized.

The Boy Scout was attracted to the scene of the accident by the cries of the child's mother and quickly swam to its rescue, reaching it as it was sinking for the third time. First-aid treatment as taught by the scout training was applied by the lad and the little child was resuscitated before the arrival of a pulmotor, which was rushed to the scene.

Delany Wilson, another Boy Scout, rescued a little girl from the waters of Newport Harbor after she had fallen from a raft that had slipped its moorings.

Berkeley Wants Beauty

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BERKELEY, June 20.—"Inartistic and ugly" automobile service stations will not be tolerated in Berkeley, according to a ruling of the city council followin- the application of an oil company for two stations here. Residents protested against the application, saying that the company's stations resembled "exaggerated dog houses."

The following young women danced: Alice Morrow, Dorothy Heineman, Lorraine Knapp, Margaret Walker, Virginia Bottenberg, Marjorie Stoddard, Catherine McBryan, Mariam Rittner, Elizabeth Haviland, Gene Fowler, Martha Van Aucken, Mary Louise Luce, Margaret Moyer, Dora Gerrard, Edna Cannon, Thelma Bradford, Marian Miley, Elizabeth Mays, Charolitte McLaughlin and Gladys Baumgartner.

STATE INVESTIGATES ASSERTED OIL BUBBLE

LONG BEACH REALTORS ARE ACCUSED BY CIVIL WAR VETERAN

History of an asserted oil bubble was related yesterday at the investigation before Commissioner Edwin T. Keiser, of the State Realty Board, of the sales methods of the firm of C. O. Jaggers, realtors, doing business at 32 American avenue, Long Beach.

The hearing is the outcome of a complaint filed with the commission by Charles H. Chappell of 486 Colorado Avenue, Long Beach, in which Chappell asks the revocation of the license of the Jaggers company. The complainant, a veteran of the Civil War and almost 75 years of age, states that, at the solicitation of salesmen of the Jaggers firm, he put his savings of a lifetime, amounting to $4000 into lots, supposedly oil bearing, located at Winterburg, near Huntington Beach. He was told, Chappell says, that the land he purchased was already leased to the Union Oil Company and that the latter would commence active development in April last.

It was stated, there are no producing oil wells within a half mile of the land in question, while no lease has ever been contemplated by the Union Oil Company. A derrick, it developed, was erected with funds provided by the Jaggers interests.

The case will be continued today in room 810, Pacific Finance Building.

OTIS ART INSTITUTE TO STAGE EXHIBITION

An art exhibition is being given at Exposition Park by the Otis Art Institute, under the supervision of E. Roscoe Shrader, acting managing director of the art school. The showing, which will be open to the public for the next two weeks, will have exhibits on woodcarving, sculpture, interior decoration, painting, design, jewelry designing, posters and life and costume work. The display is the fourth annual exhibition of the students' work at the local institution.

CAPPER PUBLISHES ATTACK ON WEEKS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) June 20.—Senator Capper of Kansas in a special dispatch received here tonight, declared that Secretary of War Weeks is out of tune with the Harding administration and that if he does not resign, his resignation might very properly be requested by the President.

EVER READY

Automatic Water Heater

Heats the water as you use it.

The most economical heater on the market today — only one burner — no heat wasted — uses one-third less gas — every bit of gas used heats water and only heats water as you use it.

No coils to lime up — no condensation — takes up very little space — finished in ivory enamel.

The Ever Ready was made to meet local conditions and to cut down the excessive cost of hot water for the home.

PROMINENT EVANGELIST DIES IN EAST

Long Illness is Fatal to Former Pastor of First Baptist Church Here

Rev. John Quincy Adams Henry, D.D., formerly pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city, and an internationally known orator and evangelist, died at his home in Philadelphia Monday night after an illness of several months' duration, according to a wire received here yesterday.

Dr. Henry had the distinction of having occupied the pulpits of many of the leading Baptist churches of this country, and of having preached on every continent except Africa.

Dr. Henry came to Los Angeles in 1907 to take the pulpit of the First Baptist Church after six years of evangelism in the British Isles as the representative of the Federated Protestant Churches of Great Britain. He undercook the first of two extended evangelistic campaigns in Australia in 1910, and after his return to this country was engaged in evangelistic work in the East until stricken by his fatal illness.

Dr. Henry leaves a widow, Mrs. Carrie A. Henry of Philadelphia, and two children, Mrs. Robert MacGowan of Pittsburg and William M. Henry of this city. The body will be brought here for burial in the family plot at Inglewood. Arrangements for the services have not yet been completed.

PRIZE CAMPAIGN TAKES SOUTHLAND BY STORM

"Times" $70,000 Offer Sweeps Over City and Surrounding Country Like a Whirlwind

It's getting to be a whirlwind.

The Times' unprecedented $70,000 prize campaign is taking Los Angeles and the surrounding country by storm.

From the districts outside of Los Angeles interest in the forthcoming distribution of many valuable prizes—a $16,500 home in Wilshire Crest and an $8000 bungalow in West Hollywood tract, twenty splendid automobiles, diamond rings, talking machines and gold watches—is especially keen.

Energetic men and women throughout Southern California and the adjoining States of Arizona and Nevada are realizing that they have just as good a chance to share in the record-breaking awards as have the candidates living within the boundaries of Los Angeles.

METHOD OF DISTRIBUTION

The method of prize distribution is also proving most attractive to entrants, and prospective entrants in the outside divisions, for after the first prizes and the eight grand prizes have been awarded, each of the three divisions has a prize list of automobiles all to itself, to say nothing of diamond rings, talking machines and gold watches. In other words candidates in the outside divisions and districts have a chance to win the $16,500 Wilshire Crest home, the $8000 West Hollywood tract bungalow, and twelve chances to win an automobile—precisely the same opportunity that confronts the candidates in the city division.

Who knows whether that fine big $4200 Lincoln will soon be skimming over the boulevards, or whizzing down the city streets with a Southern California, an Arizona or a Nevada candidate at the wheel? Or will it be the proud possession of an Angeleno? Who can tell who will sit at the wheel of that silky Marmon as it softly purrs its way up over the ridge, or round by the Annandale Country Club? There are eight grand prize cars and two wonderful homes that will become the property of the candidate holding the eight highest number of votes when the campaign ends a few weeks hence. Who these candidates are, or where they live, no human being can predict. These ten biggest prizes may be won all in one division, or their winners may be scattered through the three divisions. That remains to be seen, but four cars must be won in each division, after the first

SAY TOTEM POLES ARE CRUSADERS

Antisaloon League Plot Against Englishmen's Beer Scented by Voyagers

Two hundred fifty totem poles, en route from Alaska to England, will arrive in Los Angeles Harbor Saturday aboard the Isthmian Line freighter Howick. The poles were purchased for the ostensible purpose of decorating Manchester's parks and boulevards.

Among the voyaging totems, however, word has passed around that they're to be used for an ulterior purpose.

"I understand the Anti-Saloon League was behind our purchase," declared Who-How-Come just before the Howick sailed from Seattle. How-Who-Come is an extremely handsome red and black totem, carved in the image of the goofus bird, the hook-billed jubeater and the Siwash cottie-snake.

"You see," Who-How-Come added, "a traveler from Manchester came upon me up in Alaska when I was substituting for a barber pole that was away on vacation. There was a saloon next door, and the Manchestrian had been staking a claim to a section of the mahogany. When he came out, accompanied by a flock of hiccoughs, he spotted me.

"'Holy rickey!' he exclaimed. 'It's worse than a pink elephant. I'm through!'

"Since that time," Who-How-Come concluded with a sigh, "this fellow has been a leading member of the prohibition party. I'm morally certain he's the guy that arranged this trip."

Most of the 250 totems are disconsolate over their emigration, according to the captain of the Howick. Some of them are afraid of the English fog — especially Gee-Gosh-Kiddo, who is carved to represent the long-necked wampus and who is susceptible to sore throat. Several of the totems have been seasick.

INTERESTING PICTURE OF TOTEM POLE LOOMING UP IN MANCHESTER FOG

"It's a terrible thing when one of these bozos gets seasick," said the captain, "because every totem has at least five faces. With a mouth to every face," he added sadly.

WOOLWINE NOTE QUIZ REQUESTED

Anticrime Body Demands Grand Jury Fix Blame for Disappearance of Letter

The unexplained disappearance of the Civil Service Commission's report to the grand jury in regard to the Jones-Woolwine controversy has aroused the anger of the Citizens' Anti-crime Committee. In a communication addressed to the grand jury yesterday the committee asks an investigation of the matter in order to establish the blame and insure the non-repetition of such a disappearance.

"Why was the grand jury mail box allowed to go unopened for two full weeks from the 2nd to the 16th inst.?" the communication asks.

"Why was the foreman or the secretary of the grand jury not given knowledge that all communications intended for that body would be placed in the mail box provided? Why was the key to this box not given immediately to the secretary or foreman, but on the contrary was retained by the secretary to the district attorney?"

The Citizens' Anti-crime Committee declared through its president, Mrs. Dora A. Stearns, that it intends to get at the bottom of the "purloined letter" mystery. The letter had reference to the charges of Miss Ida Wright Jones that she was dismissed from Dist.-Atty. Woolwine's employ after he had intimate relations with her.

TRAVELERS AID SEEKS FUNDS

With the intention of establishing a permanent representative at points where travelers arrive, the recently formed Travelers Aid Society of Los Angeles is carrying on a membership campaign to raise necessary funds. BABY ELEPHANT RIOTS IN PARK

Two Policemen Seeking for Disturbing Beast

Cosmos Bushes, Finest Roses Trampled and Eaten

Shotguns Taken Along When Posse Fares Forth

As we go to press a baby elephant is strolling about in Elysian Park, looking for his mama.

Sergt. Pittman and Patrolman Level of the Lincoln Park Station also are strolling about, looking for the baby elephant.

Neither policeman knows exactly what he will do when the young feller is located, but the officers have been instructed to confiscate his trunk and then apply the handcuffs.

It was about 8:30 p.m. that a frantic feminine voice registered upon the eardrums of Operator France at the Central Station with news of the straying pachaderm.

"There's an elephant disturbing the peace in my yard up here on Lookout Drive," she shrieked. "He's already eaten up all the pink cosmos and now he's putting my finest roses in his trunk. Please hurry and——"

Operator Franco sought to preserve a philosophic calm.

"You say it's an elephant?" he asked evenly. "What sort of elephant, madam?"

"Why—a baby elephant."

"Baby! Ah, that's a matter for the Juvenile Department." Just a moment and I'll connect you."

The next instant Patrolman O'Brien was listening to the woman's plaint. He immediately relayed the information to Lincoln Heights and the intrepid officers aforesaid prepared to retrieve the wandering infant. As they were about to depart a second and a third call, sent out by other residents of Lookout Drive, appraised them that the elephant, satiated with Flora, had entered Elysian Park.

"Perhaps we better take a baby carriage," suggested Pittman, scratching his head. On the suggestion of the desk sergeant, they amended the "perhaps" in favor of shotguns.

The elephant hunt was prosecuted with vigor. Darting through the darksome park, the officers flashed their lights under every bench and bramble bush. Every once in a while, Patrolman Level paused to give a loud grunt.

"What's that for?" demanded the sergeant.

"I'm trying to make a noise like a mother elephant, calling her brat," was the reply.

At 11 p.m., Pittman called the station to report that no trace of the young pachyderm had been found. He wanted a relief officer sent out with a bag of peanuts to act as bait.

"Hope Springs Eternal"---and Here is Proof

To protect their rights in case the nation should again become "wet," ninety-one former holders of liquor-selling permits in Los Angeles yesterday filed their usual formal applications for renewal of their permits with the Board of Police Commissioners. Of the applicants, thirty-two asked for renewals of their wholesale liquor establishment permits, and fifty-nine were restaurant owners, who sold liquor in their cafes before the days of the Eighteenth Amendment, and who desire to do so again if prohibition should cease to be. As is its annual custom when the applications are filed, the police commission laid the applications away in the files without taking any action on them. As the Gandier ordinance put the Los Angeles saloons out of business before Mr. Volstead became famous, none of the applicants asked for permits to dispense liquor over bars.

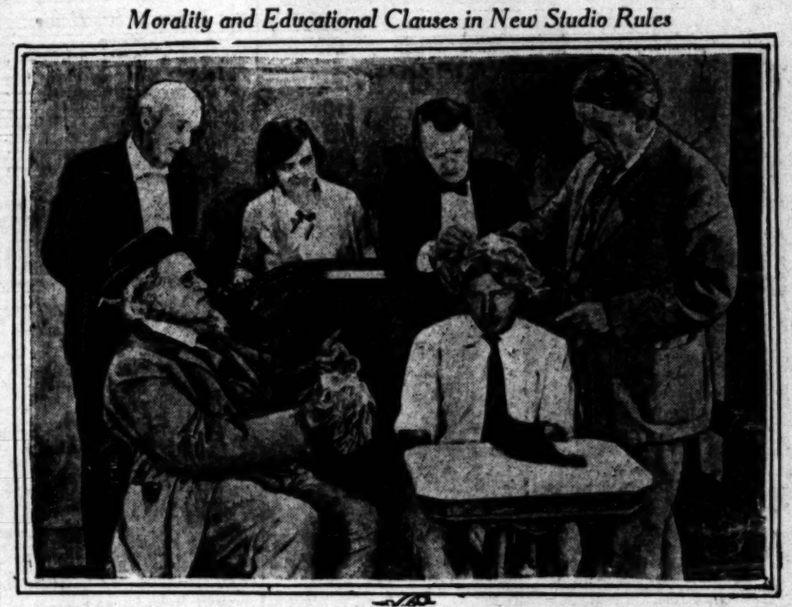
Morality and Educational Clauses in New Studio Rules



Here's Lesson in Art of Make-up

"MEMBERS of the Paramount Stock Company are expected to avoid places, circumstances and conduct which might in any way bring themselves and the motion-picture profession into disrepute. Any member failing strictly to observe this rule is liable to instant dismissal from the company."

This was the ultimatum delivered by the Famous Players-Lasky Company to the members of its organization yesterday in an announcement of rules and regulations for the studio stock company, signed by Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of the corporation. The rules and regulations are drastic and will affect every body employed by the Lasky organization.

In addition to the rules there is to be a school for the picture players, which will have elaborate courses designed to make them acquainted with all details of picture making. The school idea is even to be carried out to the extent of citing the times a pupil is tardy for classes or on the set. The girls and boys will simply have to be good. That's all.

Following is a portion of the visiting card:

Times Tardy on Set.....
Times Tardy at Classes .....

RULES GOVERN CONDUCT

Most important are the rules governing the conduct of the actor in general, being equivalent to the "morality clause" in picture contracts drawn up recently at certain studios. The rules are as follows:

"The basis of all good work is good health. Therefore, members of the Paramount stock company should guard their health as their most precious asset and avoid any conduct or circumstances that will put their health in peril. Proper exercise, sufficient sleep, fresh air, proper diet—all these are essentials to good health. Avoid alcoholic stimulants and late hours.

"Any member of the Paramount Stock Company who fails to maintain 75 per cent standing in class attendance and general deportment is liable to expulsion from the company.

"Bursts of so-called temperament in the studio will not be tolerated;

NEW BRANCH BANKS WILL BE ERECTED

Security Trust Buys Two More Sites; Contracts to be Let for Four Shortly

The Security Trust and Savings Bank will shortly have under way two bank buildings in the Western-avenue district, one at Sixth street and Oxford avenue and the other at Western avenue and Santa Monica Boulevard.

Announcement was made yesterday of the purchase by the bank of the northwest corner of Sixth and Oxford, 65x123 feet, from Frank B. Veasey for $26,000. While the new building is under way, a local branch will be established in the store room at 3878 West Sixth street, across the street. The new branch will be open for business July 1.

The lot at Western and Santa Monica which is 150 feet on Santa Monica and 70 feet on Western, was bought from James C. D. Canne of Hollywood for $70,000. There is now a drug store on the corner. The bank had previously bought the corner of Western and Sierra Vista, a block south, which it has sold to Gusta Kornblum.

Four new buildings for the bank's branches, all of substantially the same design and external appearance will be under way at about the same time. Plans are ready to let contracts for the bank's buildings at Santa Barbara and Vermont avenues, and Pico and Alvarado streets, for which sites were bought some weeks ago.

All four buildings wil lbe from plans by John Parkinson and Donald B. Parkinson. They will be two stories high, class-C construction, with exteriors of brick, tile and terra cotta. The branch banks will occupy the corners, and the rooms upstairs will be either offices or apartments.

"SPLASH PARTIES"

"Splash parties" will take place this afternoon and evening in the swimming pool at the new Y.W.C.A. Building. Girls from the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company will gather there at 5 p.m., while tonight nurses from several hospitals are to engage in festive splashing.

RADIO, SEAPLANE AND AUTO USED TO SAVE BOY'S LIFE

Rushing through a heavy fog from Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, to San Pedro with James Rowley, 5 years of age, who had been seriously injured in an automobile accident yesterday, Pilot Paul G. Haaren and Dr. E. L. Chapman, Avalon physician, took extreme chances in an effort to get the child to a hospital where expert attention could be provided. The accident occurred after the steamer Avalon had left the island. The only means which remained for transporting the boy was by flying boat. Despite the great risk, the pilot, the physician and the child's mother, Mrs. Clarence Rowley, made the trip in record time. All of the way from the island to the airway company's landing port near the immigration station in the outer harbor the boy was held in the arms of Dr. Chapman.

In the meantime Avalon authorities had communicated with the San Pedro police and an ambulance with Officers Dunphy and Klade in charge awaited the arrival of the seaplane. The boy was then rushed to the Seaside Hospital in Long Beach. At the latter place Dr. E. W. Lippiefield, well-known Los Angeles head specialist, was awaiting the arrival of the ambulance. He had been called to Long Beach by radio. He made the trip to the beach city while the seaplane was coming across the channel. The drive which Dr. Lippiefield made is considered to be another remarkable feature of the battle for the boy's life.

The accident occurred when James Rowley and his brother John, 8 years of age, were sitting in a grocery truck on Metropole street in Avalon. In some unknown manner the brakes on the truck became loosened and the truck backed down a 300-foot embankment. James fell under the truck when it came to a stop at the bottom of the hill. His skull was fractured and he received internal injuries, besides numerous cuts and contusions. John escaped uninjured.

Late last night the boy was reported to be in a very serious condition by officials of the Seaside Hospital.

James Rowley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rowley. Mr. Rowley is the City Engineer of Avalon.

NOTED VISITOR IS SURPRISED

Jacob Kesner, Chicago's Merchant Prince, Here

Believes Los Angeles Will be Nation's Third

Has Constructed Three Large Skyscrapers Himself

Jacob Kesner, who advanced from cash boy to general manager of one of Chicago's greatest department stores and who retired with a fortune at the age of 44 years, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday on the first leg of a three months' vacation.

Mr. Kesner retired as general manager of The Fair in 1910. Since then he has erected three of Chicago's biggest buildings, one seventeen stories, another eighteen stories and the third is twenty-one stories high.

His last visit to Los Angeles was in 1915. Upon his arrival here yesterday this city's phenomenal seven years' growth dazzled him.

"If Los Angeles keeps on at the speed the city is growing now, within a few years it will be the third or fourth largest city in the United States," he said at the Ambassador.

Mr. Kesner's only opportunity to observe was during his automobile ride to the hotel, but he saw many things on that short trip. The new and numerous buildings interested him mostly.

HAS GREAT FUTURE

"I observed that Los Angeles has a marvelous future. Buildings are the greatest evidence of a city's growth. Buildings will continue to rise here—beautiful buildings, immense office buildings, wonderful department stores.

"I don't mean that a twenty-story building should be built on every lot. Where the district warrants it, a one-story building is a sign of progress. But the higher they are, the better it is for the city."

Mr. Kesner started his business career as "cash boy No. 7." He attributes his success to sticking to one firm and growing up with it. He advises the same for all ambitious young business men.

To the youth, who desires success and wealth, he offers the following business maxims:

"Save one-fourth of what you earn, no matter how small or how large your salary is.

"There are just as many good opportunities now as there ever were for bright boys and young men who are not afraid of work.

"There is not a business house that does not want bright young men who are willing to work up from the bottom.

"No man can make money unless he saves it, no matter how large his income may be.

"There is no better field of business for the youth than the department store. He has every pos-

NEW WITNESSES ARE PROMISED

Prosecutor's Statement in the Obenchain Case

Courtroom is Regaining Old-Time Tension

Evidence May Relate to Conspiracy

The weary humdrum of Madalynne Obenchain's second trial for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy was banished yesterday when Dep. Dist. Atty. Keyes announced that two new witnesses for the State will be placed upon the stand this week.

What they will tell the jury in the effort to secure Mrs. Obenchain's conviction and a possible death verdict was not disclosed by the prosecutor. He is following a policy of silent secrecy, and as a result the atmosphere of the courtroom is regaining its old-time tension.

The identity of the new witnesses will not be divulged until they are summoned to the stand. It is believed that their testimony will have to do with the asserted conspiracy of Madalynne and Arthur C. Burch to murder Kennedy.

JURY INTERESTED

Yesterday the attention of the jury was centered for hours upon the statement given by Mrs. Obenchain a short time after the slaying, when she was taken into custody as a material witness.

The statement was made to Mr. Keyes and during Madalynne's last trial while she was on the stand in her own behalf, she denied all knowledge of it. During the reading yesterday, the jury paid close attention to every word, and the defendant leaned forward in her chair, absorbed in the narrative.

The witnesses of the day testified to Mrs. Obenchain's psychic inclination. One was Mrs. R. B. Whitlow, negro soothsayer, who, she declared, was "born with the gift to read." The other was William L. Iserloh, superpsychologist, mental healer, medium, and as he himself said: "Exponent of all forms of the great movement."

TELL OF VISITS

Both told of Mrs. Obenchain's visits to them and of her questions concerning her marriage to Kennedy.

Mrs. John Childs of Evanston told of Mrs. Obenchain's life in that place. The testimony of R. H. Johnson, deputy Sheriff, was read and R. G. Kirkman and Frank Lienhart took the stand for the State.

This morning the jury will be taken to Beverly Glen, where they will view the scene of the murder. They will not go to Santa Monica Canyon, however, as all reference to it has been ruled out.

THEY'LL GO TO SCHOOL, BEHAVE

we are all grown men and women and our actions should be governed by sanity and common courtesy."

SHOULD BROADEN VIEWS

These are the principal items. It is also set forth that the accepting of gifts or gratuities by anybody conected with the studio is strictly forbidden. Members are to be careful in the choice of their associates outside the studio. They are further advised to broaden their viewpoint, by reading good books, a good newspaper and keeping abreast of developments in politics, literature, economics and art.

In the concluding paragraph of rules, it is stated:

"The motion-picture, because of its great distribution, gives you popularity, wealth and a great career. But by virtue of this very distribution it also brings you enormous responsibilities. You must accept these responsibilities. The motion-picture has made you an intimate friend of countless people whom you will never see. You are their friend nevertheless and it must be your constant care never to do anything or say anything that will betray the confidences these millions of motion-picture lovers have placed in you."

If KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Advertisement

It's Sure Enough Sob-Sister Stuff

Mrs. Mildred MacWilliams and Virginia,
Who was abandoned, but quickly found a home.
BY P. R. W SHEPARD

Ten days old and without a home,
Out in an alley all alone,
A woolen cloth her tiny bed,
And the light of stars to cover her head.
She was not so big that she could tell
Just how she ought to ring a bell,
But she had a voice, and she used it well.
Mr. Boxternics in his house near by
Rose from his bed when he heard her cry;
He left his home at three-forty-three
To pick up the bit of humanity.
He called the police and the tiny tot
Was laid on a white hospital cot.
Nowhere to go, no one to claim,
Without a rattle or a name.
The boys of the flying squad drew 'round;
And many plans did they propound.
And at last, it is said, they hit a scheme;
The informant said: "This ain't no dream."
They got a broom and pulled out straws,
As they "hitched" their guns and scratched their jaws.
And, so 'tis said, they each in turn
Did pull a straw their fate to learn.
As the tiny tot with big round eyes
Gazed on in great and calm surprise.
Be as it may the baby's alive,
And has found a home on Chadwick Drive;
The number is eleven-thirty-two.
Its adopted Dad is now Dad to two.
P. M. MacWilliams is his name.
(No one can say he wasn't game.)
When he isn't tossing his fishing rod,
He's operator for the flying squad.

PRIZE CONEST IS WHIRLWIND

ten prizes are decided. After the automobiles will come the diamond rings, which are to cost $150 each, the talking machines at $100 and the gold watches at $50, allotted to the different districts.

NOMINATIONS POUR IN

Nominations continue to reach the campaign office in every mail. Apparently everybody realizes that now is the best time to enter, for the start of the race is certainly an exciting one.

Visitors to the campaign office on the second floor of The Times Building continue to arrive from the moment the office doors open at 8:30 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock at night.

"Why is it," asked one of the visitors yesterday, "that everybody is talking about The Times's big offer? All my friends have joined in the vote-getting race it seems, and those who have not done so are either helping me or someone else. Everywhere I go I hear some one talking about the two wonderful houses, or the twenty lovely automobiles. To be honest, I just couldn't believe it, and I thought I would come right down to the campaign office and get the good news first hand."

THERE'S A REASON

The campaign manager smiled. He was only too glad to explain the details of the record-breaking offer. He told the visitor:

"The reason that interest in The Times' campaign has risen to fever heat is because the prizes offered are so magnificent and so liberal. Everything is in plain sight to those entering. They know that the campaign is to run eleven weeks, and that it will close September 2, and that under no consideration will the campaign be continued after that date.

"Entrants know just what the prizes are, how they will be awarded and how they will be won. Nothing in the world except votes will win the two houses, the automobiles and the other prizes. And the only way votes can be secured is by procuring prepaid subscriptions to The Times."

It seems that a lot of candidates have their eyes on that $16,500 Wilshire Crest home—that is speaking figuratively, of course, for neither the Wilshire Crest home nor the West Hollywood tract bungalow has materialized as yet. They will both come into being as quickly as is consistent with the painstaking effort that will be expended upon them.

The plans for the $8000 bungalow, which will be built by the Western Construction Company in West Hollywood tract, and about which the Martin T. Hildinger Company, its selling agent, is so enthusiastic, were published yesterday, and created many comments and inquiries from candidates and their friends.

The plans for the Wilshire Crest home, which is being designed by a well-known architect, have not yet been completed. The building of the $16,500 home will be in the hands of the Meyer & Holler Milwaukee Building Company, who promise to excel all previous efforts in satisfactory results.

The twenty automobiles also have their devotees. When one considers that the list includes such cars as a $4200 Lincoln, a $3695 Marmon, a $2775 National and other splendid cars well known to the motorists of the Southland, it is small wonder that the candidates are so eager to win them.

No one need go without reward in The Times prize campaign. There is enough for everybody. And the arrangement is such that any man or woman who really tries is almost bound to win.

Elsewhere in today's Times you will find an advertisement containing further details of this remarkable prize distribution. This advertisement contains a nomination blank worth 2000 votes. Put your name on it and send or bring it to the campaign office on the second floor of The Times Building—TODAY.

You will then be supplied with everything necessary to start your campaign for votes. It costs you nothing. The prizes are FREE. Just get votes. The first subscription turned in, either old or new, for three months or longer, will entitle you to 10,000 EXTRA votes, thus giving you a splendid start. This is in addition to the regular votes issued on each subscription. The regular vote schedule on new subscriptions is as follows:

TRUCKS CARRY MUCH FOOD

State Senator Rominger, Assemblyman Bishop and Sergt. McCaleb of the police traffic force, addressed members of the Truck Owners' Association of Southern California Monday night. In the course of the talks on automobile legislation, traffic accidents and other matters of interest to the association it was brought out that 2,000,000,000 tons of foodstuffs were transported by motor trucks last year.

Today are the 1931st and 1932nd performances of the Mission Play at old San Gabriel.—[Advertisement.

KLEAGLE BAKER FREED ON BAIL

Five Thousand Dollars in Cash is Deposited

Money Reported Ready for Increased Bonds

Released Mob Leader is Taken to His Home

Nathan A. Baker, Kleagle of the "Invisible Empire" and leader of the Inglewood raid, was released from the County Jail late yesterday. His release came after a $5000 cash bail was deposited with the clerk of the court, to guarantee the Ku Klux Klan leader's appearance at the trial next August 7.

Application for the bail was made to Judge Weyl, who was sitting for Presiding Judge Willis. G. W. Price, King Kleagle of the Klan in California, was the only Klan official present. He refused to state who put up the money for Baker's release.

Baker hobbled out of the County Jail a few minutes before 6 p.m., and was taken to his home in Maywood, according to Price's statement. The leaders of the hooded organization on the Coast have made several attempts to obtain Baker's release. The Inglewood raid leader is considered an important witness for the defense, and every effort possible has been made to keep him in a good humor.

MONEY FOR OTHERS

It was learned yesterday that the representatives of the hooded organization have raised the additional $17,500 in bonds required by Judge Houser as bail for the Inglewood raid defendants which will be ready long before a week from tomorrow, the date set by the judge.

Capt. William S. Coburn, the deposed Grand Goblin, has arranged his affairs so as to remain in Los Angeles until the time set for his trial, August 7. "I am not going to leave Los Angeles. I will stay right here and when everything is over, I will return to Atlanta and practice law," Capt. Coburn said yesterday.

RAISE BIG SUM

Counting the bond of Capt. Coburn and the additional sum to be deposited for the thirty-six defendants, a total of $46,000 will be assured the State for the appearance for trial of the indicted Klansmen.

Tonight's meeting of the Los Angeles Klan, to be held at Monsta and Slauson avenues, is expected to furnish some fireworks should Capt. Coburn, no longer an official, but still a Klansman, attempt to make a personal appearance.

So many things have occurred since the captain's office here was raided and thousands of documents confiscated by the authorities, that his appearance in the "klavern" is calculated to "start something," one of the Los Angeles Klansmen said yesterday.

G. W. Price, King Kleagle of the Klan in California, will be in charge of tonight's meeting.

SENSATION AT TRIAL

A Ku Klux Klan sensation was injected into the trial of ten I.W.W. in Sacramento yesterday when Jack Dymond, formerly investigator for the District Attorney's office in Los Angeles, testified that he was ordered by United States Army officers to join the Ku Klux Klan.

Dymond resigned from Mr. Woolwine's staff several weeks ago when his name was found on the list of Klan members. At that time he was offered an opportunity to resign from the Klan. He is said to have stated to Mr. Woolwine that he was ordered by the Army Intelligence Department to join the Klan, and refused to resign.

ARIZONA'S GOVERNOR HITS KLAN

"Invisible Empires" Have No Place in Free America, Says Campbell

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 20.—Gov. Campbell, in a proclamation designating Sunday, the second of July as "America First Day," today took occasion to score such organizations as the Ku Klux Klan. He referred to the establishment of the Nation as a heaven for the oppressed, who here might find peace, security and contentment, worshipping as conscience dictated, "unmolested by the intolerance of bigots."

"In the light of history it ill-behooves any group or organization to set itself above the law, or to assume the prerogatives of the duly-elected representatives of the people," he declared. "Resort to the ballot is open to all, and if there is laxity in the enforcement of the laws, the remedy is to be found in the recall of any who have demonstrated their unfitness and not through the illegal activities of self-constituted guardians of public morals. 'Invisible empires,' meeting in secrecy to impose judgment and inflict punishment, have no place in free America. Our government guarantees equal rights to all, and violation of this prerogative calls for prompt and vigorous action."

In addition, the governor requested that Independence Day, July 4, "be marked by public exercises for the welcoming into citizenship of foreign-born residents of the state, to encourage, aid and instruct them in their responsibilities under the Stars and Stripes."

THIEVES STEAL DRILLS

Airguns Also Part of $3000 Loot Taken by Burglars

Seven electric drills and a number of airguns valued by the owner at about $3000 comprised the loot of burglars who broke into the store of L. T. Pockman at 207 East Third street early yesterday morning. The thieves gained entrance by jimmying a rear window of the establishment.

HONORED BY ALMA MATER

Rev. Robert Freeman

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PASADENA, June 20.—The Rev. Robert Freeman, who today received the honorary degree of doctor of divinity from Princeton University, his alma mater, has been minister of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church since 1910, and is one of Pasadena's most popular pastors. Dr. Freeman is also a trustee of Occidental College and was moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of California in 1920-1921. Just before his departure for the East to receive his honor his church broke ground for an educational building, which is to cost more than $121,000.

Dr. Freeman was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, Aug. 4, 1879, and came to America in 1896. He was ordained a Baptist minister in 1900, preached two years in Springboro, Pa., and went to the Presbyterian Church at Erie, Pa., in 1902. In 1904 he received an A.B. degree from Alleghany College, and was in mission work in McKeesport, Pa., Binghampton and Buffalo, N. Y., until 1907, when he took and M.A. and was graduated from Princeton Theological Seminary. From then till 1919 he was minister of the Lafayette Presbyterian Church, Buffalo.

In 1917 Dr. Freeman took leave of absence and joined the Y.M.C.A. forces in France, returning after the war.

THREE HIGH ONES

Since leaving The Fair, Mr. Kesner has erected the Kesner Building, eighteen stories high, the Lake View Building, seventeen stories high, and the Consumers Building, twenty-one stories high. The buildings are among the finest in Chicago's Loop district. In addition to these properties, he owns about thirty other smaller properties, all of which occupies all of his time now.

Jacob Kesner

He has also devoted much time to Chicago civic organizations, has served as president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, president of the Illinois Taxpayers' Alliance, and was president of the Citizens' Street Cleaning Bureau for ten years. He was also a member of the Finance Committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Chicago Crime Commission.

Real estate, Mr. Kesner declared, is the best kind of investment if properly selected, and if it is improved shortly after the purchase.

Mr. Kesner is en route to Honolulu. In his party are Mrs. Kesner, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grossman and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hirsch. They will arrive in San Francisco on their return trip about August 2.

DR. VON KLEINSMID PLANS BUSY WEEK

Six speeches in five days in addition to his usual office hours, is the record being achieved this week by Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, who will speak at noon today before the employees of Los Angeles county, at a meeting in the Broadway Christian Church. His theme will be "Co-operation in Government Service."

This evening he will deliver the address at the commencement exercises at the Huntington Park High School, and on Thursday evening will be the commencement speaker at the exercises of the Glendale High School. Tomorrow noon he will address the alumni of the college of law, U.S.C.

Friday evening Dr. Von KleinSmid will speak before the Life Underwriters' Association of Los Angeles in the Pacific Mutual auditorium. His theme will be "My Job and I."

Sunday afternoon Dr. Von KleinSmid will address the inspirational meeting of the Pacific Coast advertising clubs convention at San Diego. The meeting will be in Balboa Park. Von KleinSmid will speak on "Dynamic Forces of the New Day."

BLOOD WILL TELL

The blood test was recently invoked in court to determine the parentage of a child and the father then acknowledged its truth. Thus proving that blood is thicker than water.

USES OF SLANG

The professor of Anglo-Saxon at Oxford says that slang always enriches the language. That which is ephemeral blows away, but that which is apt remains to strengthen the tongue. The slang of today may be the literature of the morrow. In the absence of any language they can exclusively call their own the citizens of the United States are building up a slangy creation that may acquire a recognition as Americanese.

THE AMERICAN DANCE

The Japanese are taking to American dances and jazz. It has been usual with the Japanese to dance alone. Their dancing has largely been done by the Geisha girls, who had no partners in their steps. This cheek-to-cheek trotting is an American institution, but the Japanese are said to be acquiring it—at least, to the extent of mixing the sexes in the dance. How long would our jazz last if the men had to dance alone or the girls flock by themselves.

PERILS OF SOCIETY

Col. Smith Brookhart, who seems destined to be the new Senator from Iowa, declares that he is a genuine dirt farmer. He prefers overalls to any other raiment and may decide to wear them in the halls of Congress. He is suspicious of society and hates a dress suit. He takes an unusual amount of pleasure in harpooning Wall street. For the moment there is no particular question of his sincerity. It will be interesting to note his reactions when he discovers that a man can wear a plug hat and still be a Christian or can walk through Wall street without losing his immortal soul.

THE PEOPLE'S MONEY

The business of the State Treasurer's office is 400 per cent greater than it was eight years ago, when Friend Richardson assumed charge. Yet he is handling it all with the same force he had when he took command. In virtually every other department of the State service the forces have been doubled in the same time, whether the work was increased or not. Mr. Richardson was the custodian of the millions that were spent. He could not decide how the money should be spent. He could not even withhold it from the squanderer. He could only kiss it good-by and weep over an era of extravagance. But it is pleasant to note that of the $600,000,000 handled in his time every dollar is correctly accounted for so far as his office is concerned. He is the watchdog of the treasury, but that does not stop the boss from robbing the safe.

GREAT WOMEN

Now the services of a number of male experts have been called in to determine the names that should properly go upon a list of the twelve greatest living women of America. The roster of the feminine great was requested on behalf of the Chilean authorities at the Pan-American Congress of Women. Differences of opinion were so pronounced that the list is not yet complete. When they left the decision to the club women the roster was made up exclusively of suffragettes. But the suffragettes do not especially appeal to the women of South America and they wanted to know if we didn't have some eminent housewives and home-makers in the land. Now, with some male assistance on the side, a more representative list is being compiled, although one of the men called into council declared his belief that the greatest living women were all dead. Offhand, who can tell who are the dozen greatest women of the nation?

LAW FOR THE POOR

A legal aid bureau has been established in connection with the United Charities in one of the large cities of the country and in one year it disposed of more than seven thousand cases without court costs or attorney fees. It is said that more than 90 per cent of the cases submitted to the bureau were thus settled and that in more than three-quarters of them both sides admitted the justice of the settlement. The bureau is made up of a number of "referees" of some judicial qualifications. When a case comes to the bureau the complainant is permitted to tell his whole story without any interruption. Notes are made of the case and then a brief statement of the case, with a request for answer, is sent to the other side. Usually the defendant has appeared at the first opportunity and has been also permitted to make a full statement on his own behalf. There may be farther interviews, but at the earliest possible moment the referee announces a decision and also devises the method by which it may be carried out with the least hardship. Naturally most of the decisions are compromises. Both sides have to yield something, but in the end the results give the largest satisfaction and both winner and loser are better off than they would have been had the matter been left to the costly arbitrament of court and counsel.

OUR GREAT NEED

The cheerful Christian resignation with which the several nations at the Washington Conference agreed to a wholesale scrapping of warships has a special significance for America.

The truth is that all warships belonging to all nations at the present time are of dubious value.

The war witnessed some extraordinary naval episodes.

It witnessed, for instance, the amazing circumstance of the British Grand Fleet being hustled out of the field of probable action into a place of hiding and kept there during the period of the war—or at least until the fight at Jutland. The German grand fleet, on the other hand, remained in hiding at Kiel and the North German ports. In short, the naval activity of the war was mainly relegated to torpedo boats and submarines.

Although this would suggest that the day of the monster battleships has passed, it would be unsafe to draw any such conclusion or to proceed on any such hypothesis. No one knows what conditions the next war may bring forth. The general feeling among naval experts seems to be that the ships now to be built should approximate the Japanese battleship Mutsu, the most powerful fighting engine in the world. Their judgment, however, is based upon the fact that such ships, should they be needed, cannot be improvised.

No one can be certain that the next war would not find them useless—discarded in favor of sea planes, submarines, etc. Again the nation's existence might depend upon a fleet of just such ships.

There is only one thing about which this nation can be certain: There never will be an invasion of American soil until the present relation of comparative strength of the world powers is changed considerably. If we have to fight again it will be somewhere other than upon our own soil.

The conclusion is obvious. We cannot guess with accuracy as the war weapons; but we know we will need a large merchant marine to transport our troops and to bring them food and supplies.

In these circumstances it would seem to be the part of wisdom to concentrate upon the revival of a merchant marine strong enough for the purpose of war, but useful in times of peace.

President Harding fully realizes this. Therefore he has urged Congress to provide for America's merchant fleet at sea. It is, of course, idle to hope for such result without some sort of a marine subsidy.

MARCO POLO'S SHADOW

A Canadian stood some months ago in the largest temple in Canton, China, lighting joss sticks before an idol. Thereafter he was a marked man in the city. A few weeks later he had received a concession for which other foreigners, with millions behind them, had worked in vain.

He was allowed to form a company to tear down the ancient wall of Canton and in its place to open a thoroughfare along which he was to have the exclusive privilege of operating a gigantic transportation system. Although he was virtually penniless, he was also able to secure from Chinese capitalists the vast sums required for his project.

And it all grew out of that incident in the temple. MacInnes not only showed rare understanding of the Chinaman, but was equally discerning in the choosing of an idol.

But what idol was it that worked so powerfully for a foreigner who had no faith in Joss? It was the image of Marco Polo, the Venetian adventurer extraordinary, whose shadow reached down from the thirteenth century and worked wonders for a stranger in the midst of a city of almost 2,000,000 orientals.

The Canadian was perfectly sincere in his admiration for the Venetian. When he went into the temple he had no idea that he would find there a reminder of the career of one of the truly exceptional men of Europe, enshrined among the gods of China. Europe has, broadly speaking, forgotten Marco Polo, despite the tremendous debt which she owes him. America has never given him a thought.

But MacInnes was different, not only in his knowledge of the adventurer, but also in his understanding of his accomplishments in China. China, furthermore, lacks the occidental faculty for forgetting.

She remembers Marco Polo, who re-established contact between the east and the west. She remembers him as a great linguist, politician and trader and also as the only foreigner who ever became the counsellor of a Chinese ruler in the days when the emperor of China awed the most distant lands. China remembers, and the men of high and low degree in Canton were grateful to MacInnes in that he remembered.

The Canadian had to have something more than respect for a man long dead, of course. The incident in the temple merely served as an introduction, an opening wedge which was to pry open an old and rugged prejudice. He had to have something more than tact and a memory. The fact that he is now one of the powerful men of the Orient shows that he had more.

But, at the same time, his meteoric career had its beginning under the shadow of a man six centuries dead.

It is no small accomplishment to change the transportation system of a metropolis and to overcome its most deeply rooted prejudices. But it is also no small matter to go into a distant land, unknown, suspected and without funds and there to do deeds which would serve as the shadow under which others might work 600 years later.

THE DELUGE

It is doubtful if Lenin has a friend on earth and yet at this moment he is Russia's most valuable asset. If he dies there will be another whirl at chaos. There is admittedly no one who can take Lenin's place, although there are a number of group or party leaders who would gladly assume his powers. They are likely to quarrel, for this advantage. If Lenin had been elected as a constitutional President of Russia he might have made a worthy and capable executive whom the rest of the world could recognize with respect. He holds intelligence of the highest order and has a capacity for leadership through this mental endowment. The Lenin regime has been a tragic experience for Russia, but Lenin's death would deepen the fountains of woe. The only advantage would be in furnishing the nation an opportunity to free itself from every chain of Socialism and this is hardly possible. With the death of Lenin a situation might arise that would call for the appointing of an executorship through a court of nations—to save Russia from her own terrors. It is known that if Trotzky were to endeavor to assume supreme authority he would seek to extend Russia's military powers beyond present borders. He would be glad to rule the world with a red-stained sword. For the sake of humanity he would have to be suppressed. The death of Lenine may easily be the most tragic event which can now befall Eastern Europe, and yet a majority of earth's men and women would be glad to vote capital punishment for him at this moment.

THE CITY STREETS

The powers-that-be, in accepting plats of new subdivisions, should insist upon their conforming to the old. Lands should not be platted wholly for the benefit of the owner. There are the future owners and the community as a whole to be considered. Provision should be made for the extension of established streets upon known lines. As it stands today, the map of the city is a good deal of a puzzle. Thoroughfares have jumps and jogs that baffle the stranger. A highway may start out with the best of intentions. It will ramble on with pleasing symmetry and regularity for a dozen blocks or so and then run abruptly into a stone quarry or up against the side of a hill. Or maybe it will sparkle along on a straight line for a while and then take a sudden shoot to the left and wind around a new landscape. Or it will lie down for a block or two and then break out in a new place half a mile ahead. It is as hard for a stranger to find his way to Boyle Heights as it is for a man with a pipe to get a seat in the smokers' section of a yellow car. If we are to have a city of regular physical habits and ample thoroughfares now is the time to do the work. It will cost a lot more to straighten out the kinks next year—and the year after. It becomes more expensive every hour.

THE PALLBEARER'S PRIMER.

U is for the Ugly Mug who never sees the man on his right,
His idea of fair play is to step on her with all his might!

V is for the Vacant Stare in the Sleepwalker's eye,
As he steps out into the traffic - it's all over! - Goodbye!

W is for the Woman who takes advantage of her sex,
And crowds more man off the road - she causes lots of wrecks!

X marks the Crossing, all on the same grade,
Stick around a minute and see how Angels are made!

Y Z is for the "Wise" who drive or walk with care,
They shouldn't have been put in this Primer, it really isn't fair!

RIPPLING RHYMES

UNIVERSAL GRIEF

According to dispatches, there's trouble everywhere, and anguish comes in batches
And statesmen rend their hair. In China there's been fighting to gain the diamond belt; the Russian rule is blighting, its evils now are felt. The monarchists are plotting wherever kings were canned, palladiums are rotting in every foreign land.
Grief, grief! See Ireland grab it; she now has freedom's boon, but has the scrapping habit and cannot drop it soon. Poor France is badly busted, by Prussion armies wrecked; her statesmen are disgusted because she can't collect. And even stalwart Britain, that never quailed before, by grievous ills is smitten and smiles and sings no more. Alas, the sad dispatches, from groaning nations sent! The reader sighs and scratches his head in wonderment. How can one read such tidings, such news from o'er the foam and fill the air with chidings and beef around at home? Our sickly little troubles, o'er which the knockers bray, are evanescent bubbles a breath will blow away. Why roar of income taxes and laws we do not like, and arm ourselves with axes, some men of straw to strike? Let's cease to tear our thatches and rant of pipe-dream ills, and read the grim dispatches from lands where trouble kills.

THE FEDERAL INDIAN BUREAU

BY JAMES WILLARD SCHULTZ,
Author of "My Life as an Indian," Etc.

In his speech, "Free the Indians and Serve America," in the House of Representatives, last summer, the Hon. M. Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania aptly said of the Indian Bureau that "it is a nation within a nation. It has 6000 white employees, not counting 12,000 Indian employees, and its expenditures have been steadily mounting until they are now more than $15,000,000 per year.

"Almost entirely without authorization in any statute, it has added divisions and sections until now it is a duplicate organism which performs almost every act undertaken by every other department of the government. It is legislative, executive, judicial in its functions. It acts as judge, jury, prosecutor and executioner. It is a mammoth anomaly in American form of government."

It has, for instance, a duplication of the Forestry Service of the Department of Agriculture that contains six sections: Protection of forestry, forest surveys, sales of lumber, manufacture of lumber, forest extension and grazing. These in turn are divided into the following subsections, each with its numerous employees: (1.) Construction of roads, trails, bridges and telephone lines. (2.) Establishment of range stations. (3.) Maintenance of forest control. (4.) Suppression of forest fires. (5.) Prevention of timber treapass. (6.) Prevention of destruction by insects. (7.) Education as to proper use of forests. (8.) Establishment of boundaries. (9.) Examination of timber. (10.) Detailed estimate of amount of timber. (11.) Systematic appraisals of timber values. (12.) Preparation of contour maps. (13.) Regulation for particular salaries. (14.) Preparation of contracts and bonds. (15.) Presentation of sales to timber operators. (16.) Supervision of logging operations. (17.) Disposition of slash from lumbering operations. (18.) Records of transactions. (19.) Conducting of logging operations. (20.) Establishment and manufacture of sawmills. (21.) Supervision of cutting by Indians. (22.) Sale of sawmill products. (23.) Operation of sawmills. (24.) Encouragement of natural reproduction. (25.) Planting of trees. (26.) Assistance in management of stock. (27.) Supervising grazing in Indian lands. (28.) Preventing damage to forests.

Said Congressman Kelly of the above: "Did you ever hear of a private business organization so divided and subdivided into futility and foolishness? No business corporation could last a month on such a system. There is a separate agency for conducting logging operations; another for supervising logging operations. There is even a separate branch to encourage the natural reproduction of trees. Whether that means an employee who stands guard over the acorn and the shoot and the sapling until it reaches maturity in the great oak I do not know, but I rather think it does."

HOW MONEY IS EXPENDED

As just one instance of the manner in which the Indian Bureau administers Indian funds—and there are hundreds like it—I quote the following from a speech by the Hon. Edwin S. Johnson, in the United States Senate:

"Allow me to insert in the Record some items concerning the Kiowa and Comanche Indians which appear on page 218 of the hearings held before the House Committee on Indian Affairs the other day. These people have about $3,000,000 to their credit in the treasury, if I remember correctly. We appropriated out of their fund for 1917 $25,000, and an analysis of the expenditures shows the following:

Salaries and wages	$19,314.10
Traveling expenses ...	368.28
Transportation of supplies	56.24
Heat, light and power service	545.80
Telegraph and telephone service	346.98
Subsistence supplies ...	8.36

Mr. Thomas: Let me understand the Senator. Does he mean by that statement that out of an appropriation of $25,000 for these Indians only $8.36 was expended for subsistence?

Mr. Johnson of South Dakota: That is according to this report.

Mr. Thomas: Then the Indians did get something out of the $25,000; they got $8.36!

Mr. Hughes: How did that happen? [Laughter.]

Mr. Johnson: I do not know. It must have been a mistake. The Indian appropriation bills have always been bad. They are made for politicians and for the convenience and upbuilding of the whites; ostensibly for the benefit of the Indians, but in reality for no such purpose.

Mr. Johnson went on to state that evidence was given in committee and not contradicted, that $180,000 was received as rental for leased Crow Indian lands, and the evidence also showed that the overhead cost of caring for and managing these leases amounted to $100,000, leaving only $80,000 to the credit of these Indians. Of this amount $25 to $50 is annually distributed to members of the tribe and the balance is practically wasted by the Indian Bureau. The result is that the Crows are hungry about half the time.

BLACKFEET SUFFER

In the winter of 1883-84 more than 500 of the Blackfeet tribe starved to death.

In 1887 the Blackfeet sold the eastern portion of their reservation for $1,500,000, and in 1896 the western portion of it for another $1,500,000, and they still had 60 miles square of the finest grazing land in the Northwest. It is, however, too cold for agriculture; it has June frosts and sometimes snow in August. The Indian Bureau expended some of this vast fund of $3,000,000 for cattle, haying machinery, wagons, house furnishings, of which every family of the tribe received its share, as well as ample weekly rations.

Under two good agents the tribe thrived and was in a fair way to soon become self-supporting. Suddenly the bureau shut off their rations, and in order to exist the people were obliged to begin selling off their cattle and soon they were gone. Meantime, the bureau expended over $900,000 of tribal funds and more than $1,000,000 of "reimbursable" funds for a system of irrigation for Blackfeet lands and issued to the majority of the members of the tribe patents in fee to their allotments of land. Cato Sells, himself Commissioner of Indian Affairs during the last administration, admitted before the Committee to Investigate Indian Affairs, that the Blackfeet irrigation project was of doubtful value. Having disposed of their cattle, the majority of the tribe began selling their land patents for any small sums that they could get from the land sharks, in order for a little time longer to keep the wolf from the door. The result is that they are today paupers citizens of the State of Montana. As the Indian Bureau has done to this tribe, so is it doing to others. And can anyone doubt that, under the management of any ordinary business man and with $3,000,000 for a starter, the Blackfeet would have been a self-supporting people today?

AIN'T IT JUST SO?

Professor Dink Bepson says when
He was a kid he and his grandpa
Drove to see a parade and when
The parade arrived the two were
In such a crowd that the old
Gent lifted the kid up and he Saw the parade and its leaders
And bragged about it the rest
Of his life, but his grandpa ne-Ver saw a thing and we are al-Ways running across people who Lifted others up when they nee-
Ded it and found no one to lift
THEM when they needed it, and There was old William Cowper and His hymn about the fountain that Gave comfort to millions of hea-Ven-hungry pilgrims in his day
And afterward, and yet gave no
Comfort to him in his dark hour.
And there was Mark Twain, who Made millions laugh, but couldn't Always make himself laugh, and
There was Jennie Lind, who sang
To so many hundreds on their Deathbeds and had no one to sing
To her on her deathbed.

TIME TO DO SOMETHING

Four-year-old Bobby was stroking his cat before the fireplace in perfect content. The cat, also happy, began to purr loudly. Bobby gazed at her askance for awhile, then suddenly seized her by the tail and dragged her roughly away from the hearth. His mother interposed, "You must not hurt your kitty, Bobby." "I'm not," said Bobby, protestingly, "but I've got to get her away from the fire. She's beginning to boil."—[Argonaut.

ON THE WAY TO PROSPERITY

All the fingerboards are pointing the way to prosperity. Our country has always made quick recovery from depression. This inherent power may be accounted for by our great natural resources. While the world is involved in a serious crisis the United States emerged from the great war in better condition than any of the other belligerents. A return to normal trading is long overdue.—[Shoe and Leather Reporter.

THIS IS THE DAY

The State of New Hampshire ratified the Constitution, in 1788. New Hampshire being the ninth State to ratify, this action made it effective throughout the nation.

Cyrus H. McCormick, in 1834, patented the first "reaper," a machine designed to perform the work previously carried on with a scythe and "cradle." McCormick's machine marked the opening of a new era in agriculture.

National Republican Convention at Chicago renominated William Howard Taft for President, an act that caused a bolt of the party by the Progressives led by ex-President Roosevelt. Year 1912. This unfortunate split in the party lines enabled Woodrow Wilson to secure a majority vote in the Electoral College. Taft carried only two States, Utah and Vermont.

NEWS OUTSIDE THE DOOR

Buttercups, first loves of children, blossomed yesterday among tall spikes of broad-leaved plantain and ripple grass along the Jersey sidehills. Low, early crowfoot, high hills and fields; creeping buttercup, underground roots sending up stalks among clover of low meadows, and the tall crowfoot or common buttercup, naturalized from Europe, glisten among the herbage of open woods, pastures and fields like flakes of gold leaf.

Buttercups are said to be broken bits of the golden full moon fallen into the grass when Phaeton, son of Phoebus, the sun god, driving his father's car through the heavens for a day in spring, let the flame-winged horses run away and collide with the moon, cutting out a disk the size of a chariot wheel and reducing Luna to a crescent.

Cattle won't eat acid buttercups, so farmers don't like them. But tall, nodding, yellow cups, bobolinks and swallow skimming over them, beautify the earth. The first recess game at district schools is holding a buttercup under each chin to discover by its reflection who likes butter.—[J. O. S. in New York World.

Begin Building of New Church Last of Month

A ground-breaking ceremony for the construction of the first unit of the new Immanuel Presbyterian Church will be conducted the 29th inst., at 5:30 p.m. on the property just south of the present building at Tenth and Figueroa streets.

The Sunday-school and community service unit is to be built at an approximate cost of $250,000. C. F. Skilling is the architect and J. Everett Polsey the contractor.

Among those who have been invited to speak at the ground-breaking ceremony are Mayor Cryer, Capt. John D. Fredericks, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Hugh K. Walker, and Mrs. William J. Chichester. Many of the charter members also will be present, as well as members of the board of trustees and Dr. Herbert Booth Smith, the pastor.

Film Director's Wife Wins Suit for Receiver

The petition of Mrs. Marie S. Crisp, suing Donald Crisp, cinema director, for separate maintenance and for the appointment of a receiver, was granted by Judge Crail yesterday. Mr. Crisp is in Europe and it is said that he has with him $60,000 which will be the subject of the receivership.

Mrs. Crisp charges her husband with desertion. Mr. Crisp, in a cross-complaint, asks for a divorce. He says she nagged him. Mrs. Crisp is represented by Attorneys Carpenter and Feurl.

Ex-Service Men Begin Campaign for Petitions

A campaign to get 180,000 names on an initiative petition has been started by ex-service men and American Legion members to continue during the next twenty days. The petition will ask that the state constitution be amended so as to make it possible for the State to loan money to ex-service men for the purchase of homes and farms in the State.

This action follows the recent Supreme Court decision which stated that it would be illegal for the State to aid former soldiers according to the plans advocated. The legal action was taken in preparation for voting on the $10,000,000 bond issue which the ex-service men are asking.

Buron R. Fitts, Past State Commander of the Legion, left San Francisco yesterday with the petitions which are to be circulated borough of the United States in Southern California. He was brought to a local flying field in an airplane by Lieut. W. C. Gold-Army.

Executors of Earl Estate File Acount

Executors of the estate of the late Edwin T. Earl, newspaper publisher, yesterday filed a second account of expenditures from the $5,853,039 left by Mr. Earl. Among the sums paid out was $4000 a month to the family of the decedent.

Other expenses totaled $1,542,-526.18, according to the statement of Mrs. Emily Jarvis Earl, Guy C. Earl and E. R. W. Frost. The executors report that $4,310,513.94 is the balance chargeable to the next accounting.

FLORIDANS TO ATTEND EXCHANGE

Southern Visitors to Hear Deliberations of California Citrus Growers

Citrus fruit growers from Florida, who are inspecting California orange and lemon groves, will complete their tour today with a visit to the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. The novel experience of "sitting in" at a board meeting has been granted the sixty visitors and they will listen to the way business is conducted by the men who are making the State's fruit industry such a wonderful success.

E. G. Dezell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange will be host. He is authority for the statement that the local citrus fruit growers will court an interchange of ideas with the Florida men and will endeavor to promote a return trip to the Southern State next year.

"Florida men are invited to sit in at our board meeting tomorrow morning," said Mr. Dezell. "Though the meeting is private we will give them an opportunity to hear our deliberations as they believe it will help them to get an insight into the methods we are employing to market our goods. Business is fine and I believe this is an excellent opportunity to get the news back to Florida that we are doing business on a scale ten times larger than before, because we have a larger acreage and more red-blooded men engaged in the work. Newspaper men also are invited to the board meeting."

The delegates are to be shown the Vance orchard heater before they leave. The methods employed in burning carbon briquets will be demonstrated and the cost of heating groves will be given to the Florida men in detail.

Alienation Suit Settled out of Court

The suit for $50,000 damages in which Mrs. Augusta Woods charged that her mother-in-law alienated the affections of Clifford Ross Woods came to an abrupt end in Judge McCormick's court yesterday, when it was announced that the case had been settled out of court. Attorneys for both sides asked that the action be dismissed.

It was charged by the young wife that the elder Mrs. Woods "promoted" another girl for her son in order to break the happiness of the couple. After the purported encouragement given by the mother, the wife declared she found her husband and the girl, named as Miss Zora Eleanor Spencer, in a compromising situation in Denver.

City has Two Dwellings it Wants to Sell

The Board of Public Service Commissioners has on its hands two two-story dwellings which it must sell before it can build a new power substation at 923-926 Francisco street. The station is to be the first of a series to be built as a result of the city's taking over the Los Angeles distributing system of the Southern California Edison Company. As the board desires to build the station at once, John T. Martin, right of way and land agent for the department, at 207 South Broadway, would like to receive offers from some one who will purchase and move the two houses at once.

SIREN NOTES ON RADIO LYRE

Two Sopranos, Two Tenors in Day's Foursome

"Times" Radiophone Carries Melody Skyward

Artists Leave New Picture on Memory's Screen

The Times—KHJ—on the air today 1:00 to 1:45 p.m. Corrine Harris, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Bowes, will sing "The Waltz Song" from "Romeo and Juliet," by Gounod; "In Quelle Trine Morbide," by Puccini, and "Morning," Oley Speaks. Thomas A. Miller, baritone, accompanied by Dorothea Bartlett, will sing "Absent," by Metcalf; "Son of the Desert Am I," by Phillips, and "Two Marionettes," by Edith Cooke.

Program from 7:15 to 8:00 p.m. Mrs. Verna S. Mitchell will tell the bedtime story, "Molly, Jimmie and the Bear." Carl Baier, zither soloist, will play "Right from the Heart," by Umlauf, "Longing for Home," his own composition, and "Always Jolly," by Steiner. J. J. Jenkins will tell a story in dialect.

Siren lyric soprano strains reached out from KHJ, The Times' radiophone, yesterday afternoon, and fixed themselves indelibly on radioland's screen of memory, when Mary S. Sibley, concert and opera singer of three continents, opened The Times' afternoon program with the "Wind Song," by Rogers. Accompanied by Mrs. Earle Jenny, Mrs. Sibley sang her four numbers with rare coloring and interpretation. In addition to the "Wind Song," she sang "Just You," by Burleigh, "If," by Huhn, and "Ferry Me Across the Water," by Sidney Horner. She has sung in Vienna, New York, Baltimore, Tokio and Yokohama. Recently in the role of "Madame Hofer," she pleased Baltimore audiences in Mozart's "Impresario."

Harry Hoffman's tenor voice, carried into radioland by KHJ, took with it a degree of charm and appeal that lost nothing in its long journey into radio infinity. The dulcet harmony written into his selections by the composers found rare expression in his interpretation of his five numbers—"When Love Is Done," by MacLean; "I Hear a Thrush at Eve," by Charles Wakefield Cadman, "When Song Is Sweet," by Sanasouci, "Gray Days," by Sullivan, and "Because I Love You, Dear," by C. B. Hawley.

As in the afternoon concert from KHJ, honors were divided between a soprano and tenor, in the evening. William Pitcher, accompanied by Ruth Helstrand, sang three numbers, one of which brought back memories of long ago—"Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," by Moore-Stevenson. His other two—"The Star," by Rogers, and "When Soft Winds Blow," gave him good opportunity to display the richness of voice and clearness of enunciation in which he is a master.

Wilda Jane Horner, mezzo-contralto, accompanied by Ione Jordan, registered on the delicate microphone a delectable rendition of "Thy Beaming Eyes," by MacDowell, and "By the Waters of Minnetonka," by Lieurance. The latter number carried the charm of the place for which it was named, to a high degree.

As a special number on the program, "Wiki" Bird, Hawaiian steel guitar soloist, played "Hawaiian Dreams," "Isle of Golden Dreams" and a medley of popular songs of his own selection. Mr. Bird's interpretations on the steel guitar, through which he earned the title of "steel-copater," being compounded from the name of the instrument and "syncopation," are well known to listeners-in on KHJ, several times.

If the pending radio legislation becomes a law, wave lengths from 310 to 435 meters will be allotted to broadcast stations. This will permit a number of broadcast stations to transmit simultaneously in the same district.

The term "broadcast," as applied to radio, signifies transmission to any number of stations without charge at the receiving end.

The assembling of Hazelhurst condensers, which up to this time has been done in the East, will soon be done in Los Angeles, according to Charles B. Hazelhurst, 414 Marsh-Strong Building, who declares the stamping of parts as well as assembling will take place here in the near future.

One of the best carrying stations in the Southwest, apparently, is that of the State College of New Mexico—KOB—which has been reported heard very distinctly in Los Angeles. Mrs. P. M. Simpson, 1046 South Burlington avenue, is the latest to report hearing KOB, this at 11:00 p.m. on a recent date.

The inauguration of a radiophone service in these yellar "Room-for-just-one-more-sardine" street cars might easily compensate for getting our nice white shoes trod upon each morning.

The cost of a 500-watt radiophone transmitter, such as may be used by broadcast stations, is an enigma to most persons. Some say that such a transmitter can be constructed for $1000. A certain man has declared he can build one for $500. It sounds feasible, for in reality there is nothing very intricate connected with a modern radiophone. Amateurs are making them out of material found in the average workshop, and are covering the same distance on 200 meters as are broadcast stations on the 360 meters, with their expensive equipment. Commercial radiophones are retailing for prices ranging from $1000 to over $10,000.

"Here in Long Beach," writes H. C. A., Jr., "we have an awful time with the Long Beach-Catalina radiophone, but in spite of them and also four 200-meter stations working within one-quarter of a mile of here, KHJ is "QSA" and clear. I've been in the game five years and consider KHJ the best all-around station I ever heard."

HIGHWAY IS UPHELD

Railroad Loses Suit to Block New Construction

The suit of the Hueneme, Malibu and Port Los Angeles Railway against the State Highway Commission to restrain the latter from constructing a highway through the property of the Rindge corporation, was denied by Judge Crail yesterday. It was contended by the railway that the defendants were taking their property unlawfully.

ONE RECKLESS DRIVER JAILED

Speeding Must Stop, Edict of Judge Chesebro

Paltry Excuses Will Not be Accepted

Driver Gets Option of Fine or Prison Term

"This reckless speeding must stop. The idea of racing through the city streets regardless of the rights of others for such paltry excuses as are offered is absolutely ridiculous," said Police Judge Chesebro yesterday as he sentenced Welly Wyler, employed at Universal City, to spend three days in the City Jail for driving his motorcycle at forty miles an hour across the intersection of Sunset Boulevard and Alexandria avenue. Wyler told the court that he was on his way to a picnic at the time and was late.

Because he failed to stop his car to give right of way to a police flying squadron machine at First street and Broadway Monday night Louis Felice was ordered to pay a fine of $75 or go to jail for seventy-five days. Officer Nickens, driver of the police car, testified that Felice disregarded the warning of the police siren and ran into the police car, tearing off a tool box and damaging the fenders of the machine.

George A. Baker, found guilty of driving his machine in a reckless manner, was given a thirty-day suspended sentence during which time he will be deprived of his operator's license.

A total of 365 traffic violators appeared in Judge Chesebro's court yesterday, indicating that little laxity is being shown by the police in enforcing the city's traffic laws. Court records showed that during the morning $3443 was collected in fines and bail forfeitures.

ST. JOHN'S ACADEMY GRADUATES SIXTEEN

BISHOP CANTWELL CELEBRATES HIGH MASS AT EXERCISES

Sixteen students were graduated from St. John's Military Academy yesterday, following the celebration of high mass with Bishop Cantwell presiding.

In his address, the bishop warned parents of the necessity of directing their sons' choice of companionship and amusements. He told the cadets that they were Christian soldiers waging a personal fight against evil influences.

Fathers Clifford and Golden assisted Bishop Cantwell in the high mass. The soloists and choir, composed of cadets, sang "Ave Maria" and several compositions by Marzo. Medals for excellence in scholastic activities were awarded to Herbert E. Wenig, Luis G. Alvarez, Charles H. Benner, Joseph R. Gosiger, James R. Stahler and Cecil J. Merchant.

In addition to these honor students, the following cadets received diplomas: Victor L. McCarthy, Joseph M. Ryan, Reed W. Lawlor, James F. Horton, Vincent J. Blumberg, Douglas McAlpine, Paul J. Neighbors, Charles O. Johnston, John R. Martin and Earl J. Myberg.

Give Banquet in Honor of Charles Baad

Two hundred of the leading hotel men of the Pacific Coast attended a banquet Monday night in honor of Charles Baad, retiring manager of the Alexandria. James Wood, managing director of the Belmont Hotel in New York, made the trip especially to act as toastmaster. Among the speakers were William H. Crane, Frederick Warde and Vernon Goodwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Baad will leave soon for a six months' tour of the East to study hotel methods there. He is to be resident manager of the new $8,000,000 Biltmore, now being constructed here.

Let This FREE Bottle of LU LIQUID HENNA SHAMPOO B Health and Radiance to Your H

THE ancient Egyptians were masters of the arts of the toilette, in an age when physical beauty was an object of religious worship.

For over 4,000 years their wise men labored to discover tonics that would increase and preserve beauty, and to the constant use of the leaves of the little white-flowered henna plant is definitely ascribed the luxurious, glistening hair of the Egyptian queens.

Throughout the ages this beauty secret of old Egypt has been handed down, and to the present day no tonic herb can compare with henna for beautifying hair.

No Other Shampoo Just Like Lura

Lura Liquid Henna Shampoo is, first of all, a pure, cleansing liquid shampoo carefully blended of the finest vegetable oils. It cuts the grease like magic, stops all itching and refreshes the scalp. Added to this cleansing liquid shampoo is our special preparation of henna which stimulates the scalp, promoting its perfect health and bringing out all the sheen, lustre and brilliancy of your hair.

The henna, you see, does not change the color of the hair when Lura is used as a general shampoo. But it does act as a scalp invigorator and it does bring back the youthful glint and silky texture as only henna can do. Men, women and children use Lura Shampoo with equal effectiveness.

Of course, if you really want the true, rich henna tone—still so popular—just follow the directions as given in this announcement and on the package, and Lura Liquid Henna Shampoo will give the most pleasing and satisfactory results. Lura is simple to use and positively never stains the hands or scalp.

How to Use Lura

As a General Shampoo for Men, Women and Children

Wet the hair thoroughly. Pour one tablespoonful of Lura Henna Shampoo on hair and massage vigorously, loosening all dirt and dandruff. Rinse well, then apply another tablespoonful of shampoo, rub well and rinse thoroughly first in hot, then in cool water. Use plenty of water. Only two applications of Lura are necessary, and no more than a tablespoonful to an application. Don't waste the shampoo. After all, it is the purity of the use of Lura Liquid Henna Shampoo that brings the most satisfactory results. Use it will, if regularly used, keep the hair and scalp in healthy condition, not color the hair one particle unless so desired.

To Bring Out the Glint Not Changing the Color

Wet the hair thoroughly. Pour one tablespoonful of Lura Henna Shampoo on hair and massage vigorously, loosening all dirt and dandruff. Rinse well. Squeeze water from hair so it will not drip. Then apply another tablespoonful of shampoo and distribute evenly. Do not rub. Do not apply more water, but allow shampoo to remain on hair for 3 to 15 minutes; then apply water, massage and rinse very thoroughly. Do not expect to acquire the most perfect effect at first application. By regular use the hair will gradually take on the silky shine and golden glint that only henna can give.

To Bring the True Henna Tone

Wet the hair thoroughly. Put one tablespoonful of Lura Henna Shampoo directly on the hair. Rub vigorously into a lather, then well, then rub hair with dry towel so that it will not drip from hair; then apply another tablespoonful of shampoo directly on the hair and distribute evenly. DO NOT RUB IN. DO NOT APPLY MORE WATER but allow shampoo to remain on hair for 3 minutes, then apply more water, rub into a lather and rinse very thoroughly.

LURA LIQUID HENNA SHAMPOO

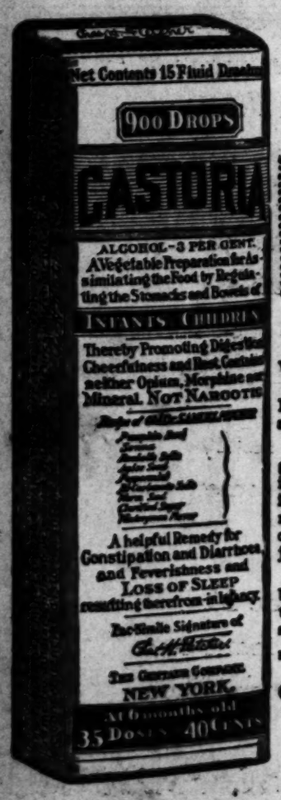
Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no night so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance.

When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember it's just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Do the People Know?

Do you know why you are asked to call for Fletcher's Castoria when you want a child's remedy: why you must insist on Fletcher's?

For years we have been explaining how the popularity of Fletcher's Castoria has brought out innumerable imitations, substitutes and counterfeits.

To protect the babies: to shield the homes and in defense of generations to come we appeal to the better judgment of parents to insist on having Fletcher's Castoria when in need of a child's medicine. And remember above all things that a child's medicine is made for children—a medicine prepared for grown-ups is not interchangeable. A baby's food for a baby. And a baby's medicine is just as essential for the baby.

The Castoria Recipe (it's on every wrapper) has been prepared by the same hands in the same manner for so many years that the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and perfection in the product are synonymous.

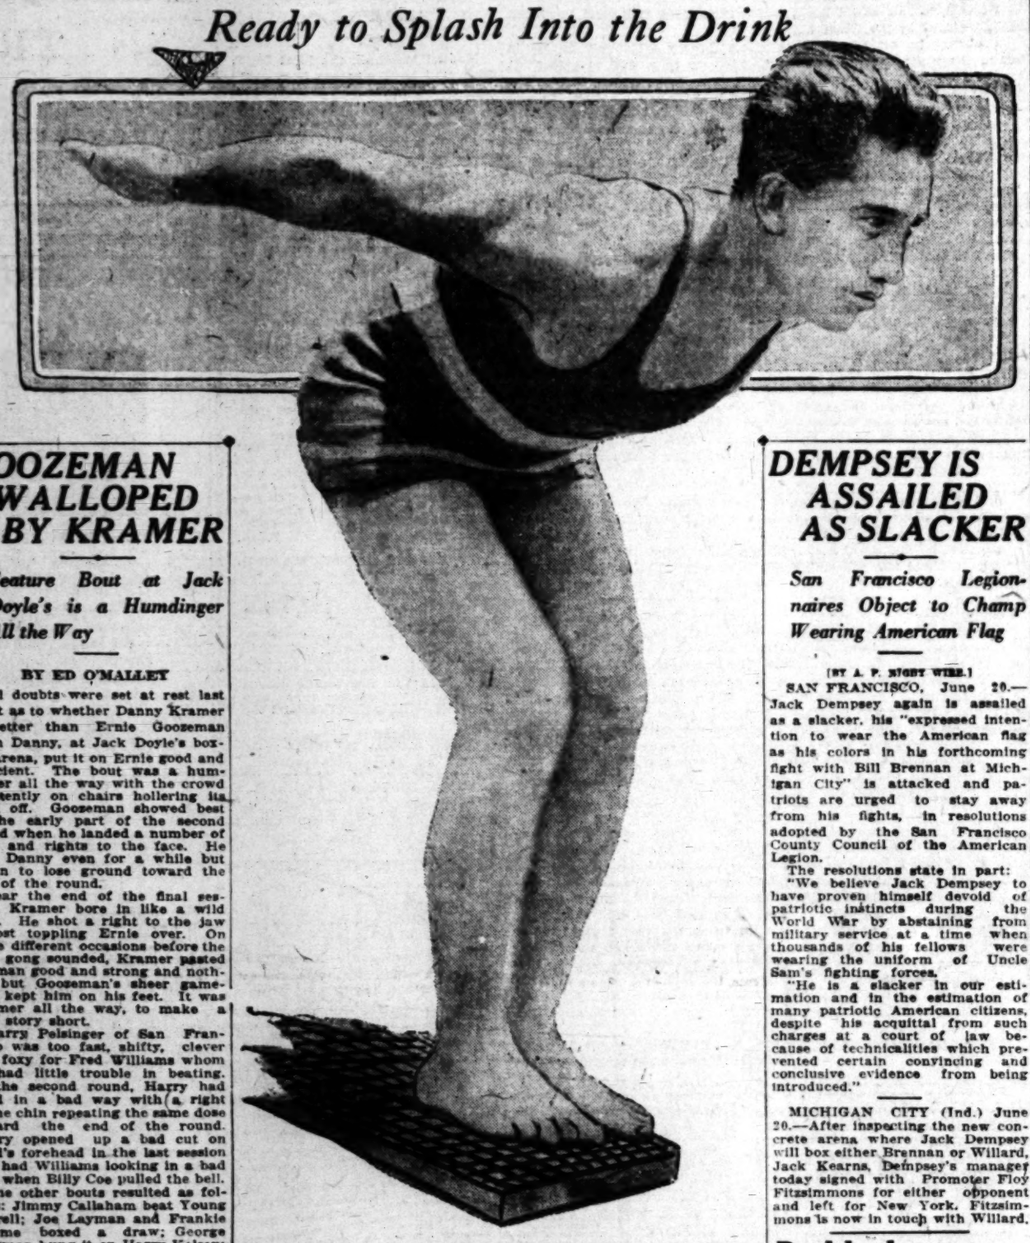
Ready to Splash Into the Drink



Duke Kahanamoku Swims in Mercury Club Tank

Ladies and gentlemen, we have with us this morning the famous bronzed duke, who is about to take an early-morning plunge into the Los Angeles Athletic Club pool. The aquatic marvel arrived in the city Monday and is preparing to compete in the 50 and 100-yard free-style events in the club swimfest to be staged on June 25. Kahanamoku's real purpose in deserting his island home is to enter the movie game here.

GOOZEMAN WALLOPED BY KRAMER

Feature Bout at Jack Doyle's is a Humdinger All the Way

BY ED O'MALLEY

All doubts were set at rest last night as to whether Danny Kramer is better than Ernie Goozeman when Danny, at Jack Doyle's boxing arena, put it on Ernie good and sufficient. The bout was a humdinger all the way with the crowd frequently on chairs hollering its head off. Goozeman showed best in the early part of the second round when he landed a number of lefts and rights to the face. He held Danny even for a while but began to lose ground toward the end of the round.

Near the end of the final session, Kramer bore in like a wild man. He shot a right to the jaw almost toppling Ernie over. On three different occasions before the final gong sounded, Kramer pasted his man good and strong and nothing but Goozeman's sheer gameness kept him on his feet. It was Kramer all the way, to make a long story short.

Harry Pelsinger of San Francisco was too fast, shifty, clever and foxy for Fred Williams whom he had little trouble in beating. In the second round, Harry had Fred in a bad way with a right to the chin repeating the same dose toward the end of the round. Harry opened up a bad cut on Fred's forehead in the last session and had Williams looking in a bad way when Billy Coe pulled the bell.

The other bouts resulted as follows: Jimmy Callaham beat Young Farrell; Joe Layman and Frankie Jerome boxed a draw; George Sherman hung it on Harry Kelsey; Hal Clarke and Joe Grimm drew, and Jack Moore whipped Tom Whitney, knocking his man out in the second round.

DEMPSEY IS ASSAILED AS SLACKER

San Francisco Legionnaires Object to Champ Wearing American Flag

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—Jack Dempsey again is assailed as a slacker, his "expressed intention to wear the American flag as his colors in his forthcoming fight with Bill Brennan at Michigan City" is attacked and patriots are urged to stay away from his fights, in resolutions adopted by the San Francisco County Council of the American Legion.

The resolutions state in part:

"We believe Jack Dempsey to have proven himself devoid of patriotic instincts during the World War by abstaining from military service at a time when thousands of his fellows were wearing the uniform of Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

"He is a slacker in our estimation and in the estimation of many patriotic American citizens, despite his acquittal from such charges at a court of law because of technicalities which prevented certain convincing and conclusive evidence from being introduced."

Paddock to try for New Marks on July Fourth

Definite plans were adopted and a program announced for the July 4 athletic carnival to be given in Santa Barbara at the regular monthly meeting of the Southern Pacific branch of the A.A.U. in the Los Angeles Athletic Club last night.

Charles W. Paddock, world's champion sprinter, is to compete in three events in which he will try for the following records: First race—50, 60, 70, 100 yards; second race—75, 80, 100, 120 yards; third race—65, 100, 125, 175 yards. The track will be eighteen feet in width and five other sprint stars probably will compete against Paddock including Eddie Sudden of San Francisco. The first race will start at 1:30 p.m. Swimming events will also be staged.

Paddock denied the report from St. Louis last night that he would compete in the national championships to be held in the East in September. The champion declared that he did not have the time to properly prepare for such a meet.

Klawiter and Elkeles drew a bye.
Caley and Welton play Ranft and Reiser.

SECOND DIVISION

Read and Stanton play Casey and Brown.
Childs and Butler play Hoke and Swarthout.
Clune and Wetherby drew a bye.
Hogan and Stanton play Golding and Olney.
Fress and Dodge drew a bye.
Mahoney and Tyrrel drew a bye.
Holtz and Hillman play Sessions and Farber.
Keppen and Pugliano play Berry and Gilbeau.

CHICAGO UNIVERSITY COPS GOLFING TITLE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 20.—The University of Chicago golf team won the first official golf championship of the Western Conference at the Midlothian Country Club today, with a low combined medal score of 639.

Michigan was second with a combined medal score of 665. Wisconsin third with 668 and Illinois fourth with 678.

TEAM MATCHES ON TODAY

Flintridge and Victoria Golf Club Squads Will Battle on Annandale Course

Two ten-men golf teams, one representing the Flintridge club and the other representing the Victoria club of Riverside, have been matched to play over the Annandale course today. Both teams are evenly matched and a hot contest is expected to ensue.

George Cline, who looks out for team golf in Southern California, will personally take charge of today's contest.

The Flintridge squad is a tough ten to beat, composed of Fred Wright, E. C. Thompson, Henry MacKey, Ralph Reynolds, G. F. Black, H. L. Blake, A. J. Mayer, Lawrence Barker, F. S. Baer and H. S. Webb. However, the team from Riverside is not to be sneezed at, having in its personnel a number of crack gutta percha manipulators. Following is the list of the men representing the Victoria club: J. F. Gore, E. K. Flemming, R. D. Skelly, R. D. Osborne, R. M. Irving, W. C. Davison, Dr. C. W. Gridlestone, H. G. Pattee, Maj. Glass and M. Gore.

Play in the second round of the president's cup golf tournament at the Hillcrest Country Club has been fast and furious. In the feature match of the round H. A. Politz won out after being 2 down and 4 to play, sinking a forty-foot putt on the home green to achieve victory.

One of the surprises was the defeat of L. W. Barnett by R. G. Wolff. The score was 3 up. E. H. Elkeles had no trouble in disposing of J. Lowenstein, 5 and 4, and C. S. Ullman defeated Fred Sigel, 4 and 3. M. E. Hoffman disposed of M. C. Alder, 5 and 4.

John Levi, one of the junior players, rang up an eagle 2 on the fifteenth green by holing his mashie pitch. Professional Ed Gayer believes he has the requisites of a sound golfer.

Fred Wright, the elongated Bostonian, who has turned Californian, leaves tonight for Kansas City, Mo., where he will play in the western amateur golf championships as a representative of Southern California.

Wright is in splendid form, and should be a dangerous contender if not a winner in the western championships. In an exhibition match at the Los Angeles Country Club last week he turned in a dandy 71, one stroke under par.

T. L. Campbell won the Hollywood club championship by defeating Jack Sanford, 2 and 1, over the thirty-six-hole route. Sanford put up a plucky fight, but the veteran tournament player was right on his game and came through to victory. One of the surprises of the tournament was the defeat of Dr. T. E. Seddon by Sanford in the semifinals. Many of the Hollywood boys had picked Seddon for the new champion, but after being three down at one stage of the game, Sanford pulled a come-back and nosed into win on the home green, 1 up.

The finals of the other flights will be played today when Earl Chapin meets W. H. Richards for second flight honors. R. C. Spencer meets F. S. DeVoin in the third flight; George Shaefer meets Bob Dexter in the fourth flight, and R. B. Dorney meets either George

GOLF BALLS TO SELL FOR A DIME

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 20.—A golf ball to sell for 10 cents has been put on the market, and is now being handled by a large chain store organization. It is produced by a tire company and on account of the low price it is inferred that scrap rubber is used. The wholesale price is $9 a gross.

Those who have used the new product say it is as lively as other makes and will stand rough handling even better.

VERNON STEPS ON PORTLAND

League Leaders Cinch Game in Eighth Frame

Umpire Carroll Gets in Bad With Some Fans

Officers Called to Escort Him from Grounds

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS

Much of the old ball game was played prior to the seventh, but the real excitement was reserved for that generally fatal round.

This excitement was so acute that at the conclusion of Vernon's 9 to 7 victory over Portland, it was necessary for three uniformed officers to escort, Jack Carroll, field umpire, to his den under the stand. Several hundred infuriated cash customers craved one of Mr. Carroll's ears as a souvenir of the happy occasion. Others would have compromised on a wisp of hair from his forelock, while the more rabid desired his scalp intact. But Jack's ears seemed the most sought mementoes. One guy remarked that he would like to have an ear for a watch fob.

NO RIOT CALL

However, there was no riot call and no charge of the light brigade behind sawed-off shot guns. Apparently it was a bum day for southpaws. Jakie May and Sam Ross had ducked early, the former in the second inning and Sam in the third. Doyle and Freeman were chucking when the teams swung into the seventh with Vernon leading, 6 to 5, and a slight shove one way or another figured to upset the beans.

Dick Cox, ex-pugilist, and second up in seventh, swung a haymaker on one of Doyle's, and the result was a three-bagger to right center, figuratively speaking. A tied score loomed in the offing, it was opined. But after the dust had settled and Cox had cooled his heels at third a bit, somebody experienced a sudden inspiration and returned the ball to second base, where it was held.

RULES HIM OUT

Umpire Jack Carroll immediately ruled Cox out on the theory that he failed to touch second base. Rules read that bases are high spots on the map, and therefore must be touched in succession. Apparently there is little doubt that Dick neglected this simple duty, as Carroll was in a perfect position to observe minutely the performances of the runner's pedal extremities, their acts and their omissions.

But what roused the crowd and players was the charge that Carroll by some sort of action called the Vernon players' attention to this oversight. Anyway, pandemonium at once broke loose and made five yards through center. Long, violent argument resulted in the bouncing of Cox. Attempts of announcer from that point on to make his sweet voice heard were useless. He had many changes to announce from then on, but his well-modulated tones were swallowed up and sunk in the repeated roars from stands and bleachers. After a time the game proceeded with Gressett grounding to Smith for the third out.

KEEPS WALKING

Game stood at 6 to 5 when the eighth, another trouble spot, opened. Joe Sargent stuck around the plate until the count stood three balls and one strike. On the next one, right over the plate, he threw away his bat and started to walk. Umpire Toman told him to keep right on walking. It was a warm day under the collar as well as elsewhere, and Mr. Toman was in no mood to have an athlete attempt to get gay with him.

He wiped Sargent out of the picture, and Rowdy Elliott went in to take what was left at the plate. With count 3 and 2 he grounded to French, but Ray fumbled and Rowdy limped to first ahead of the error. Walter Leverenz was substituted to run for him. Brazil walked and McCann sacrificed, putting runners on second and third with one down. Poole was purposely passed, filling the bases. Even a fly meant

KILBANE LOSES CLAIM TO TITLE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 20.—The New York State Boxing Commission today ruled that Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland had vacated his title of world's featherweight champion by failing to accept the challenge of Johnny Dundee of New York. Kilbane no longer will be recognized in New York State as the champion.

LES TURNER SIGNS TO COACH HERE

U.S.C. Basketball Stock Takes Big Rise With Addition of Mentor

With the addition of Les Turner, former basketball coach at the Broadway High School of Seattle, to the U.S.C. coaching squad, Trojan basketball stock has taken a decided rise. Turner, who will coach the Trojan quintet, has had much success in turning out championship fives at the Seattle institution and he is out to continue his successes here. The northern mentor sent in his signed contract yesterday.

Les Turner

Next year Pacific Coast Conference basketball will be carried out on a different plan, the conference being divided into two sections, the winner of one to meet the winner of the other.

California, Stanford and University of Southern California will compose the southern league. Oregon, Oregon Agriculture College, Washington, Washington State and Idaho complete the northern section.

Each team will play the other teams in its division four times, twice on its home court and twice on the opponents' court. The Trojan five will make two trips north for two-game series with the Bears and the Cardinals. Stanford and California quintets will also appear for two games each on the local court.

A coaching course will be introduced at the summer session of the University of Southern California, it was announced last night by Graduate Manager Gwyn Wilson. Football, track, baseball and basketball will be the subjects offered to the embryo mentors when the class opens on July 3. Elmer Henderson and Willis Hunter will handle the gridiron sport and the latter will also instruct in baseball coaching. Dean Cromwell will handle track, while Les Turner has been engaged to teach basketball.

BRITISHERS TRIUMPH IN DAVIS PLAY

Great Britain Enters Second Round of International Tennis Competition

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROEHAMPTON, June 20.—The British Isles Davis cup team today won its way into the second round by defeating the Italian team in the doubles, 6-1, 6-4, 6-0. Today's win gave them three matches to nothing over the visitors. The British pair was Maj. Algernon R. F. Kingscote and Frank Riseley and the Italians, Cesare Colombo and Count Dirobecco.

The Italians were unable to put up any sort of a game. They were not acquainted with the conditions of grass court play and also showed nervousness, which seriously affected all their stroke plays.

On the other hand the Englishman served well. Kingscote was brilliant in his overhead kills, while Riseley intercepted well when his partner was receiving service.

BECKENHAM, June 20.—India has won the right to enter the second round of the Davis cup tennis contests by defeating Rumania. The victory was clinched by the defeat of Nichols Mishu of Rumania by A. H. Fyzee of the India team today, the Indian winning, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1.

BOSTON BRAVES SHUT OUT BY JOHNNY COUCH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, June 20.—Couch of Cincinnati held Boston to two hits today, Cincinnati winning, 2 to, 0. Singles by Caveney, Pinelli and Daubert and Burns's sacrifice fly in the fifth, gave Cincinnati its two runs. Not until the eighth did a Boston man reach first. The score:

HENRY BRUCE TO BE WEDDED

Henry Bruce, former graduate manager of athletics at the University of Southern California, is to be married June 29 to Miss Margaret Straus, who was graduated from the university in 1920. The announcement was made last night by Coach Elmer Henderson, and corroborated by Gwynn Wilson, present graduate manager. The bridegroom-to-be is now acting in the capacity of assistant purchasing manager at U.S.C. He is a member of the Phi Alpha fraternity and of the Skull and Daggers' honorary society. Miss Straus belongs to the Pi Beta Phi sorority, and has been active in social service work since her graduation from the university.

Power with Economy

The sturdiness of Nash has been proven in competitive and other tests on many occasions. Its power was demonstrated in its record runs between Los Angeles and Salt Lake; Los Angeles and Bishop, and Los Angeles and Phoenix.

The economy of the Nash is common knowledge among the thousands of satisfied owners in Southern California.

Almost 5000 OWNERS in Southern California

They Got a Mile of Concrete Road for Nothing

At a quarry in the Imperial Valley, California, where aggregates were being obtained for another addition to the State's system of Concrete roads, the methods used in screening the stone caused a waste of 35 per cent.

One of the Portland Cement Association field engineers interested in the progress of this work called attention to studies made by our Structural Materials Research Laboratory on the selection and proportioning of materials for Concrete. He suggested that proper application of these might considerably reduce the waste. A change in the method of screening materials was therefore adopted, reducing the waste to only 15 per cent. without lowering the strength of the Concrete.

Now the stone is costing 42 cents instead of $1 a ton, as estimated when the contract was let this year, as against $1.45 actual cost last year. On the mileage to be built, this means a saving of more than $30,000, which will be used to build more Concrete road—at no cost to the taxpayers.

This is but one example of the value of our laboratory studies to users of Concrete. The Laboratory's work is to develop continually, without cost to the public, better and more economical methods of making and using Concrete under all conditions.

The Laboratory is one of the numerous services maintained by the Portland Cement Association—the joint research and educational foundation of 85 independent manufacturers in the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Cuba, conducted for the benefit of those who want dependable information on how to use Concrete.

Suggestions as to how our work may be made more useful to you are invited.

Yacht Club to Open Season With Short Spin

SLOOPS RACE NEXT SUNDAY

Spin Will be Over Twelve-Mile Course

Chairman Jeffers Declares Six Will Start

Vite, Former Speed Wonder, to be in Contest

Another big time is on for the members of the Los Angeles Yacht Club this coming week-end, it was learned yesterday from Secretary E. R. Abbott. On Saturday night, a dinner and dance will take place at the clubhouse at Wilmington and as usual is expected to attract an overflow crowd.

Sunday afternoon, the first of the season's sailing races will be held. From present weather observations an ideal day should favor the windjammers. The race will be over a twelve-mile course for sloops. A preparatory gun will be fired at 12:55 and at 1 o'clock sharp, the starting gun will be fired.

Miner Hill's end is the starting point. Thence the ships will sail to the end of the breakwater and thence to the bell buoy off Point Firmin, leaving that mark to port and then sailing on the reach to the buoy off the Long Beach jetty, leaving that mark to port and then back to the starting point.

Paul Jeffers, chairman of the sailing division of the regatta committee, announced that at least six ships would be in the race. Jeffers's famed Wasp is on the ways, but will be off by Saturday.

The good ship Vite, the former racing wonder of Benny Weston's and now owned by Brooks Hays will be entered. The Galliano and the Mischief II, two other well-known racing sloops are not in commission.

ROYAL TIME

From July 1 to 4, inclusive, a royal time is scheduled for the Los Angeles yachtmen. A cruise to Avalon is arranged. On July 4, the Wrigley trophy and the Catalina Island trophy will be raced for by the motor-boat owners.

A free-for-all race will be put on for the chewing-gum magnate's cup, while the other trophy is up for the 610 cubic inch displacement class boats. The latter events are becoming popular, the boats being the type of Hal Tuttle's Valve in Head I and Ralph Hamlin's Joker.

RACKETERS CLASH AT SAN DIEGO

Four-Man Team Will Go South to Play in the Inter-City Tourney

A four-man team, composed of the winners of first, second, third and fourth places in the recent Advertising Club tournament, will leave shortly to represent this organization in an Inter-City Ad Club tourney to be held at San Diego immediately after the annual convention of the Pacific Coast Advertising Clubs Association, set for June 25-29.

H. S. Culver, singles champ of the local outfit, has a trio of teammates that promise to make it very interesting for their rivals. J. J. ("Flash") Stedem, he of the hurried feet, ranks second and if he doesn't do anything else, he will worry his opponents by scooting hither and yon across the court.

T. W. Perine, title-holder at the end of last season's play, and prominent in Pasadena tennis circles, is the third member of the squad. Dwight Jennings is the fourth man, and considering the fact that all these men are engaged daily in the turmoil of the advertising profession, they have perfected their game to an extent well worthy of note.

It is believed San Francisco, San Diego, Fresno, Stockton, Sacramento, Portland, Tacoma, Spokane and Seattle will send representative teams to the convention city.

OAKS PILE MORE WOE ON SEATTLE INDIANS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OAKLAND, June 20.—Brenton pitched excellent ball today and gave Oakland a 4-to-1 victory over Seattle. But one man reached third for the Indians, Cueto, who got to second in the ninth on Marriott's two-base error and scored on Adams's hit. The Oaks won the game in the second frame with two runs, resulting from Cather's single, Marriott's triple and Brubaker's double.

MOLLA MALLORY WINS IN TWO MATCHES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ROEHAMPTON (Eng.) June 20. In tournament play here this afternoon Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory defeated Mrs. R. C. Clayton, 6-4, 6-1. In the doubles, Mrs. Mallory and Miss Edith Sigourney won from Miss Hardy and Miss Hertall, 6-2, 6-3.

Recently a fan asked me whom I considered the most improved baseball player in the Coast League.

Probably he expected me to name Jimmy O'Connell or Willie Kamm, those athletes having been played up in a way to somewhat obscure all others. But where Jimmie and Willie belong is on the financial page. Not that they aren't good players, but mention of them is generally coupled with coin.

After a moment's reflection I stated that my answer would necessarily be in the plural, because there came to mind two remarkably improved ball players—meaning Ray French of the Tigers and Billy McCabe of the Angels.

McCabe was unfortunate in the majors in that no regular place was open for him. At least, he was not given one, and seemed to be regarded chiefly as a reserve player. As a result of much bench warming he had to start all over again when he came to the Coast, and it was not until this season that he struck anything like his real stride.

Then there is another factor in his improvement. Last season he was at second base, despite the fact that he protested repeatedly that he is an outfielder and not an infielder. Transferred to center field this season his work has improved. McCabe probably never will rank among the great fly chasers of the game and apparently has some trouble judging a ball until it is well on its way. But he is fast and enough of a ball hawk to get them. His hitting has been extremely timely and, therefore, dangerous, while his baserunning has been of a high order, not possibly in sheer number of stolen bases, although they have been numerous, but in the judgment which he has displayed in pulling his stuff on the paths. McCabe is 50 per cent improved over last season.

And the same or more goes for Ray French. The writer took a fancy for this player when he broke in at third base under Derby Day Bill Clymer on the Seattle club.

Despite the fact that I saw him only in something like three or four games, there was something about his work which impressed me. Frequently I have found first impressions of new ball players more dependable than a close study and analysis of their work. The real ball player generally is stamped with an indefinable something even in boyhood. As a rule you can spot him at first sight. Later he may fail through illness, injury, lack of confidence of a species of management which takes the heart out of him. But potentially he is the stuff. First impressions in this matter seldom are at fault.

The next time I saw French, two or three years later, was at short for Vernon. He did not look so well in that position. But he is rapidly mastering it with remarkable adaptability, although I can't get away from the idea that he is a natural third baseman and might eventually have proven greater in that position. However, he is doing very well as it is and probably will prove to be the logical successor to Everett Scott at short for the Yankees.

How many of the daily customers at Washington Park ever stopped to reflect that Ham Hyatt, sometimes known as C. Hercules, is one of the best hitters in great national-pastime annals.

Had Ham been a bit better fielder his name would repose alongside those of the truly great. Hyatt can field around first up to minor-league standards, as he has amply demonstrated here, and is surprisingly fast for a man of his heft, proved when the watch was held on him while circling the bases last spring. But he lacked the fielding finesse to win a regular position in the majors. However, he was carried several seasons on sheer pinch-hitting ability. It is doubtful whether there ever was a man more feared in a pinch.

Del Howard was recalling Hyatt's work in Pittsburg when Del was with the Cubs.

"When Ham came to bat we took it for granted he would get a hit," said Howard. "If we could hold him to a mere single we were satisfied."

Probably it is not generally known that Ham holds one unusual record. That is for "pinch home runs." As a pinch hitter Hyatt delivered three homers for the Pirates in 1913, a feat never duplicated.

a tied score, but Kilhulen couldn't get the ball that high. He grounded into a double play, Smith to Sawyer to Hyatt.

TWO IN EIGHTH

Vernon made it binding by scoring two in the home half of eighth. French singled and stole second, taking third on a balk. He was held there on Hannah's roller to the box, but scored on Doyle's grounder to McCann when Kilhulen, after getting bumped in the head by the runner, dropped the ball. It is doubtful whether French has touched the plate yet, but as Portland didn't take the trouble to investigate, the run stands etched in the records for all time, or until our hieroglyphics go the way of dead languages not yet resurrected.

Smith singled Doyle to second, and Jess counted on Chadbourne's single to center, colliding with Kilhulen's head as he crossed the plate. Mr. Kilhulen exposes his head entirely too much. He should stick it down in the sand and block the runner with his haunches held high in the air. Doyle didn't touch the plate when he first crossed it, but came back and attended to this somewhat important detail. If one can't be punctilious, he should at least be careful. Score:

FISTIC FLASH IN ZIPPY BOUT

Martinez to Meet Tough Lad in Bob Browning

Boxers Hook Up at L.A.A.C. Tomorrow Night

Salas and Gotto to Clash in Semi-Wind-up

Manuel Martinez, the local fistic flash, will have a rather busy evening on his hands when he appears in the main event of the boxing show that will be held at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, Thursday evening.

The peppery little scrapper has drawn a seasoned and tough opponent in Bob Browning. There is considerable at stake for Martinez, as he is the Pacific Coast amateur bantamweight champion, while Browning holds a couple of titles himself.

Browning formerly represented the Kansas City Athletic Club where he reigned as bantamweight champion. In addition, the invader won the championship of the Southwestern Department of the United States Army in his weight division.

Because of the prestige that both boys have, considerable interest is being taken in the affair and George Blake, boxing instructor of the Athletic Club, anticipates one of the largest crowds that has ever attended a boxing program at the Mercury institution.

Browning is a more rugged boy than Martinez. He is fast and knows all the tricks of the game. In his workouts he has shown a dandy left hand, while his right mitt carries a load of T.N.T. when it lands.

Martinez and Browning are evenly matched. A furious fray is expected when they get going. As a main event, Blake has signed two of the classiest boys of their weight to be found in the West.

Just to add spice to the program, Blake has lined up two good heavyweights who will box the curtain-raiser. Sam Elzman and Murray Miller are the two young giants who will clash in this event and plenty of socking should attend the match.

DE PAOLA TO WED

Peter De Paola, noted automobile racing driver, nephew of Ralph De Palma, will be wedded here today to Miss Evelyn Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis, of this city. The ceremony will take place at the St. Ignatius Echo Park Church.

BIG POWER for BIG TRUCKS

If you want to keep your truck trouble-proof, feed it "Red Crown" and nothing else.

The quality of "Red Crown" is always the same, whenever and wherever you buy it. It vaporizes rapidly and uniformly in the carburetor. And it burns completely in the combustion chambers, converting all its heat units into power at the driving wheels. That means a better average mileage, and a sweeter-running engine.

Bees Smack Angel Dealer for Three Homers

Kallio Batted Hard, but He Pulls Through

Seraphs Drop Opening Contest by 6 to 5

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SALT LAKE, June 20.—The Angel herd invaded Salt Lake today for the first time this season, but they were repulsed by the Bees with notable success. When the harps and lyres and tom toms had ceased their noises it was found that Salt Lake had won the opening game of the series by 6 to 5. The locals had the pleasure of defeating Elmer Ponder, the league's leading pitcher, and they accomplished this by the simple expedient of knocking the ball over the lfence three times. It was an exciting contest because the visitors had the bases either wholly or partially loaded al the timle. Twice they were forced to retreat with three on. They saw an even dozen of their members marooned on the sacks.

On the other hand the Bees contented themselves with putting on only those who were reasonably certain of being knocked off. Thus while the Angels had twelve left on bases the Bees had only four.

The visitors batted Rudy Kallio a number of times, but he managed to sneak out of some perilous holes. The Angels had considerable luck with their hitting. Once a seeming cinch put out was turned into a hit when the ball bounded over Sands's head and a short time later when the same thing happened to Siglin.

Two errors on one play gave the Angels two of their runs in the eighth inning. After walking the first batsman to face him in the ninth, Kallio was relieved by Thurston who, pitching to two batters, retired the side and ended the game.

Ponder was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Claude Thomas finished the game.

BABE RUTH THREATENS UMP AGAIN

Clevelanders Avert Clash Between Peeved Slugger and Arbiter

CLEVELAND (O.) June 20.—Angered because of his suspension for three days by President B. B. Johnson of the American League, "Babe" Ruth, baseball's most famous batsman, threatened Umpire Bill Dineen and only prompt interference by members of the Cleveland Indians, averted a clash between the two prior to today's game between New York and Cleveland.

Ruth's suspension followed his expulsion from yesterday's game by Umpire Dineen because of abusive language used toward the arbiter. The champion batsman was informed of President Johnson's ruling today.

After participating in practice with his team, Ruth encountered Dineen at the Cleveland dugout while on his way to the clubhouse.

"If you ever put me out of a game again, I'll fix you so you will never umpire again, even if they put me out of baseball for life," Ruth is alleged to have said.

An argument then ensued in which Ruth told Dineen, "You're yellow."

"No one ever accused me of being yellow," Dineen retorted.

Further words passed between the two, during which Ruth is alleged to have called Dineen a vile name and to have invited the latter to accompany him beneath the grand stand, at the same time doubling up his fists and walking toward the umpire.

Dineen thereupon threw down his mask and prepared for action, but before any blows were struck, Manager Speaker, Steve O'Neill and "Stuffy" McInnis intervened, and persuaded Ruth to go to the clubhouse.

Charles W. Paddock, world's champion sprinter, and Duke Kahanamoku, who holds the world's swimming records, played in a session at the Annandale Golf Club yesterday with Fred J. Wright, national amateur golfer, and D. Scott Chisholm. Wright scored 78, while Paddock made a 272-yard drive. Wright and the Duke defeated Chisholm by 1 up.

WRESTLERS DO STUFF AT POLY HIGH TODAY

Nine championship wrestling bouts are scheduled to come off today in the Polytechic High School gym. The matches, which are under the supervision of the Poly Boys' League, are the finals of the wrestling tournament which has been running out at the Washington street school for the past three weeks.

Hercules Wilson and Hank Oudermeulin will do battle for the unlimited title. These two youngsters, who both weigh in the neighborhood of 180 pounds, are a rough pair and a good match is expected to result. Wilson is also in the finals of the 175-pound class, Vosberg being his opponent in this match. The other matches follow:

The 158-pound class, Marvin and Hamell; 145-pound class, McCarter and Maurice; 135-pound class, Sharp and Erlinger; 125-pound class, Stowell and Reynolds; 115-pound class, Ivaniser and McNulty; 108-pound class, Kinabe and Berry; ninety-pound class, Hoffman and Tremain.

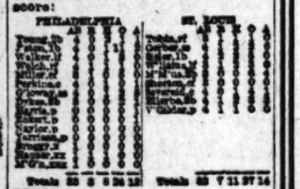
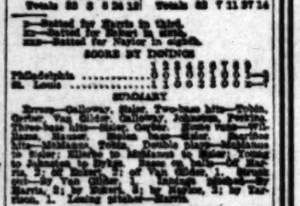
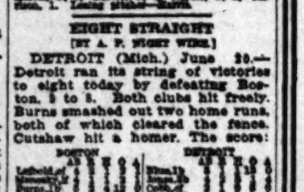
[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

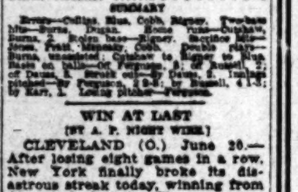
ST. LOUIS, June 20.—The Browns romped over Philadelphia today, winning 7 to 3, and compelling Connie Mack to use, without avail, four pitchers and three pinch-hitters. Kenneth Williams slammed out his eighteenth homer of the season in the fifth, putting the ball over the right-field stand and bringing in Sisler, who had tripled ahead of him. Eckart was in the box at the time.

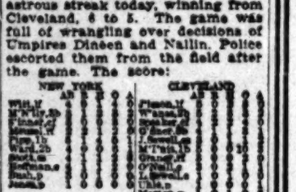
Hauser, batting for Eckert, duplicated Williams's performance in the sixth, sending the first ball pitched over the same route Williams's circuit clout went. The score:

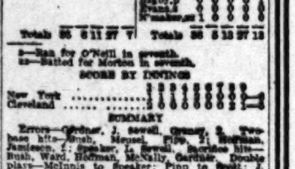








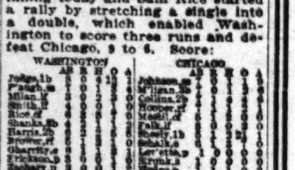


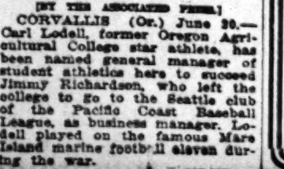


EIGHT STRAIGHT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DETROIT (Mich.) June 20.—Detroit ran its string of victories to eight today by defeating Boston, 5 to 4. Both clubs hit freely. Burns smashed out two home runs, both of which cleared the fence. Cutshaw hit a homer. The score:





WIN AT LAST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CLEVELAND (O.) June 20.—After losing eight games in a row, New York finally broke its disastrous streak today, winning from Cleveland, 6 to 5. The game was full of wrangling over decisions of Umpires Dineen and Nallin. Police escorted them from the field after the game. The score:

WINS IN THIRTEENTH

CHICAGO, June 20.—Urban Faber weakened in the thirteenth inning today and Sam Rice started a rally by stretching a single into a double, which enabled Washington to score three runs and defeat Chicago, 9 to 6. Score:

FORMER AGGIE STAR IS STUDENT MANAGER

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CORVALLIS (Or.) June 20.—Carl Lodell, former Oregon Agricultural College star athlete, has been named general manager of student athletics here to succeed Jimmy Richardson, who left the college to go to the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, as business manager. Lodell played on the famous Mare Island marine football eleven during the war.

LOCOMOBILE

The last word in de luxe road travel, the strongest and safest car America has ever produced, second to none in the world. It was never finer than now—highly perfected up to the minute in every small detail. It carries a unique Guarantee, proving the accuracy of its excellence. It will be kept in the lead by the men who made it famous, and who have dedicated themselves to its perfection, refusing to follow their old policy of limited production to insure the highest quality.

Make a "Greyhound" of —that "Kangaroo" Car

By John Eliot

"Sudden Get-away"

A MAN said to me once:—
"Say, John,—which is that Econo-Mist,—a Kangaroo or a Greyhound?"
"I don't get you," says I. "Explanation it!"
"Well,—the Kangaroo JUMPS off from Scratch, and the Greyhound GLIDES off," said he.
"Same kind of difference as between the 'Jimtown Junction Local' and the 'California Limited.'
"The Jimtown Local train pulls out of the Station with a Snort—a Spinning of Driving Wheels, a grinding of rails, a stream of Sparks and,— —Sudden "Get-away."
"It starts with a Jump, and seats all passengers automatically.
"It Burns up the Rolling Stock,—Wears out the Road-bed,—Makes a Grand-Stand Beginning and then,—settles down to its regular 15 Miles per hour Schedule.
"But,—the California Limited of L. A. or the 20th Century Limited of N. Y. are entirely different performers.
"They start off SMOOTHLY, with such velvety Acceleration, that Passengers only realize the speed by looking out the Windows.

Smoothness, Silence and Velvety Acceleration

"YOU see, John,—the ABLEST Locomotive Engineers in America are promoted to drive the FASTEST and COSTLIEST Trains.
"And these Ablest Engineers KNOW the HIGH-COST of 'Sudden Get-away.'
"They know that Smoothness, Silence, and GRADUAL Acceleration are the hall-marks of EXPERT driving.
"They know that the momentary Burst of Speed in the 'Sudden Get-away' is not only ruinous to Driving Wheels and Road-bed, but marks the AMATEUR in Train Operation.
"They know, too, that the '20th Century,'—the 'California Limited,'—or the 'Broadway Limited,' Trains have no USE for Amateur Drivers.
"Well,—what I want to know from you, John,—is this:
"Which breed of Carburetor is that there 'ECONO-MIST' you are talking about in the papers?
"Is it a Kangaroo or is it a Greyhound?
"Does it deliver the 'Sudden Get-away' of the Jimtown Local Train,—regardless of Expense,
"Or,—
"Does it deliver the Smoothly Graduated Acceleration of the 'California Limited?'
"Will it Burn up my Tires, Grind up my Clutch,—maybe Strip the Gears of my Transmission, or Yank the teeth out of my Differential,—in 'Sudden Get-away,' Kangaroo fashion?
"Or,—
"Can it qualify as a Greyhound, by BEATING the Kangaroo in the first block of Travel, while Accelerating so smoothly, and with such graduated rapidity that neither my Tires, Clutch, Differential or Gears experience any Strain, or are Conscious of any attempt on MY part to Astonish the Natives?"
So said the Man to me—John Eliot!
And here's where I reply PUBLICLY to him, and to all Whom it may Concern:—

The Gliding Greyhound

This Luxury Carburetor must Pay for Itself

THE Econo-Mist is NOT a "Kangaroo" Carburetor. It is a cross between a Greyhound and a Bear.
It starts the Car Smoothly, Silently, Gradually, and Powerfully, just like the "California Limited."
Its velvety acceleration reaches Maximum Speed long before the "Sudden Get-away" Carburetor has choked with its own Gasoline and slowed down because of that.
In a short City block it will out-distance any "Kangaroo" Carburetor, though it will NOT "Jump" from Standstill.
Because of its wonderful Multiple-Pore (or Multiple-Jet) Distributor, it feeds the Gasoline GRADUALLY,—uncovering its 10 to 20 Jets in sequence, ADDING ONLY ONE JET AT A TIME, until the full quota required is delivered in a steadily accelerating Power-Stream that closely approximates Steam.
This velvety "building-up" of Power not only results in a delightful Luxury-of-Motion, but in the following:
—GREAT ECONOMY ON TIRES AND REPAIRS, as well as Great Economy on GASOLINE.

No other Carburetor equals the "Econopist" average in Miles-per-Gallon of Gasoline.
The exclusive Selling-System under which each "Econo-Mist" Carburetor must Pay-for-Itself out of Gasoline it Saves, is evidence of that.
But,—for every Dollar it Saves to Car-Owners on GASOLINE it will save, we believe, TWO Dollars on Repairs, and Tires.
You need not take our WORD for this.
Bring your Car around to the Proving Station of the Motor Economists, at 3000 S. Main St., and make your own investigation there.

The Proving Station Test

FIRST you will Test out the Miles-per-Gallon your own Carburetor delivers, on the Certified Proving Ground.
Then you will Test out the Miles-per-Gallon, and Smoothness of Operation, of your Car under selfsame conditions, with an "ECONO-MIST" Self-Paying Carburetor.
When the Test proves, to your Satisfaction, an increase of 22% to 150%,—with such Luxury-of-Motion as your Car never before delivered,—you may then KEEP the Econo-Mist Carburetor, on the following terms:
Pay us the first Month's proven Gasoline-Saving down,—sign our Pay-as-it-saves-its-Cost Contract, and,—drive away.
Under this Contract you pay each Month only the Saving demonstrated by the Proving Station Test, until the Econo-Mist Carburetor has thus PAID FOR ITSELF without a penny of Ultimate Cost to you.
Bring your Car around to the Proving Station and See!

Jack O'Judgment

By Edgar Wallace...

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS

"Snow" Gregory, an Oxford man who "went to the bad" through drugs, is murdered at the order of Col. Dan Boundary, leader of a blackmailing gang, who immediately thereafter finds himself frustrated at every turn by a sinister, masked foe calling himself "Jack o' Judgment." Boundary boldly demands police protection, but Stafford King, Scotland Yard detective and right-hand man to Commissioner Sir Stanley Belcon, laughs at him. Boundary learns that King is in love with Maisie White, daughter of a member of the gang, and he at once demands that the girl marry Pinto Silva, another gang member, who has long courted her in vain. She refuses. Soon after Boundary is arrested by King. The case hinges on the testimony of one Hansen, former valet of Boundary. As he is about to tell all, he falls over dead, poisoned. Boundary goes free and soon has a Yorkshire mill-owner, Crotin, in his net. He proposes that Crotin sell his mill, worth £300,000 for £90,000, on threat of exposing a secret bigamous marriage. Crotin is about to sign a transfer when Jack o' Judgment appears, snatches the papers, and both secure. Boundary learns Maisie White has been spying on him, and arranges with Phillopolis, a white-slaver, to have her shipped to South America. She is abducted and kept in a stupor in an obscure part of London. Boundary then hires Raoul, a French Apache, to kill Maisie's father, who has threatened to expose the gang. After the crime Jack o' Judgment captures Raoul and puts him to death by hanging in an empty house. Maisie, in captivity, meanwhile, is guarded by Lolla Marsh, one of the gang. Pinto Silva, crazed full of brute passion, overpowers Lolla and approaches the girl's bed. Pulling back its blanket he finds himself face to face with Jack o' Judgment. He falls in a dead faint, and Jack o' Judgment escapes with Maisie, taking her to her home and exacting her promise that she will not reveal to the police where she has been held or by whom.

Chapter XXIII
THE GANG FUND

The news of the girl's escape had been received in another quarter. Col. Boundary had sat in his favorite chair and listened without comment to Pinto's halting explanation.

"Oh, they went out of the window and down a ladder, did they?" said the colonel sarcastically when the Portuguese had finished. "And you had a fit on the mat, I suppose! Well, that's a fine story! And what did you do—you who were plastered all over with guns? Couldn't you shoot?"

"Did you shoot when you saw Jack o' Judgment?" said the other sullenly. "It is no good your telling me what I ought to do."

"Maybe it isn't," said the colonel. "Well, there's nothing to do now, anyway. The girl's gone and all our plans are undone."

The colonel bit off the end of his cigar and lit it, sitting back in the chair and contemplating the ceiling reflectively.

"It just struck me that we might as well go over to the bank and see how our balance stands," said the colonel. Also, with the exchange going against us, I want to tell Ferguson to buy dollars."

The handsome premises of the Victoria & City Bank, in Victoria street, were only a stone's throw from the park; and, whatever might be the views of Ferguson, the manager, as to the colonel's moral character, he had a considerable respect for him as a financier, and Dan Boundary was shown immediately into the manager's office.

He was gone some time, while Pinto waited impatiently outside. The colonel never invited other members, even of the inmost council, to share his knowledge of finances. They all knew roughly the condition of the exchequer, but really the balance at the Victoria & City was the colonel's own. It was the practice of the Boundary gang to share after each coup, every man taking that to which he was entitled. The money was split among five, the sixth share going to what was known as the "Gang Account," a common fund which all could draw in moments of necessity.

The gang fund was not so described in the books of the bank. It was known as "Account B." The expenses of operations were usually paid out of the colonel's private account, and credited to him when the next division took place. He was absolute master of his own balance, but it required three signatures to extract a check from account B. One of the objects of the colonel's visit was to reduce this number to two, the death of Solomon White having removed one of the signatories.

He returned to Pinto, apparently not too well satisfied.

"There's quite a lot of money in the gang account," he said. "I've struck off Solly's name; and your signature and mine, or mine and Crewe's are sufficient now."

"Or mine and Crewe's I suppose?" suggested Pinto, and the colonel smiled.

"Oh, no," said he. "I'm not a great believer in the indispensability of any man, but I'm making the signature of Dan Boundary indispensable before that account is touched."

Chapter XXIV
PINTO GOES NORTH

That night summonses went forth calling the colonel's "business associates" to an "Extraordinary General Meeting of the North European Smelter Syndicate." This was one of the companies which he operated, and the existence of which was justified by a small smelting works in the north of England, and owed its international character to the fact that it had a branch works in Sweden. Its turnover was small, its list of stockholders was select. A summons to a general meeting of the North European Smelter Syndicate meant that the affairs of the gang were critical, and in this spirit the call was obeyed.

The meeting was held in the banquet hall of a West End restaurant, and the twenty men who assembled differed very little in appearance from twenty other provincial business men who might have been gathered to discuss the affairs of any company.

Their coming excited no comment and apparently did not even arouse the attention of vigilant Scotland Yard. Nor, had the colonel's speech been taken down by a shorthand writer and submitted to the police, could any suggestion be found of the significance of the meeting. He spoke of the difficulties of trading, of the "competition" with which the company was faced, and called upon all the shareholders to assist loyally the executive in a very critical and trying time. But those who listened knew very well that the "competition" was the competition of the police, and they had their own ideas as to what constituted the trying time to which the colonel made reference.

It was a very commonplace, ordinary company meeting, which ended in a conventional way by a vote of confidence in the directors. It was when that had been passed, and the meeting had broken up, and members and officials were taking together, that the real business started.

Then it was that Selby, the stout little man, whose special job was to act as intermediary between the company and its more criminal enterprises, received his instructions to speed up. Selby was the receiver of letters. A burglar or a pickpocket who acquired in the course of his activities documents and letters which had hitherto been worthless found a ready market through Selby. Eighty letters out of every hundred were absolutely valueless, but occasionally they would find a rich gem, a love letter indiscreetly cherished, on which a new operation would be based. Then would begin the subtle torturing of a human soul, the opening of a new vistas of despair, the stage cleared for a new tragedy.

The colonel was to find that the chief anxiety of his "shareholders" was not as to the future of the company or as to the success of its trading. Again and again he was asked a question couched in identical words, and again and again he replied with a shrug of his big shoulders.

"What's the good of worrying about a thing like that? Jack o' Judgment is a crook. That's all he is, boys, a crook. He's not the sort of man who'll go to the police; he wouldn't dare put his face inside a police station. You leave him to us; we'll fix him sooner or later."

"But," somebody asked uneasily, "what about Raoul, that fellow who was killed at Putney?"

The colonel lifted his eyebrows.

"Raoul?" he said. "He had nothing to do with us. I never heard the fellow's name until I read it in the paper. As to White"—he shrugged his shoulders again—"we can't prevent people having private quarrels, and maybe this Frenchman and White had one. My theory is," he said, elaborating an idea which had only at that moment occurred to him, "that Raoul, White and this Jack o' Judgment were working together. Maybe it isn't a bad thing that White was killed under the circumstances." He dropped his hand on the other man's shoulder and oozed genially. "Now, back you go, my lads, and don't worry. Leave it to old Dan to fix Jack o' Judgment, or Bill o' Judgment, or Tom o' Judgment, whoever he may be; and that we'll fix him, you can be certain."

Coming away from the meeting, he expressed himself as being perfectly satisfied with its results. He brought Pinto and Crewe back with him in his car, and dropped the latter at Piccadilly Circus. Pinto would have been glad to have joined Swell, but the colonel detained him.

"I want to talk to you, Pinto," he said.

"I've had enough business for today," said the Portuguese.

"So have I," said the colonel, "but that doesn't prevent my attending to pressing affairs. I was talking to you today—or was it yesterday—about Crotin."

"The Yorkshire woolen merchant?" said Pinto.

"That's the fellow," replied the colonel. "I suggested you should go and see him."

"And I suggested that I shouldn't," said Pinto. "Let him alone. You'll never get another chance like you had before."

"Alone, nothing," said the colonel testily. "You're scared because you imagine Crotin is warned? What do you think?"

Pinto was silent.

"I suppose you think that, because Jack o' Judgment intervened at the right moment, he went back to Yorkshire feeling fine? Well, you're wrong! You don't understand one side of the psychology of this business. That little fellow is quaking in his shoes and wondering what his grand wife would say if the fact that he was a bigamist was revealed. And there's more reason for his fear today than there was before. Look here!"

He took a newspaper out of his pocket, and Pinto remembered that even during the meeting the colonel had twice made reference to its columns, and he had wondered why. He had suspected that there had been some reference to the Boundary gang, but this was not the case. The paragraph which the colonel pointed out with his thick forefinger was short.

"By the death of Sir George Tressillian Morgan an ancient baronetcy has become extinct. His estate, which has been estimated at over a million dollars, passes to his niece, Lady Sybil Crotin, the daughter of Lord Westsevern, Sir George's son and heir having died previously. Lady Sybil is the wife of a well-known Yorkshire mill owner."

"I didn't know that," said Pinto, interested in spite of himself.

"Nor did I, till today," said the colonel. "The fact is, this cursed Jack o' Judgment has put everything else out of our minds. And you can see for yourself, Pinto, that this business is important."

Pinto nodded.

"We are not only after the factory, but here's a chance of making a real coup. Now I can't send anybody else to Yorkshire—Crewe is impossible. Crotin knows him, and the moment he put in an appearance, as likely as not, Crotin would lose his head and give the whole show away. It is you or nobody." He rubbed his chin thoughtfully. "You know there are times when I'm sorry about Solomon White," he said; "he was the boy for this kind of business—that is to say, in the old days—he got a bit scrupulous toward the end."

Pinto was to find that the colonel had made all arrangements, and that for the previous two days he had been planning a predatory raid on the Yorkshireman.

There was to be a bazaar in Huddersfield on behalf of a local hospital, in which Lady Sybil Crotin took a great interest. She was organizing the fete and had invited subscriptions.

"They're not coming in very fast, according to their local paper," said the colonel, "and that has given me an idea. You're a presentable sort of fellow, Pinto, and it is likely you'll be all the more successful because you're a foreigner. You'll go up to Yorkshire and you'll take £1000, and, if necessary, you'll subscribe pretty liberally to the fund, but it must be done through Lady Sibyl. You can make yourself known to her, and invite yourself to the house, where you can meet Crotin himself!"

"I'll do it," said Pinto. "But do you think he'll squeal?"

Boundary shook his head.

"I never knew a man who was caught on the rebound to squeal," he said. "No, no, you needn't worry about that. All you have to do it to use your discretion, choose the right moment, preparing him by a few hints for what is coming, and you'll find he'll sit down, like the hardheaded business man he is, and talk money."

Pinto went off to make preparations for the journey. He had one of the top flats in the Albermarle Buildings, a suite of rooms which, if they were not as expensively furnished as the colonel's, were more artistic. He had recently acquired the services of a new "daily valet"—a step he could take without fear that his secrets would be betrayed, since he had no secrets in his own rooms, kept no documents of any kind, and received no visitors.

The man opened the door to his ring.

"No, sir; nobody has been," said the servant in answer to his query, and Pinto was relieved.

Rumanian Prisoners Get Freedom as Favor of the Country

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

VIENNA, June 20.—Complete amnesty has been granted to all political prisoners confined in the jails of Rumania as a royal favor coincident with the marriage of Princess Marie of that country to King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia. These prisoners have all been incarcerated since the war, amnesty having been granted to war-offenders shortly after the armistice.

SALT LAKE GIVEN MUNICIPAL COURSE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALT LAKE CITY, June 20.—The nine-hole Wandamere Park golf course has become the property of the city of Salt Lake, being renamed Nibley Park in honor of its donor, Bishop Charles W. Nibley of the Mormon Church. In presentation ceremonies, Heber J. Grant, president of the church, and Bishop Nibley tried their hand at driving from the first tee.

George Von Elm, Salt Lake, prominent western golfer, participated in the opening play.

DIXIE SODA SERVICE

If you had the privilege of designing your ideal Soda Service, how would it differ from

DIXIE SODA SERVICE?

You would have the cups snow white with smooth, round edges—rigid like a glass—free from wax.

You would have them protected from dust and flies in an automatic dispenser.

You would have silver holders of solid construction to permit free use of spoons.

What else can you suggest to make your service more perfect?

Dixies are just such paper cups. We designed them with ideas such as yours in mind.

THINK — Who used your soda glass last? Go where they serve pure white DIXIES—automatically—and be safe.

REOPENS PICKFORD CASE

Nevada Attorney-General Asks Rehearing of Recent Decision in Divorce Matter

An attempt to revive the inquiry into the divorce granted Mary Pickford some time before her marriage to Douglas Fairbanks was made at Carson City, Nev., yesterday when Atty.-Gen. Fowler filed a petition asking the State Supreme Court to rehear the recent decision in which it upheld the cinema star's divorce from Owen Moore.

In that decision the Nevada justices had ruled that the section of the State statutes which directs the attorney-general to protect the interests of the State did not apply to the Pickford case. Fowler, in yesterday's petition, takes exception to this interpretation.

The Supreme Court once ruled, the attorney-general said, that divorce cases being of a triangular sort are never against the conscience of the court.

"If a party or parties to a divorce action can deceive the court by fraud and collusion then why should not the court be compelled to listen to outrageously fraudulent and collusive practices?"

Police and hospital officials last evening were making every effort to get in touch with the relatives of the boy.

As a result of being struck by an automobile driven by J. B. Haber of East 109th Place, Ernest Smith, 5-year-old lad of 123 East Seventy-sixth street, was taken to the Receiving Hospital late yesterday afternoon in a serious condition. The child received internal injuries and numerous cuts. The accident occurred at Main and Seventy-sixth streets. The child was later removed to the White Memorial Hospital.

REJOICES AT JACK'S MATCH

The new house is going to be started on a hill near their present home some time soon."

"Like all mothers," Mrs. Pickford concluded, "I want all my children to be happy, and I'm sure Miss Miller and Jack will be."

In answer to inquiries concerning certain other rumors about the Pickford family, Mrs. Pickford merely shook her head and said:

"That's some more stuff from the old hokum bucket."

The Beverly Hills home of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks has been withdrawn from the market, Mr. Fairbanks said last night. Instead of selling their estate on one of the shoulders of the Santa Monica Mountains Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks will at once enlarge the house by building on a wing designed especially for Mary Pickford's use.

Mr. Fairbanks, however, confirmed the report that a $100,000 home is to be built at once for the use of Mrs. Charlotte Pickford. This house, which will be of English style and will contain fourteen rooms, will be built on a lot in Fremont Place, in the Wilshire district. The contract has already been let to the Milwaukee Building Company.

RECORD SHOWS PRICE OF MILK

Consumers Paid 18 Cents Quart, Jury Hears

Retail Value in 1921 is Stipulated at Trial

Mass of Evidence Offered by Accused Dealers

Numerous volumes of records relating to the price of milk in Los Angeles from January 1 to July 1, 1921, were carried into Judge Reeve's court yesterday as the result of the issuance in the so-called milk cases of duces tecum subpoenaes for book-keepers of each of thirteen defendant companies. The companies and seventeen individuals are on trial on a charge of violating the Cartwright Act in restraint of trade.

When Deputy Dist.-Attys. Powell and Van Cott called F. P. Bonnell, former head book-keeper for the Milk Producers' Association, and questioned him regarding the prices paid by the defendant milk distributors, legal technicalities arose. As a result Secretary Brice of the association was instructed to deliver the records of the association relating to the subject to the court during the afternoon. This was done.

When the book-keepers of the different companies arrived in court with other records as to the retail price of milk, the large volumes made it appear that the case would last for some time, until a stipulation was entered into that the retail price of milk in January, 1921, was 18 cents a quart, and 10 cents a pint, and from then until July 1, the same year, the price was 16 cents a quart and 9 cents a pint.

The case will be resumed today.

LOS ANGELES JEWELER DIES AT RESIDENCE

August E. Morro, aged 56 years, residing at 1842 West Fiftieth street, and a resident of Los Angeles for the last thirty years, died yesterday at the family home. Mr. Morro, who is survived by his widow, was a member of the Elks and Masons and was proprietor of a jewelry store at Fourth and Spring streets. Funeral services will occur at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Pierce Brothers parlors under the auspices of the Elks. Masonic services at Inglewood Cemetery will take place at 3 p.m.

LOVE .. TURNS .. INTO .. DISGUST

Sordid End of Romance Told by Cinema Director

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Dunaew

A ROMANCE that began with a great love and ended with sordid disgust was revealed yesterday when Nicholas Dunaew, former leading man with Pauline Frederick and cinema director, sued Nina Byron, Follies beauty, and former member of the "Hitchykoo" company, for divorce. The present residence of the wife is unknown, according to the complaint, but Dunaew, also known as Nicholas Dunay, is living at the Green Room Club in New York.

Dunaew, who first attracted attention here when he announced that he was about to produce a series of anti-Bolshevist pictures, declares in a letter that accompanied the complaint, which was filed by Attorney Theodore Gottsdanker, that he had "attempted to lift his wife from poverty to his own level, but failed."

"One cannot make a silk purse from a sow's ear," the statement concludes.

The complaint charges simple desertion. Behind that lies the romance. Dunaew says that he met the girl when she was Nina Bettis. She was having some photographs taken in the Lumiere studio in New York. He instantly fell in love with her, he declares, and showed her every attention. Later he came to Los Angeles and brought her and her mother here.

Upon their arrival the girl and Dunaew were married and lived at 1504 McCadden Place, Hollywood. Later the girl studied dancing and went on tour. She later joined the "Hitchykoo" company and Dunaew says he saw her no more. Later, through letters from friends, he learned of her reprehensible conduct, he states. He asked her to return to him, but she refused. She then joined the Ziegfeld Follies, he says.

One of the paragraphs in Dunaew's letter says, "She has treated me even as her mother treated her father. She left him in New Zealand and when she heard that he had committed suicide, she laughed. Nina also laughed—these women who had practically killed a man with cruelty laughed at his action in putting himself out of his misery."

The complaint states that the couple were married in September, 1918, and separated Jan. 4, 1920.

A Dainty, Delicious Delight for the warm days when the palate is tired of heavy foods.
Shredded Wheat
With Strawberries
Being made in Biscuit form it is so easy to prepare a delicious, wholesome meal with Shredded Wheat and berries or other fruits. The porous shreds of the Biscuit take up the fruit juices presenting them to the palate in all the richness of their natural flavor. Cover the Biscuits with strawberries or other fruits and serve with milk or cream, adding sugar to suit the taste. More nutritious and more wholesome than ordinary "shortcake" and so much easier to prepare.
When you ask for Shredded Wheat be sure you get the original Shredded Wheat you have always eaten, made at Oakland, Calif.—always clean, always pure, always the same high quality. Two Biscuits with milk or cream, or with berries or other fruits, make a satisfying meal.

Friday Morning Club Will Sponsor Affair

Auction of Beautiful Gown Feature of Event

BY MYRA NYE

Five fair faithfuls famously flowering for the forest fete and fashion forum of the Friday Morning Club's finishing fund benefit are herewith presented. The alliteration is merely the magi's wand of presentation for the girls who are "fair-ies" and famous, and deserve a wand.

May McAvoy

But the frock's the thing at the fashion show which will be given in the Figueroa-street clubhouse on the 27th inst. The fete will be given on the 30th inst. in the beautiful Ingraham Gardens, 2000 West Adams street, to celebrate the last Friday of club life while the present building is standing. Both affairs will be for the benefit of the $50,000 finishing fund necessary to complete the $400,000 for the new clubhouse, soon to be erected at the present site.

Helen Ferguson

WILL AUCTION DRESS

A dress is to be auctioned off by a motion-picture star. This frock has been especially designed for the occasion and is in turquoise and silver Gros de Londre, cut basque fashion, with a full corded skirt and silver girdle. The only note of color is a huge rose of shaded taffeta, which is posed at the waist line and scatters its petals down the corded skirt.

Colleen Moore

Another lovely model to be worn by Helen Ferguson is of orchid taffeta, cut with the quaint bodice of the drop shoulder line to be found in the Charles II period. The tight-fitting waist is closed down the front with conventional bows of fuchsia ribbon and at the waist line a prim little nosegay of shaded flowers is backed by a frill of silver lace.

Gloria Hope

Gloria Hope, with her marvelous auburn hair, is to appear in a gown of apple green shot taffeta in 1860 style, with a wide skirt ruffled and garlanded in pastel shaded flowers.

STARS TO APPEAR

Rositta Rico will introduce a stunning Spanish gown of flame color and black lace, which was suggested by an old Velasquez portrait.

Mildred Davis

In addition to Helen Ferguson and Gloria Hope, the motion-picture stars who will appear in lovely gowns for sale are May McAvoy, Mildred Davis and Colleen Moore. Young friends and daughters of club members are Lucille Nicholas, June Goldwater, Margaret Woodside, Hildegarde Stivers, Dodie Rico, Ruth Johnston, Elizabeth Hillibert, Myna Elsner, Elaine Osborne and Violette Desnoyers. Dancers who will appear are Bonnie Mayle, Mia Marvin and Paula Goodfield.

SURE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calonite powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin—pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores, and do not get them out after they become hard. The calonite powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anybody troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.—[Advertisement.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

ROCK BOTTOM

"My Dear Dr. Peters: For over a week, on the same scales, I have not reduced any, although I have not eaten over 1150 calories a day. Is there such a stage in reducing as rock bottom? I have lost eight pounds in just three weeks, and am now 130 pounds. For my height that is not overweight. Does that make reduction harder? I wanted to reduce to 125 pounds, but it seems impossible.—D. C. H."

If you are normal weight why do you want to lose any more? At your age underweight is no more desirable than overweight. About that rock-bottom business—yes, in many cases the metabolic activities of the body seem to accustom themselves to the lowered intake, and in order to reduce further such individuals have to go on very low calorie days once a week or so; on that day they will lose a pound or over. That gives the system another little jolt, and it realizes you want to reduce. The weight of these individuals then would go down like stairs instead of an incline. In your case, however, I wouldn't advise a further reduction.

"Dear Dr. ePters: Will you kindly mention in your Diet and Health whether your directions are only for the lady of leisure or for one who does all of her own housework as well? I am only about twelve pounds overweight, but I will follow your directions to the letter, because I have been threatened with some of the effects you have mentioned.—Mrs. B."

If you are overweight, no matter how much work you are doing, you have evidence that your work is not using all of the food you are eating, so you undoubtedly could follow my directions to advantage. You would not need to go on so low a diet as though you were no tdoing your own housework, however. You might start out on the 1200 calories, and if you find you reduce too rapidly, go higher.

"Dear Dr. Peters: I am troubled greatly with bloating. I have always suffered from stomach trouble terribly, causing great mental depression. I had a pint of gallstones removed, and several other operations performed. I weigh 210 pounds. My height is 5 feet 5 inches. Would gladly do anything to reduce flesh and be free from bloating and expelling gas.—Mrs. F. E."

Your normal weight should be about 140, so you weigh seventy pounds too much. That is a lot, Mrs. E. I don't wonder you have had terrible stomach trouble and gallstones and gas. Of course it is possible that the gallstones caused a derangement of the intestinal tract, which would cause indigestion, but it is more probable that your overeating to the extent of accumulaing seventy pounds in excess weight was the cause of that, as well as of the gallstones.

We will write on gall stones soon, as it is an interesting subject. Meanwhile, get busy counting calories and reduce very gradually. If you haven't seen my series of articles on the subject, send a 4-cent stamped, addressed envelope and we will forward them. It seems to me it would be a good plan for you to be under the personal charge of a scientific physician. Take my directions to him and ask him if you can follow them. Success to you!

"Dear Madam: I am coming to you with a problem which I am sure you can enlighten me on. I do quite a bit of walking during the day, and I am told this will stop me from growing. I would greatly appreciate your opinion on this matter. I am 14 years old and am 5 feet tall. My weight is 110 pounds; do you think I am too fat? Please tell me how to get tall and to develop a good figure. A. B. C."

Dear Girl: I can't imagine how any idea that walking will stop one from growing could have originated. It is absolutely untrue. Young people should walk a lot and play a lot and run a lot. Not too much, of course—anything can be overdone. This is the way they get lots of oxygen in their lungs and the way they get good, healthy appetities for growth-producing foods.

If you were undernourished it wouldn't be wise to walk so much. But you are not. You are apparently just right. As to how to get tall and to develop a good figure—by exercise and correct diet you can have a good figure if you are a normal individual. Of course, one's height is more or less determined by race and family type. However, there is no doubt that one can, by the stretching and hanging exercises carried out persistently throughout the growth period, add one cubit to his stature, even though that is contrary to what was thought in Bible times.

Harrisons Honored

Mr. and Mrs. William Preston Harrison entertained at tea yesterday afternoon in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Carter H. Harrison of Chicago, who are en route home after a world tour and who stopped here for a two-day visit with Mr. Harrison's brother and sister-in-law. One hundred guests were present.

Columbia roses were used in profusion throughout the house and on the three tables set in the garden.

The hostess received in a white organdie designed over organdie in flesh tints. She wore a corsage bouquet of baby roses and a black straw and lace hat.

Mrs. Carter Harrison wore an imported gown of embroidered Burmese silk with a string of Japanese crystal beads and a smart hat in one of the new henna shades.

Assisting in receiving and at the tea urns were Mrs. Hancock Banning, Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, Mrs. William E. Dunn, Mrs. Kate Greenleaf Locke, Mrs. Robert London, Mrs. Marshall Wellborn, Mrs. Hansen Moore, Mrs. Chappell Q. Stanton, and Mrs. Jerome Eddy.

Back from Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas M. Longyear (Elizabeth Boyle) who were married last month have returned from a honeymoon spent in Honolulu. They arrived in time for the Anderson-Sheahan wedding and reception on Saturday evening and left yesterday for the Longyear ranch near Bishop where they are to make their home temporarily. They visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis D. Longyear, while in town.

Entertain at Tea

Mrs. George A. Laubersheimer and Mrs. Cecil Grigsby gave a tea and musicale yesterday afternoon at the home of the former at 133 East Avenue 43. Miss Karolyn King of Redlands, niece of Mrs. Grigsby, and a brilliant young pianist, furnished the program. Her mother, Mrs. Lyman King of Redlands, came down for the party. There were forty guests.

Betrothal Announced

At a tea and musicale at which Mrs. Edgar Allen Doran and Miss Billie Louise Doran entertained at the Wilshire Country Club, the latter announced her betrothal to Dr. Alfred R. Higson of this city. The wedding will be early next spring. There were 100 guests.

Gives Stag Party

Pike Brant of South Figueroa street gave a stag party at the clubhouse at Lake Arrowhead over the week-end, motoring up Sunday afternoon and returning yesterday to Los Angeles. His guests were William F. McFie, Hugh P. Golden, Charles Bayly and Harold Bayly.

Mrs. Bryant Returns

Mrs. Ernest A. Bryant, who went to New York three weeks ago, returned yesterday accompanied by her daughter, Miss Susanna, who has been at Vassar the last year, and her son, Ernest Bryant, Jr., who was attending the Taft School at Watertown, Ct.

Motor to Arrowhead

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson A. Graves accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Ervin S. Armstrong and her two children, Betty and Scotty, motored to Arrowhead Lake Saturday for the week-end. Others enjoying several days' visit at the lake included Victor H. Hossetti, Ed Sterling, James C. Armstrong, George S. Seward and Albert Hoxie.

Will Tour Holy Land

Rev. J. Arthur Evans leaves today for the "Passion Play" at Oberammergau, to be followed by a tour through Egypt and the Holy Land, returning to California by way of Italy, France and Great Britain.

Marjorie Hicks Weds

The marriage of Miss Marjorie Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Hicks, 1656 South Hobart Boulevard, to Norman Sanford Hall took place yesterday at the home of theb ride, Rev. Howard A. French of the Church of the Messiah officiating. The bride is well known in musical circles for her work in piano recitals and as a professional accompanist.

The young couple are enjoying a two weeks' honeymoon in the San Bernardino Mountains.

Plan Bridge Party

Society girls and young matrons, members of the Los Angeles Orphans' Home Auxiliary, will give their annual bridge party tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Ebell clubhouse for the benefit of a fund to repair the cottage at Manhattan Beach. Mrs. Robert Monroe is honorary chairman; Miss Mary Scott, chairman; Mrs. Morgan Adams, first vice-chairman; Mrs. Wells Morris, second vice-chairman; Miss Louise Hunt, treasurer, and Mrs. Kay Crawford, secretary. Among the directors-at-large are Miss Catherine Bixby, Miss Dorothy Wellborn, Miss Cecile McLaughlin and Mrs. Van Buren Jarvis.

Birthday Surprise Party

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ira F. Thompson gave them a surprise party last night at their home, 1602 Elvada avenue, Mabery Heights, in celebration of Mr. Thompson's birhtday. There was dancing and music, and supper was served at midnight.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. S. Brooks Hays, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Holbrook, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. O'Dell, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Manning, Mr. and Mrs. George Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Callander, Miss Katherine Marshall and Messrs. Thomas Milton, Leo Siefert and Oscar M. Gibson.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Olsen of South Kenwood avenue have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Daisy Olsen, to Thomas Reynolds. He is a graduate of Stanford University.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Airtight Corks

Corks soaked in oil for five minutes will become both airtight and watertight.

To Keep Slippers Bright

Slipping your silver or gold slippers inside old black stockings immediately upon removing them will prevent them from tarnishing.

Pots and Pans

Always run hot water into your pots and pans as soon as the contents have been removed; they will be much easier to wash.

Economy In Linens

When the drawnwork or hemstitching in a centerpiece or doily becomes worn, sew a piece of insertion over the drawnwork and cut out underneath. The centers, if of good linen, will wear as long as the new lace.

Electric Fans

Electric fans have become more than a summer necessity, for they are proving invaluable in the kitchen to drive out cooking odors, dry frosting on cakes, dry fine articles of clothing, and all the while making the room cooler for the housewife.

Fresh Fruit

The most delicate fruit can be kept fresh for a year by thoroughly washing it and sealing it hermetically in jars filled with sterile water.

To Sweeten Lard

Lard may be freshened by cooking fresh sliced potatoes in it until they are done. No matter how rancid the lard is, this method will sweeten it.

The Daily Fun Hour

BY HONOR WALSH

Crow's Nest

This game originated in Scotland. One of its variations played in Dundee, is called "Craw's Nestie" (Crow's Nest.) One player, called Dark Tam, is blindfolded and placed facing a wall. Each player, in turn, comes up behind him and recites in a disguised voice the following lines, Anglicized for modern players:

Hickety, bickety, peas, Scone! Oh, Where shall this poor Scotsman go?
Shall he go East or shall he go West,
Or shall he go to the black crow's Nest?

When the last query is finished, Dark Tam sends the player East or West, according to the rhyme, or to the Crow's Nest, which is not far from Dark Tam, and so is a lucky place since the further away a player is sent the longer it takes him to run back to the wall when the returning signal is given. When all of the players have recited the rhyme and have been assigned to their different positions, Dark Tam calls out suddenly:

Hickety-bicksty, hickety-bick,
Come a-running, come you quick!
Hickety-bicksty, slimmery-slam,
Last one in must be Dark Tam!

These lines explain themselves. The player in the Crow's Nest is the first to arrive, of course. Each player must touch the wall to be safe, and the last one in is blindfolded and becomes Dark Tam for the next game, when he, too, sends the player East or West, and puts a favorite (if he can recognize the disguised voice) into the coveted Crow's Nest.

Some staggering constipation... Know how Kellogg's Bran...

Ninety out of every one hundred people suffer with constipation! Constipation is the direct cause of breakdowns in old age, lowered vitality and ninety per cent of illness!

Do you realize that nearly every case of constipation is traceable to neglect in answering nature's call? In a few years the sufferer has "latent constipation"—the most dangerous form of all! Toxic poisons penetrate the intestine walls, polluting the blood, which in turn poisons and affects every organ in the body. Nearly every case of diabetes and Bright's disease can be traced to constipation or intestinal poisoning, as can most rheumatism, headache, brain fag, hardening of arteries and other organic diseases.

Pills and cathartics can never afford you permanent relief. What you need is nature's most wonderful roughage—

"What if every housewife were paid salary—according to merit"

Housewives in line for their pay checks! Puny, undersized checks for the haphazard, slapdash housewife! Skimpy, miserly checks for the flippant, bridge-party housewife! Fat, bulging, four-figure checks for the modern efficiency housewife!

A fair enough division, considering the exacting demands of homecraft. An analysis of home management, by Modern Priscilla editors, revealed the astonishing fact that home making, although apparently a mere matter of routine, in reality calls for a vast store of knowledge branching out into almost a hundred different fields.

Take the matter of needlework. The competent housewife knows hundreds of stitches and designs. In dietetics, thousands of recipes and food combinations are stored away in her brain. She knows hundreds of first aid remedies for the accidents of childhood. She knows a multitude of facts about sanitation, home decoration, fashions, textiles, various types of household devices. The dovetailing of her knowledge creates a home!

The science of homecraft

Like every other occupation, the business of home-keeping is well or badly done. The day of a planless, haphazard housekeeping is being superseded by efficiency housekeeping. The modern housewife, eager to dovetail and systematize homecraft, is turning for efficiency methods to the same type of medium that men utilize for their problems—to a trade journal!

Modern Priscilla devotes more of its space to strictly instructional household data than all other leading women's magazines.

University specialists and noted educators are on its Advisory and Contributory Staff—aiding in the development of the science of homecraft.

Aware of the fact that a home is more than a mere eating place and nursery, and that home decoration and harmonious clothes play a great part in the creation of the home atmosphere, needlework has always occupied an important space in the pages of Modern Priscilla. No other magazine has so comprehensive a needlework section. In needlework, as in the culinary arts and all phases of homemaking, Modern Priscilla is the housewife's guide—her trade journal.

PLAY LOVERS
NOW TO WED

Miss Florence Kitzmiller

Students of Los Angeles High School say that Miss Verna Blythe is to blame.

She is the one, you see, who produced the opera, "Little Almond Eyes," at the school recently. The role of the Chinese lovers was taken by Miss Florence Kitzmiller and Donald Johnson. The libretto called, among other things, for a stage embrace.

"Now if Miss Blythe hadn't forced them to carry on in such a way, they'd never have discovered they liked each other," high school students aver. "Florence and Donald just couldn't help themselves, and now they are to be married."

Both students are seniors. Another classmate, Miss Zora Clark, is planning a party at which the formal announcement of their engagement will be made. It is rumored that the marriage will take place this summer, while Donald is attending the R.O.T.C. training camp at the Presidio.

Colorado River Control Topic at Conference

Meeting at Blythe yesterday at the request of residents of the Palo Verde Valley, who have been almost marooned by the turbulent Colorado River for several weeks, a group of engineers and other officials representing California and Arizona held a conference on flood control.

They were asked by residents of the valley to suggest ways and means to handle the flood situation until such time as the Boulder Canyon dam can be started and other work done to check the peak flow of the stream in flood season.

According to reports from Blythe yesterday the officials have been jointly granted permission to authorize certain emergency work to close up the big break in the west bank of the river, which was made by the flood last month, and to take steps to reclaim 10,000 acres of land now under water.

Judgment Given Against Former Deputy Sheriff

Judge Luce of San Diego, sitting in Department 4, Superior Court, yesterday gave judgment against Walter Lips, convicted of bribery in the Furay case, for $8850. The suit was brought by Dede Furay and Mark B. Furay, the wife and son of Doc Furay, purported bunko man, who is said to have been released from custody by Deputy Sheriffs Lips and Anderson, by the payment of $7700.

Mr. Anderson, also convicted of bribery, gave back $2150 and was released from liability by the mother and son. Lips and Anderson have appealed from the judgment in the bribery cases.

MRS. ANNA WILLIAMS'S FUNERAL CONDUCTED

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Williams, 50 years of age, wife of W. R. Williams, sales manager for the Greer-Robbins Company, who died last Saturday after an illness of several weeks, were conducted yesterday afternoon in the funeral chapel of the Mark A. Pierce Company. Rev. J. Hermann Olson of the Lutheran Angelica Church officiated. Mrs. Williams, who was born in New York, had been a resident of Los Angeles for ten years, and leaves a widower, and a sister, Mrs. Nellie M. Miller. Many members of the Greer-Robbins Company attended in a body. The floral pieces taxed the capacity of the parlors.

FESTIVE PREMIERE

CHANNING POLLOCK AND DICK BENNETT COMING WEST

By Grace Kingsley

It looks as though Richard Bennett's appearance at the Majestic Theater in Channing Pollock's new play, "The Fool," which will open there July 16, is to be one of the sensational theatrical events of the season.

In order that nothing may go wrong, Thomas Wilkes, who has lately entered the New York production field, is importing no less a person than Channing Pollock, himself, to oversee the details.

Richard Bennett is one of Broadway's most petted and cherished stars, and he is leaving the much talked-of play, "He Who Gets Slapped," in order to come West for this special production.

Mr. Bennett will be remembered as the actor who first made a sensational hit in Brieux's play, "Damaged Goods." During the past five years he has played in "The Hero," "The Unknown West," "The Horizon" and other plays.

In order further to safeguard against any misinterpretation of the new play, Frank Reicher, general director of the New York Theater Guild, will co-operate with the local director.

Channing Pollock will arrive in the city next Monday, if the train coming from New York does not double-cross him, and Bennett will follow Thursday. Reicher is also expected within a few days.

Those who would take their last look at Eddie Horton, the very popular leading man of the Majestic, before he leaves for New York, to shine at the Harris Theater in "The Nervous Wreck," will have only two weeks more in which to accomplish the sad farewell. "Buddies" will remain over during the remainder of this week and next, and July 2 a new leading man will take Horton's place.

The new matinee idol is George Barnes, who has been a tremendous favorite at the Wilkes Theater in Denver during the past few seasons, and who will open here on the date above mentioned in a play, which has been making a genuine success in the East, entitled, "The Ghost Between." It is by Vincent Lawrence, author of "In Love With Love," Nana Bryant will play the lead both in this play and in the Bennett play.

Blanche Bates Talks

"It's the day of the nice old mamma and papa, both on and off the stage, and I'm for them strong!"

That's what Blanche Bates said the other night in her dressing-room at the Mason, where she and Henry Miller are making a sweeping success in Augustus Thomas's new play, "Her Friend the King."

"Yes, the middle-aged romance is coming in. And isn't it about time? By the same token the ingenue is going out.

"The war did that for us—it brought nice, middle-aged women out of their narrow little nests, and into the world of events, and now the nice, middle-aged women are all going to the theater as a part of their world activities, and naturally they have a sneaking liking for a little romance into which they might enter themselves."

Pending New York rehearsals of "Her Friend the King," which Henry Miller is to produce in the metropolis next fall, with probably the identical company which is appearing at the Mason, Miss Bates, who, in private life, as everybody knows, is Mrs. George Creel, is going to take a rest.

"I haven't seen my children in six months, and I mean to get acquainted with them. My daughter, 8 years old, writes me that she has been carrying on my business affairs for me.

'Dear Mamma,' she wrote in a letter I had from her last week, 'I've been up and paid your income tax. It was 16 cents.' I suppose it was some leftover remnant of money due the government on my income, but she feels very important about it."

Shirley Mason Rests

Shirley Mason, Fox star, is putting away the grease paint this week, and will take a vacation trip to Del Mar, accompanied by her husband, Bernard Durning, Fox director. She will start work on a new feature shortly.

Miss Dupont Among Us

Having just returned from a personal appearance tour, during which she met flocks of governors and mayors and suchlike dignitaries, Miss Dupont, star of Von Stroheim's "Foolish Wives," is with us once more.

It was as an added attraction to the Von Stroheim production that Miss Dupont has been traveling with the picture during the past four months. She appeared in a little monologue act, and reports that she had a perfectly wonderful time.

"Except," explained Miss Dupont, "that I found saying the same thing over and over again very monotonous, and except that it was sad, having to tell scores and scores of eager and hopeful young girls, and even much older people, whom I met, every one of whom wanted to get into pictures, how difficult it is to obtain a foothold in the profession, my trip was a wonderful one."

Beside Barricade Busy

It is a very convenient combination that of star and director-author-producer. Beside Barricade and Howard Hickman are going to make the most of it.

The pair, who have been visiting friends in this city, and who last year, produced "The Skirt" in New York, are now preparing to put on a new play of Hickman's at the Fulton Theater, in Oakland, during August.

Pauline Frederick Rests

The responsibility of getting ready for a New York production, especially after being absent from the stage for several years, is a no light one, take it from Pauline Frederick, who is returning to the stage next season under management of A. H. Woods.

Mr. Woods had expected to present Miss Frederick in London, but it was found that no theater could be obtained there, so both Woods and Miss Frederick have returned to this country.

Her husband, Dr. Charles Rutherford, will join her later.

Will Play Hughes Lead

Rupert Hughes is always Columbusing for new talent. In his new Goldwyn picture, "Gimme," written by himself and Mrs. Hughes, he has cast for the important part of the villain a young man who has never before appeared on the screen. This discovery is David Imboden, formerly famous as a college athlete, and now art director of the Santa Barbara Community Arts Theater. Imboden will impersonate an interior decorator who has designs on the leading lady, played by Helene Chadwick.

Imboden was for six years assistant to Albert Herter, the well-known artist, and he is himself a mural painter of distinction. He was captain and manager of the swimming teams at both Cornell and Wisconsin universities. At one time he held every intercollegiate swimming record, and in 1906 was the world's champion underwater swimmer. He also took part in other collegiate sports.

In the theatrical world, Imboden attracted the attention of Mr. Hughes by his performance of Pelleas in "Pelleas and Melisande," and in "Dear Brutus," as produced by the Santa Barbara Community Arts. He was formerly art director for the Harlequin Theater, Los Angeles.

Louis B. Mayer Returns

After four weeks spent in business conferences in New York, Louis B. Mayer has returned to his Mission Road studios, where an extensive program of production is now getting under way.

Here and There

Walter McGrail has finished his part in the latest King Bagot production and has left for the mountains to worry some more fish.

Arthur Jasmine, having completed the part of the Fox in "The Son of the Wolf," with Edith Roberts, has been cast for the part of one of the disciples in the Pilgrimage Play.

Now, it's the animal stars that are sitting for their portraits. Work on a life-size oil painting of Century's wonder dog, Brownie, is now under way. Miss Graziella V. Boucher is painting his dogship.

Jack Coogan, Sr., will go to New York shortly to make distribution arrangement for the Radio Comedies, and Fred Hibbard Comedies, both of which are being made at United Studios.

BREVITY MAKES FASTER COMEDY

They do things faster in musical comedy when they know they haven't a whole evening to devote to the untangling of an impossible plot. The advantage of crowding a musical show into an hour and a half is evident in the Hi Jinks revues at the Burbank Theater. There are few dull moments, and the flow of comedy is fast and spontaneous.

This week, "Red Pepper" is the more or less noncommittal title of the entertainment. It refers perhaps to the dark-hued servant in the home of a young bachelor who, in order to eke out a living, rents his rooms. Pepper, played by Lee ("Bud") Harrison, blackface comic of the Hi Jinks organization, lives up to his name. Harrison does not force his comedy to the extent of laughing at his own jokes or at himself. He takes his fun so seriously that his audience laugh at him, which is as it should be.

DIRECTOR PRAISES BRAVERY OF CAST

Erich Von Stroheim, star and director of "Foolish Wives," now in its third and final week at the Alhambra, says that the co-operation of his players in the big moments of the picture, was nothing short of heroic.

"'Foolish Wives' was full of hazards," he explains. "Art at the expense of life is frequently the price one pays for realism in motion pictures. Fortunately, however, there were no accidents in 'Foolish Wives' other than two or three nervous attacks on the part of some of the visitors who watched the filming of the scenes."

Miss DuPont, the featured player in this production, was willing to risk her life amid fire for the sake of realism.

"The flames actually were hot all about me," said Miss DuPont in describing the experience.

COMEDIES WILL FORM PART OF METRO PROGRAM

By Edwin Schallert

The honorable Taurus Montanus is now established as a cinematious comediasus.

Which, translated into English, means that Bull Montana is once and for all a screen comedian. He will be, at least, for the ensuing year.

A deal has just been made whereby Montana will film a series of eight comedies for Metro release. The pictures will in all probability be made at the Metro studio here.

This announcement was given out by Hunt Stromberg, who is producing the Montana pictures, yesterday. He has just returned from the East. The first comedy, "A Ladies' Man," which had its premiere here some time ago, has been booked for release August 15. The next comedy will be put out October 15.

Bull Montana, who has been visiting his mother and father in Voghera, near Milan, Italy, is to leave for America July 15. He will arrive in Hollywood August 1, and commence work immediately on his second comedy.

"SOUTH OF SUVA" TROPICAL MELO

Those who like the seductive atmosphere of the tropics as a background for a play are going to enjoy "South of Suva," the picture feature starring Mary Miles Minter, which is showing this week at Grauman's Theater. It isn't the perfect play of the tropics by a long shot, but it is a good one, and it is one of the best stories in which Mary Miles Minter has ever appeared.

The production was directed by Frank Urson, and he is perhaps chiefly deserving of credit for the interest, which is sustained from the time the heroine sets out to join her husband who—mysteriously enough—is living separated from her in the tropics, until with flaring brands the native islanders perform a dance of death about the feet of that same heroine, who is to be the victim of their sacrifice.

It's an unlikely thing, to begin with, the story of this picture. But if you can concede the opening situation and some other doubtful points where the heroine impersonates the ward of the hero, after her first escape from her degenerate spouse, you will probably follow the picture from beginning to end intently. It has atmosphere and very much of reality in the acting, except for the usual off-the-old-shelf characters.

The scene where Miss Minter first confronts the man whom she has married, and learns of his utter degradation, is one of the most forceful the star has ever acted. If she would leave off the simpering in the sentimental scenes, one would have very little fault to find with her performance because as always she looks attractive on the screen.

Winifred Bryson's personality hits you like a sharp dash in the few scenes in which she takes part. A splendid dark type, Miss Bryson, whose further appearances will be anticipated.

Walter Long villains in his wonted heavy fashion, but is acceptable. Roy Atwell is the outstanding personality among the men, living up to his comedy song about "Some Little Bug." John Bowers in a routine role manages very well.

Everything but a dash of spray from the sea is present to make the program a summery affair this week. The entertainment is seductive and oceanic at once as hot-weather entertainment should be.

Of course, there are the bathing girls. Of especial appeal to the eye. The seashore offers nothing quite as dazzling as the costumes which they wear. And beside—well, go and see them. Beauty is beauty, and bathing suits are bathing suits, that's all.

The bathing girl act is prettily staged with several effective dance numbers and some saxophone harmony by Brown's Six.

To Southern Isles

Not satisfied with expeditioning on the European continent, the Goldwyn organization is to send a company to the South Seas to film "Capt. Blackbird," the romance by Carey Wilson, production of which is now being arranged. This is the third undertaking of this kind, for the Goldwyn company has already sent a company to England to make exteriors for "The Christian," and is shortly to dispatch another to the Mediterranean coast to film scenes for "Ben Hur."

The "Capt. Blackbird" company will sail from San Francisco July 1. The complete cast and a large technical crew will comprise the party. R. A. Walsh is to direct. So far only three players have been chosen for the cast, these being Antonio Moreno, George Siegmann and William V. Mong.

The leading feminine role has not yet been filled.

Louise Fazenda Films

Louise Fazenda has rejoined the Sennett organization. She has returned to her first love, the type of comedy-making with which she has been identified heretofore. She is appearing in pictures, in which Baby John Henry and Teddy, the dog, are also featured.

Miss Fazenda is recognizedly one of the cleverest screen comedians, as well as being highly gifted as a writer and as a business woman.

Dancer Returns

Curtyne Englar, well known as a dancer, has returned from the East where she has been identified with various stage productions. She visited here as the principal dancer of "Linger Longer Letty" some two seasons ago. She played in this show for two seasons.

Miss Englar will rest here during the summer, returning to the East probably in the early fall to fill another engagement.

MABELS WIN PASSES

Mary's a grand old name, according to George M. Cohan, but the lucky name in Los Angeles this week is Mabel, according to the management of Dalton's Broadway this and tomorrow afternoons are to be "Mabel's matinees," with every Angeleno miss named Mabel admitted to see "Up in Mabel's Room," the breezy farce comedy, with the compliments of Katharyn Hammond, the new leading woman of the Smith-King Dramatic Stock Company. All that the Mabels of Los Angeles will have to do is to present their calling cards at the box office of Dalton's Broadway or a letter signed by either their father or mother stating that they were christened with the same name the heroine of the bedroom comedy bears, and a complimentary ticket will be issued, it is announced.

Conjurer and Other Things at Pantages

Considering entertainment value only, the feature at Pantages this week is K. T. Kuma, a Japanese conjurer of quite superior rapidity. Kuma does just enough tricks, and all are good, while at least one is better. He is assisted by a little girl with an excellent voice, who sings a bit in between times, and by another who merely disappears and reappears as the plot requires. It is all very mysterious, and rather fascinating.

Walter Brower has a good line of comedy monologue stuff which he spoils by dragging in a slushy bit of recitation at the end. Burt Earle and his eight girl musicians put on considerable jazz with the aid of a striped awning, many red lanterns and a flock of saxophones. Little Jim and company are a routine wrestling bear act without any novel features.

Nancy Fair, however, touches a somewhat higher vein in her "hits from hits," the imitation of Fay Bainter being really very accurate, and her personality pleasing. Charles Rogers and company in "The Ice Man" have an amusing novelty—really the best thing on the bill with the exception of Kuma.

"The Great Alone," photoplay feature with Monroe Salisbury, is a "drama of the virile north." There are snow storms, fights and things. There are also a number of scenes where the hero and the villain stand nose to nose and speak harsh words through tightly clenched teeth. One shot discloses a blizzard raging in the foreground while California eucalyptus trees wave gently against the sky behind. Aside from these points of interest, "The Great Alone" is simply stuff for those who think Service a great poet.

In connection with the showing of this opus, Mr. Salisbury also makes an appearance in person, and delivers himself of a flood of what Tom Sawyer called "yellocution." He is much more appealing on the screen.

SENNETT TO ENTERTAIN

Visiting Exhibitors Will Be Lunched and Filmed

The plans of the Associated First National chiefs to send the nine visiting prize winning exhibitors, or franchise holders, as they are more familiarly known in film circles, home with a lasting feeling of friendliness for California will be furthered by Mack Sennett.

At about ten-thirty next Saturday morning nine visitors will accompany John E. McCormick, western representative for First National, to the Sennett studios, where a story in which a part has been specially written for each of them, will be photographed under the direction of Dick Jones. Ben Turpin, Phyllis Haver, Billy Bevan, Mildred June and Louise Fazenda will play minor parts in support of the nine visitors.

Following the removal of grease paint from the visiting countenances, luncheon will be served at Mr. Sennett's residence, and then automobiles will carry the entire party, including some of the prettiest of the Sennett comediennes, to Santa Monica Beach, where all who will, may enter the briny.

The exhibitors last night mingled with the baby stars in a welcoming dinner at the Hotel Ambassador. At pleasant intervals along the banquet table were seated Colleen Moore, Madge Bellamy, Marguerite de la Motte, Claire Windsor, Virginia Brown Faire, Bessie Love, Phyllis Haver, Kathryn McGuire and Pauline Stark.

Today the visitors will be in the custody of Louis B. Mayer from early morn until they are entertained at dinner at the home of B. P. Schulberg, president of Preferred Pictures, Inc. Mr. Mayer will tender the visitors a luncheon at the Glenwood Mission Inn.

MERE PLAY ACTING

"It's a crime to take the money," agreed the members of the cast of "The Barnstormer," Charles Ray's latest picture, which is showing at the Kinema this week. For they had to portray the parts of actors—and when an actor plays the part of an actor, it doesn't strike him as being work, in the strict sense of the word. "The Barnstormer," portrays the joys and sorrows of the old days when theatrical companies toured the country, playing one night stands in "high towns." Because most of the members of the cast in the picture had gone through "those days," they hugely enjoyed working in the picture. In the cast, such notable names as Lionel Belmore, Charlotte Pierce, Florence Oberle and many others are found. The picture's popularity is widespread, with capacity houses daily.

BOOKS CURWOOD FILM

Fred Miller of the California Theater announces the booking of the Edwin Carewe production, "I Am the Law," based on the story by James Oliver Curwood, and said to be the best picturisation of a Curwood story so far to reach the screen. The first showing of this feature will be given at the California Theater next Sunday.

TO PRESENT CURRENT HITS

Plans for the presentation of several current New York successes at the Majestic Theater during the fall and winter season are being worked out by Thomas Wilkes, who has just returned from seeing the Broadway attractions that are appealing to the summer theatergoers. Many eastern offerings were found to be well adapted for stock presentation, and Mr. Wilkes has practically completed arrangements for the presentation here of several sure-fire hits.

THRILLER COMING

Thrills will succeed thrills next week at Loew's State Theater, where the new Fox picture, "Arabian Love," will succeed "The Crimson Challenge," Paramount production in which Dorothy Dalton is starring this week in a western role. John Gilbert is the star of the coming attraction, and the picture is said to outsheik "The Sheik" in the ardor of its love scenes and the thrills of its plot.

Kathryn McGuire in Person

Kathryn McGuire, the delightful heroine of "The Silent Call," and now the leading lady of Mack Sennett's latest melodrama, "The Cross Roads of New York," will appear in person this evening only at Miller's Theater.

THRONGS TO SEE "CARMEN"

All roads will lead to the Hollywood Bowl the night of July 8, according to plans announced yesterday by the railroads, the electric lines, the steamships and the Automobile Club of Southern California. Elaborate preparations are being made to handle the crowds expected to witness the outdoor operatic presentation of "Carmen."

Special excursions to see "Carmen," as presented in California's natural amphitheater for one night only, with a cast headed by the far-famed Margherita Sylva, Edward Johnson, Chicago grand opera tenor, Henri Scott, Metropolitan baritone, Carl Gantvoort, Edna Leopold and others, are being arranged by the Pacific Electric, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Salt Lake lines, while the Los Angeles Steamship Company is advertising the event in San Francisco, and will run special excursions on the Yale and Harvard. The Automobile Club is planning to post the roads to the Bowl from all of the suburban cities.
